WIFE DIVORCES SCREEN ACTOR

Question of Week Caused Blow, Court Told to Woman's Suit

Before John Jacobson married his wife, Mary, he told her he was a motion-picture actor and wouldn't work at anything else, she told Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday when asking the court to grant her a divorce.

"After we were married he didn't work at anything," the wife declared. "Once when I remonstrated with him he said not going to work he didn't me."

A decree was granted.

Two Convicted of Grand Theft in Fixing Case

Richard Cavallera and William A. Callahan yesterday were convicted in Judge Aggeler's court of conspiracy and grand theft in connection with an attempt to fix a liquor case in Municipal Court.

The two men were charged with having taken $200 from Nick Violich to obtain a dismissal of a Wright Act charge in the municipal court. An indictment was returned against them following an investigation which was ordered after the matter of the charged attempted fixing was brought to the attention of the Municipal Court trial board.

Cavallera and Callahan will be taken before Judge Aggeler next week for sentence, at which time it is expected their attorneys will move for a new trial.

July Library Exhibit Ready

Exhibits shown in the reading lobby of the Central Library are attracting many visitors daily. Pets from the European estate of Harry Burnett, representing eighteenth century characters in a play by Goldini, are on display during the month of July. Illustrated books from the art department suggest study of this quaint and fascinating art of puppetry.

HERALDRY AND GENEALOGY

Heraldry and genealogy in another case suggest the riches of the library collection in family history, most complete in the West, with its sacred plates showing family coats and seals, a copy of an eighteenth century will, a patent of arms granted by Leopold II of Belgium and a family tree of the first decade of German genealogical art. This colorful "tree" is headed by a descendant of the Basset family, Mrs. Emil Beltz.

The Y.M.C.A. has filled a showcase with souvenirs of war days in camps, articles made by war prisoners and books on the war.

Polish art loaned by the members of the Polish library makes a colorful display.

DISABLED EMERGENCY WAR OFFICERS ELECT

Officers of the coming year were elected last night by the Southern California chapter of the Disabled Emergency Officers of the World War at a meeting held at Pershing Hall. The new officers are: Col. Frank H. Fowler, commander; Col. Robert R. Jones, senior vice-commander; Capt. E. C. Miller, junior vice-commander; Lieut. Dixon Potts, secretary; Capt. Burt Olney, treasurer, and Lieut. L. W. Adams, assistant secretary.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 28.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I guess I was a little too optimistic a few days ago when I said we had got rid of Congress for the duration of the heat season. It looks like they are still doing a little light work on the tariff, each member according to the needs of his own State. Being forty-eight States that makes forty-eight versions of the tariff. In fact forty-nine as the north and south of California both raise different stuff. Tariff is an instrument invented for the benefit of those who make to be used against those who buy, as there is more buys than there is makes. It is a document of the minority. But what a minority!

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Junking of Navy Bases Hinted

British Sentiment Grows on Proposal to Disarm in Caribbean Sea

Good-Will Gesture Regarded as One Most Convincing to United States

(Copyright, 1929, by New York Times)

LONDON, June 28. (Exclusive)—For some time the idea has been advanced privately in influential quarters in London that England might make a gesture of definitely abandoning her naval bases in the Caribbean Sea and permanently demilitarizing her West Indian island as evidence of her good faith in declaring that her naval policy was not directed toward a possible war with the United States. It is being recognized that the British bases in the West Indies are potential threats to the Panama Canal and a source of irritation in the United States.

Advocates of this move say it would prove at once Britain's sincerity in declaring she is not considering the possibility of war with the United States and at the same time give the United States concrete evidence of her good will.

BASES NOT IMPORTANT

It might be contended by experts that the British bases in the West Indies do not now amount to much, but to that it would be replied that the very fact shows England is not nursing any hostile intentions toward the United States

ANGELENO'S STOCK UP

Dr. Van Waters Boom Gains

Los Angeles Juvenile Court Referee Makes Strong Leadership Bid

Cincinnati Man Viewed as Favorite But Woman's Strength Grows

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (Exclusive)—Interest in the forthcoming election of officers for the national conference of social work was general tonight. Dr. Miriam Van Waters, referee of the Juvenile Court of Los Angeles and the author of several articles on criminology and child welfare, will make a strong bid for leadership. The opposing candidate is C. M. Bookman of Cincinnati, executive secretary of the Cincinnati Community Chest and president of the National Association of Community Chests and Councils.

DR. MIRIAM VAN WATERS

Bookman was generally recognized as the potential favorite but friends of the Los Angeles woman grew steadily more confident and anticipated a close and hard-fought race between the two.

OTHER NOMINATIONS MADE

Adding zest to the situation is a lack of contests for other offices, allowing the delegates to concentrate on the presidency. Nominations for the vice-presidencies are: Karl De Schweinitz, secretary of the Family Society of Philadelphia, for first vice-president; Miss Rose McHigh, Chicago, second vice-president, and Walter Whitson, Houston, Tex., third vice-president.

Convention cities for 1930 are to be named tomorrow. Boston and Atlantic City are in the field.

HIGH SPOTS OF TALKS

Discussions today and tonight touched the following high spots:

A basis of standards should be established for closer co-ordination of general social service work.

The problem of educating migratory children grows more complicated and the answer must be in traveling schools.

Schools must take a more intelligent part in the treatment of "case children."

International agreements, probably in the form of multilateral treaties, should be the means of easing the emigration and immigration problems of labor.

More intelligence should be used in cutting into the poor man's wage for insurance, rather than jeopardize his food supply.

Illness costs the people of the United States $10,000,000,000 per year. Medical facilities should be co-ordinated along the lines of suggestions growing from a survey under the guidance of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior.

The juvenile court, in thirty years of existence, has added little to the knowledge of child behavior and needs radical readjustments.

LURIE SPEAKER

Speaking on the need for standards among social workers, Harry L. Lurie, superintendent of the Jewish Social Service Bureau of Chicago, declared "little use has been made of professional standards," although a page might be taken from the public school system which "usually has been able to keep out of political interference and control because the universities and normal schools have set the standards for the teaching profession."

Bleecher Marquette, executive secretary of the Cincinnati Public Health Federation, who cited figures on the cost of illness in the United States and added that $50,000,000 annually is paid out to "irregular medical practioners," insisted "the situation is perplexing but far from hopeless." He spoke in praise of the work being done under Secretary Wilbur's direction by the committee on the cost of medical care.

INSURANCE WARING GIVEN

A warning for better judgment in foisting of insurance upon meager incomes was voiced by Dr. Lee K. Frankel, who is second vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"Until food, shelter and clothing adequate to maintain subsistence standards are provided," he declared, "life insurance and savings are out of the question."

The present juvenile court sys-

MEAD HOLDS CONFERENCE IN ARIZONA

Power Needs Discussed Informally, But Results of Session Withheld

YUMA (Ariz.) June 28. (AP)—Arizona's power needs were discussed at an informal conference here today between Dr. Elwood Mead, director of the United States Bureau of Reclamation, Atty.-Gen. K. Berry Peterson of Arizona, Charles B. Ward, chairman of the Arizona Colorado River Commission, and C. G. Cragin, engineer-adviser for the commission.

Although no statement was forthcoming after the conference it is understood that Chairman Ward in response to a question by Dr. Mead, stated that he could give no definite estimate of Arizona's power needs at the present time as the matter still is under discussion. Chairman Ward said he will report to Gov. Phillips of Arizona and that the Arizona River Commission probably will meet within the next two weeks to definitely settle the power question.

The Arizona officials returned to the State capital tonight.

NEW MEXICO RIVER FUND RELEASED

PHOENIX, June 28. (AP)—New Mexico's $6500 appropriation to a co-operative fund to be used with a like amount from Arizona for surveys of the Gila River system, has been released for use, it was disclosed in a telegram from the New Mexico State Engineer to Gov. Phillips today.

De Priest Loses 'No Parking' Sign

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—A "no-parking" sign in front of the home of Representative De Priest, negro Republican member of the House from Illinois, has been ordered removed by Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police.

Pratt acted after receiving an official report that the sign had been placed by precinct police without authority. He said requests from members of Congress, Supreme Court justices and others for such privileges always have been rejected.

Losses Immense in India's Floods

AKVAB (Burma, India) June 28. (AP)—Damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000 has been done by floods resulting from torrential rains which swept away several villages. An official summary today said there had been disastrous effects in the townships of Kyauktam and Myohaung, one of the most thickly populated and prosperous areas in this district, and in the Arakan hill district.

The flooded area covers 10,000 acres and between 10,000 and 15,000 families have lost everything.

ENVOYS TO VALLEY MISSING

Van Norman and Councilmen-elect Delayed So Town-Buying Parley Will be Held Tonight

BY CHESTER G. HANSON
"Times" Staff Representative

INDEPENDENCE, June 28.—The meeting scheduled here tonight between representatives of Los Angeles and the townspeople of Owens Valley to discuss the purchase of the four leading towns of the valley was postponed until tomorrow night because of the nonarrival of H. A. Van Norman, general manager of the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power. After waiting three hours this evening, the Owens Valley representatives decided to put the meeting over.

At noon time Van Norman had set out at the head of a small party which included Councilmen-elect Burns, Williams and Cooke to inspect the waterworks system of the city of Los Angeles. Up to a late hour tonight, the party had not returned and nothing had been heard from them, although General Manager Van Norman had been anxious to return here before 7:30 p.m., the time when the meeting was scheduled to start.

NO FEAR FELT

The party was traveling in two automobiles and no great apprehension has been manifested yet for their safety, although much of their route lay through wild and little-traveled country. Pending any other explanation, it is thought that either one or both of the automobiles broke down and that the worst possibility in store for the party is a night spent in the open.

Meanwhile the committee of ten representing the Owens Valley townspeople assembled here on time and waited patiently for Van Norman to return from his trip. Also present were the two other representatives of Los Angeles, A. J. Ford, assistant land agent in the Owens Valley, and E. A. Porter, deputy land agent.

The proposed plan for the purchase of the four towns has been suggested as the only satisfactory solution of the long drawn out water war between the city and the valley over the city's development of a water supply for her domestic use.

SURVEY MADE

To date the city, over a period of years, has purchased practically all of the ranch lands of the valley in order to acquire the water rights. The townspeople have contended that in so drying up the valley the towns have been ruined and that it is only fair that the city purchase all of the town properties in lieu of paying reparations. Committees representing the city and the towns were appointed and have been conducting negotiations looking toward outright purchase.

Following preliminary negotiations the city has concluded a complete evaluation of the town properties, the work being done by a corps of experts who enjoyed the fullest co-operation from the townspeople to expedite the survey.

DIPLOMATS' POLICE LIST GETS AIRING

Capital Superintendent Reports to Senate on Traffic Violators

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of the Washington police force, reported to the Senate today that diplomats of varying rank have been halted on thirty-seven occasions for traffic violations during the past thirteen years.

Maj. Pratt declared some of these detained were charged with driving while intoxicated. His report, however, did not name the diplomats charged with this act, but merely grouped them in one list with the notation that they had been halted for violations of the traffic ordinances.

The report added that duly authorized members of the foreign legations are exempted from arrest.

The police superintendent's report was in response to a resolution of inquiry adopted by the Senate and introduced by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas.

CRUEL SKIES REND CUPID

Viola Gentry's Suitor Flies On

Injury of Girl in Air Crash Reveals Romance With Jensens' Companion

Latter's Plane Races Ahead in Gale as Grief-Mad Sweetheart Raves

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) June 28. (AP)—Their plane wracked by the stress of a rising storm and their hearts torn by tragedy which befell their friendly rivals, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jensen and William Ulbrich jolted along the skies tonight awaiting the third dawn since they began their assault on the refueling endurance-flight record.

Wednesday night the Jensens and Ulbrich went aloft and last night Jack Ashcraft and Viola Gentry went up in a rival craft. This morning the Ashcraft-Gentry plane ran out of fuel in a fog and crashed near Old Westbury. Ashcraft was killed and Miss Gentry critically injured.

ROMANCE REVEALED

The crash and subsequent events revealed an apparently romantic attachment between Miss Gentry in the plane that fell and Ulbrich in the ship that stayed aloft.

As Miss Gentry was lifted from the wreckage of the plane, she murmured: "I'm Viola Gentry. I just got a touch break, that's all. Tell Bill Ulbrich. Oh, Bill, Bill—" and through the hours in the hospital as her life hung in the balance she called intermittently for the man who still rode heartbroken through the skies.

Not that Ulbrich knew the extent of the tragedy, for the Jensens, close friends of both Ulbrich and Miss Gentry, saw to that.

The two planes had been flying within sight of each other until fog swirled across the sky at dawn. The Jensens and Ulbrich saw Miss Gentry's plane disappear into the mist and fail to reappear. Jensen dropped a note asking for word of the other plane and telling of their worry.

ULBRICH WROUGHT UP

Later communication was established between the plane in the air and the operations office at the field by radio telephone.

"Don't you fellows hold out on me," Ulbrich implored. "Tell me just what has happened to Viola."

The radio man at the field heard Jensen call peremptorily to Ulbrich to take the controls and Mrs. Jensen took his place at the telephone.

"Don't tell him the details," she said in a low voice. "Marty saw the wreck of the ship and has been keeping away from there."

Ulbrich came back on the phone and pleaded and threatened and begged again for "the real dope." He was almost as hysterical as Miss Gentry had been and occasionally the radio man at the field could hear Jensen cautioning him: "Steady, Bill, hold everything."

They told Ulbrich that Miss Gentry had broken an arm, which was true as far as it went. She had broken both arms in several places and was bleeding internally, and they told him they'd try to rig a microphone at her bedside so she herself could tell him not to worry.

FEAR IN HEARTS

And so Ulbrich and the Jensens, the top of their cabin loosened by a rising wind, scudded along the rain-filled skies with fear in their hearts. Had Ulbrich seen what Jensen had glimpsed through the clouds he would have known all too well that Miss Gentry's chance for life must be slim.

For the plane shot down through the branches of a tree and telescoped, nose first, into the ground. There it stuck, the engine in the earth, the cabin crumpled, the tail in the air, enough of the fuselage remaining to leave in sharp relief above the scrambled wreckage the name of the plane—The Answer.

Volunteers for blood transfusion were requested during the day and

HAWKS ENDS ROUND TRIP

Breaks Record Eastbound

Clips Hour and Half from Time Consumed on Flight West

Plane Slightly Damaged in Fast Landing at New York

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) June 29. (AP)—Capt. Frank H. Hawks brought his transcontinental airplane to earth here this morning at 1:16:03 a.m. eastern daylight time, breaking his own record for west-to-east flight.

The airman covered the distance from Los Angeles to New York in 11 hours, 38 minutes and 59 seconds.

On Thursday Capt. Hawks had flown from New York to Los Angeles in 19 hours, 10 minutes and 52 seconds, setting a new record for the east-west flight.

His elapsed time for the round trip was 30 hours, 49 minutes and 25 seconds. He had hoped to make the two journeys across the continent in less than thirty-five hours, but head winds on the flight here today impeded his progress.

As he landed here his plane skidded across the field and struck a fence, damaging its undercarriage and fuselage. The pilot was uninjured and climbed out of the plane to be greeted by a large crowd of admirers.

He was completely deaf from the roar of his engine and his face looked haggard. He left, after smilingly acknowledging his congratulations, to spend the rest of the night in his New York City home.

CRASH IN AIR KILLS TWO AT MARCH FIELD

RIVERSIDE, June 28. (Exclusive) Two March Field aviators fell to their deaths early today, when the wing of one plane rammed into the stabilizer of another. The dead are:

Lieut. W. O. Plummer, 23 years of age, Seattle, Wash.

Cadet Cyrus J. Wallace, 23, 610 Fairview avenue, San Gabriel.

The crash occurred on a formation of three ships over the field at an altitude of 400 feet, directly over the landing field. In some manner the plane piloted by Cadet Wallace collided with the lead ship, in charge of Lieut. Plummer, with Cadet Wallace as a passenger. Plummer's plane went up in tail spin and although he made frantic efforts to right it, the control[illegible] apparently were jammed and he was helpless. Plummer remained in the plane, meeting instant death as it struck the ground. Cadet Wallace jumped from a height of 200 feet but was unable to get his parachute open and was crushed to death.

Lieut. Plummer was one of the most popular instructors at the field. He was an expert pilot, officers stated, and was assigned last year to fly through the Grand Canyon in search of two persons who were lost while trying to negotiate the Colorado River in a rowboat. He also was in charge of the ship which hunted the desert for a motion-picture actress who was said to be lost. He was a graduate of West Point and of Kelly Field. He had been here nearly two years. His father is understood to be a clergyman of Mobile.

Cadet Wallace was in his fourth month of training at March Field.

LIEUTENANT'S LUCK HOLDS IN MISHAP

MITCHEL FIELD (N. Y.) June 28. (AP)—The luck of Lieut. Maxwell Balfour held good today though others all around him were less fortunate. He was 2000 feet in the air teaching Corp. Elmer Berry how to fly when his all-metal Army observation plane caught fire. The plane crashed and Berry was critically injured and burned, but Lieut. Balfour escaped with superficial burns.

A few hours before an endurance plan, had fallen near-by, killing Jack Ashcraft, a commercial flyer.

CANINE CRACKS CONCORDAT

Conflict of Roman States Impends as Stray Cur Seeks Sanctuary from Duce's Dog Catchers

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, June 28 (Exclusive)—The question of whether the extradition clause in the concordat accompanying the Lateran pact of conciliation between the Italian state and what is called Vatican City extends to the municipality of Rome's dog-catching department was brought up today by the conduct of a stray canine in St. Peter's Square.

This dog while in the neutral territory of St. Peter's Square was chased by two dog catchers and took refuge inside the frontiers of Vatican City. Two Swiss Guards with medieval axes stepped before the pursuit of the dog catchers and hence the question of extradition.

An eyewitness of the incident, writing today to the newspaper Piccolo, described the dog as an evident vagabond without a fixed residence but nevertheless of sympathetic personality, as dog personalities go. While the eyewitness watched from Charlemagne Arch in St. Peter's Square, the Vatican frontier, along came two dog catchers with the dog wagon loaded with candidates for the pound. Upon which several children playing near by, seeing the dog's peril, stoned him howlingly into the Vatican entrance, past the guards, with the mutt not once stopping for breath till he reached the Piazza Santa Marta.

When the dog catchers came up the Swiss Guards said:

"You cannot pass."

"Why not? Our duty is to catch that dog," the dog catchers replied.

"No back talk, this is another country," said the Swiss, resolutely summoning the corporal of the guard, while the dog catchers at the same time summoned two Italian policemen from the other side of St. Peter's Square.

A crowd gathered and explanations were demanded. To the furious dog catchers who were not aware of the fact, someone explained that beyond Charlemagne Arch of St. Peter's Square another state began and that to apprehend the dog it was necessary to seek extradition through diplomatic channels.

The policemen laughed, the crowd laughed, the Swiss Guards laughed, everyone laughed except the two dog catchers.

SUGAR CONFLICT GAINS INTENSITY

Smoot Says Sliding Scale Not Agreed On

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The intensity of the controversy over the proposed increased sugar tariff grew apace today as another group of witnesses representing varied interests gave their views before the Senate Finance subcommittee considering the subject.

As the hearing on sugar approached an end a second subcommittee took up another contested set of duties proposed in the House bill, on hides, leather and shoes, raw tree-like commodities. A third subcommittee heard testimony for and against various rates in the measure on metal products.

In the hearing on the sugar duties the Democrats were not long in injecting into the discussion yesterday's White House statement declaring that President Hoover favors a plan which would protect both the producer and consumer.

DEMOCRATS WANT LIGHT

Although the President was represented as having committed himself to no particular form of sugar tariff, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, said some newspapers had stated the Chief Executive favors the sliding scale plan under which rates would vary with the prices of sugar. Harrison expressed the view that if such a plan is to be submitted by Chairman Smoot, who has announced he is considering the substitution of a sliding scale for the proposed flat rate increases, that witnesses should be heard on it now, and the Democrats not "kept in the dark."

Smoot replied that there would be nothing to gain by questioning witnesses on the plan now because it is only tentative and nothing definite has been agreed upon.

The Harrison-Smoot colloquy came during the appearance of W. D. Lippet of Denver, general manager of the Great Western Sugar Company, operating forty-two plants in four Western States, who replied to criticisms of his company because he said it "had been fortunate" in making money in the sugar business.

WOULD AID FARMERS

The witness said during the last ten years the company had capital investments varying from $48,500,000 to $69,000,000; average annual earnings of 9.24 per cent, and dividend payments at the rate of 8.46 per cent on capital invested. The company had continuously endeavored to maintain its properties at the highest efficiency, he added, and through economies had enabled beet growers to share in its earnings.

An increased tariff, he declared, automatically would result in a higher rate of payment to farmers for their beets.

Others testifying on sugar included D. W. Pipes, Jr., of Houma, La., president of the American Sugar Cane League, who declared under questioning that he opposed the sliding scale plan as an experiment which the cane producers are unwilling to try now.

"We know what we can get under the present tariff," he said, "but we do not know what we would get under the scale plan."

The House rates on refined sugar are ½ cent a pound too high, said H. H. Pike, Jr., of New York, sales agent for the Hershey Corporation, an American-controlled refinery in Cuba. He continued it costs more to refine sugar in Cuba than in the United States, and that the House differential on refined sugar would cost American consumers between $350,000,000 and $385,000,000 annually.

CRASH OVER PRICES

A clash over price cutting on refined sugar broke out between Rudolph Spreckels, San Francisco, head of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, and R. D. Mead, vice-president of the California Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company, Crockett, Cal.

Mead charged that Spreckels had broadcast statements that the Crockett company had cut prices, and he said the Federal Sugar Company had done likewise. Mead said the California and Hawaiian Company was a member of the New York Sugar Institute, formed at the instance of Spreckels, and had the right to sell its sugar at "any price it wants to sell."

Spreckels did not deny that the Federal company had cut prices, but said it had been forced to do so because its sugar had piled up while others reduced prices and that was the only way to get rid of it.

Spreckels said he fostered the formation of the institute to "correct the bad practice and suspicion" he found in the refining business when he returned to it in 1927. He denied it was established to fix prices. He said any increased duty would serve only to build up plantations in Hawaii and take away any benefit that may accrue to the domestic beet industry.

Brain Will Rule in Contest at Business Women's State Convention

STOCKTON, June 28. (AP)—California business and professional women, furthering the quest for "brains and beauty," made it known here last night through their president, Miss Ada Margaret Brayton, that a contest stressing "beauty from the neck up" will be held in connection with the State convention of the organization in Pasadena September 7, next.

Physical charms will take second place, giving way to mental qualities, Miss Brayton declared.

everyone at the field vied for the opportunity to try to save the woman flyer's life.

Late today it was learned that Miss Gentry was married about a year and a half ago but was separated almost immediately and has retained her maiden name. The name of her husband, said to be an aviator now in Florida, was not learned.

STORY TOLD DURING BLOOD TRANSFUSION

MINEOLA (N. Y.) June 28. (AP)—Viola Gentry, woman pilot critically injured in the crash this morning of an endurance plane that caused the death of her copilot, was given a blood transfusion late today. During the operation she told what she knew of the accident.

Wallace Bishop, a newspaper cartoonist and close friend of Miss Gentry, was the blood donor.

"Jack Ashcraft was at the controls," she told Bishop. "The gas ran low and we went very high. The ground was covered with fog and a landing was impossible. Then the gas gave out.

"The engine stopped and we started down, trying to pick out a hole in the fog. Suddenly something happened. I don't know what, and that's all I know. They haven't told me what happened to Jack, but he was in the front seat, so I know he was killed."

Miss Gentry's arms were broken in four or five places, both elbows were broken, there is a deep cut all across her forehead above the eyes, deep gash in the neck, and internal injuries.

BAY CITY HAILS FOX PLAYHOUSE

Thousands Throng Theater's Double Premiere

Building and Film Given Gala Opening

Stars of Screen World View and Are Viewed

BY FLOYD L. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (Exclusive)—The latest visible tribute to the ability which brought William Fox out of the tenements of New York's lower East Side to a dominant position in the motion-picture industry was presented to public admiration here tonight in the formal opening of the new $5,000,000 Fox Theater on Upper Market street.

Carnival spirit prevailed among the 5000 persons who were sufficiently thoughtful to procure seats a month ago and thus managed to fill the ten-story structure to capacity for the world premiere of the sound and film adaptation of Karl Derr Biggers's mystery romance, "Behind That Curtain."

The same spirit gripped another 20,000 who had no seats but who stormed the surrounding streets clamoring for a sight of the Hollywood actors and actresses who came north for the opening.

The crush was so great that five women were knocked down. It was feared that Marianna Pgana, 20 years of age, had suffered a crushed chest.

The young women were hurt when the crowd, breaking through the police lines, surged up against the entrance doorway through which the stars were passing. Olga Baclanova and Lois Moran had just gone through the doorway when the jam broke the lines.

OVERFLOW ENTERTAINED

After the special trainload of visiting film notables had entered the street crowd moved on to the Civic Center, where a fireworks display had been arranged for them, as well as a street dance.

Once inside the huge lobby the press of sightseers was as great but the feeling of being pressed disappeared. A costly lobby, domed more than 100 feet in air and architecturally mottled in a combination of Louis XIII, XIV and XV, enlivened by murals dating to the same periods, gave the impression of ample space.

STRIKING BUILDING

It is different from the style, if it may be so called, of variation which has motivated theater construction in Los Angeles in recent years, and different, also, from what one has learned to expect in playhouse construction in Chicago and New York. No more elegant, perhaps, than the Egyptian and Chinese conceptions of Grauman, nor the enormousness of Roxy's and the Capitol in New York, the new Fox is sufficient unto itself and distinctly apart in its field. Certainly money was not spared in creating its exterior and interior, although the latter displays itself to the eye with much more compelling force, naturally.

In this William Fox found an able artiste in his wife, who not only designed the interior and planned its appeal, but dipped prodigally into her personal storehouse of antiques and curios picked up all around the world. She carried the theme of late Renaissance throughout the theater with the exception of two rooms in the lounging suite for women and in the emergency hospital, which is an integral part of the theater's equipment. In the lounging quarters the smoking-room is Persian and the boudoir is in modern French.

NINE BALCONIES

Unique the new Fox is, too, in elevator service to the balcony, the top row of which is nine floors above the level of the orchestra pit. It is distinctive in that it was built for sound reproduction rather than built first and equipped with sound devices afterward.

Walt Roesner as master of musical ceremonies introduced Will Rogers, and, as might be expected, the restraint of feeling engendered by size and artistry was whisked away in a trice and the vast throng got back to earth in a succession of inimitable wisecracking. Will took time out for breath when the visiting filmites took their bows, letting William Collier do the honors. William did right well, considering that he had to run through a list which included Warner Baxter, Lois Moran and Gilbert Emory in the leads of the premiere; George O'Brien, Janet Gaynor, Winfield Sheehan, Sid Grauman, Louis B. Mayer, Victor Shapiro, Jack Warner, Irving Thalberg, Norma Shearer, Harold B. Franklin, William Haines, Alice White, Olga Baclanova, Charley Murray, Frank Borzage, Edmund Lowe, David Butler, Paul Muni, Dorothy Burgess, Mary Duncan, Sally Phipps, Lupe Tavar, Fifi Dorsay, Sharon Lynn, Marjorie White, Charles Farrell, George Jessel, Victor McLaglen, Raoul Walsh, Irving Cummings, Rene Adoree, George K. Arthur, Nils Asther, Wallace Beery, Charles Bickford, Johnny Mack Brown, Julia Faye, Buster Keaton, Carlotta King, Myrtle McLaughlin, Anita Page, Dorothy Sebastian, Clarence Brown, Karl Dane, Eddie Mannix, Harry Langdon, Nancy Lee, Reginald Denny, Ruth Elder, Lois Wilson, Lupe Velez, Lily Damita, Charles Christie and Frances Lee.

ABOUT THE PICTURE

The picture itself follows closely the popular original of Biggers's. The sound effects of natives on the Persian desert and through the Khyber Pass, where some of the scenes are laid, as well as the clumping of camels, are sibilant enough one minute and staccato enough the next to make one forget these scenes were shot in our own Death Valley. The cosmopolitan buzz of San Francisco's Chinatown, where the climax is unfolded, has been carefully culled, so much so as to be a delight to those who have wandered the byways of the biggest Chinatown outside of China.

ENDURANCE FLYERS CARRY ON STEADILY

MINNEAPOLIS, June 28. (AP)—Flying steadily along, Owen Haugland and Thorwald (Thunder) Johnson, piloting the Miss Minneapolis, completed the one hundred and thirty-eighth hour in the air at 11 o'clock in their effort to set a new world's endurance refueling flight record.

Early in the evening they took on 127 gallons of gasoline from a refueling plane, which also lowered food.

CLEVELAND FLYERS IN SECOND ENDURANCE TRY

CLEVELAND, June 28. (AP)—Pilots R. L. Mitchell and Byron K. Newcomb, attempting to set a new world record for an endurance refueling airplane flight, took off at the municipal airport here tonight in the big monoplane City of Cleveland at 6:38:51.

It was the second attempt for a record flight by Mitchell and Newcomb. After remaining aloft slightly more than six hours last night they were forced by a severe electrical storm to land. They plan to keep their plane in the air 200 hours.

TWO ENDURANCE TESTS START HERE TOMORROW

Two endurance refueling flights are scheduled to get under way early tomorrow morning in attempts to bring back to Southern California the world's airplane endurance records.

Leo Nomis and Morrison Morrison plan to hop off from the Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport shortly after dawn tomorrow in their little Cessna monoplane.

At the same time and only a few miles away Loren W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart plan to board their Buhl Airsedan, a large biplane, and take to the air from the Culver City Airport.

Both pairs of flyers yesterday reported successful refueling and transfer of food contacts and are confident of remaining aloft 350 hours. Preparations for the flights have been in progress for several weeks and the details which may spell success or failure in the air have been ironed out.

The Cessna will be "nursed" by a Buhl Airsedan in charge of Earl Gordon, Bill Randall and Roy Minor, while an open biplane, the Carrier Pigeon, will tend to the needs of the Culver City ship. William G. McAdoo, Jr., is one of the backers of the latter ships and Richfield Oil Company is sponsoring the Metropolitan attempt.

A novel refueling arrangement has been worked out for the Mendell-Reinhart contacts. Hilbert plans to guide the refueling hose from a seat suspended below the Carrier Pigeon's fuselage. Contacts to the Cessna will be made in the orthodox way through trap doors in the ships.

BRITAIN PLANS PEACE GESTURE

and that the definite abandoning of these naval bases would prove that Britain recognizes United States supremacy in a quarter to which America must attach great importance.

Such a move was suggested to Stanley Baldwin by his advisers several months ago and it is said the former Prime Minister was giving careful consideration to the idea. It is now being brought before Premier MacDonald. But it might be said that because of his slight hold on the House of Commons the Labor Premier might well hesitate to broach such a subject while he is engaged in naval pourparlers, at least until British public opinion had developed an attitude on what the Tory element might regard as a retrocession by Britain.

However, the proposal is going to become the subject of public discussion. The Fortnightly Review of July 1, will carry an article signed "Augur," who is a distinguished London journalist, suggesting the abandonment of the Caribbean naval bases by Britain as the most important move toward organization of a permanent peace between Great Britain and America. He prays Premier MacDonald to make this proposed trip to Washington and asks that he not confine himself to talking about cruisers.

"Statesmen of the two countries must inquire if there is anything they can do to hasten the establishment of a state of eternal peace between the two nations," he writes.

CANADA CITED

The author then refers to the Pacific and unarmed relations of the United States and Canada and quotes Sir Austen Chamberlain as saying this frontier really is the frontier between the United States and the British Empire and asks why there should not be the same situation between the United States and the West Indian part of the British Empire.

"It occurs to us that Great Britain is in a fortunate position," he says, "being able to render America a signal service and proving thereby at the same time in an irresistible manner the resolve of the government and the British people never to enter into fratricidal strife with the people of the other side of the Atlantic."

TRIO OFF FOR BERLIN TODAY

"Chicago Tribune" Flyers to Hop on Round-Trip Over Great North Circle Air Route

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive)—The 'Untin' Bowler, a big grey amphibian plane that has been chasing its shadow across homeland skyways for the Chicago Tribune, will hop off at noon tomorrow from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, on its greatest adventure. It will be more than adventure for before its two pilots, Bob Gast and Parker (Shorty) Cramer, and Reporter Bob Wood return from a round-trip flight to Berlin they will have charted a new air route over the Great North Circle from the heart of America to the industrial center of Europe—from Chicago to Berlin and back.

The Bowler will fly west before it wings its way to Europe, for the purpose of the flight is to establish Chicago as a terminus for a hitherto unplotted Great North Circle route flung far above the fog banks off Newfoundland. It will beat its own path through uncharted territory and will endeavor to link two worlds by an almost overland air lane.

BY WAY OF BUFFALO

Nosing up the Hudson over a familiar route, the Sikorsky air yacht will drop low over Albany and then hurry on to pay its respects to Buffalo. From Buffalo the flyers will go to Cleveland. They may remain overnight there, for there will be no long jumps on the Bowler's flight.

Arriving in Chicago the following day, the plane will be given its final grooming at Municipal Field and a few days later, probably Saturday morning, it will drop down on Lake Michigan, sued its landing wheels to save weight, take on Bob Woods, the Tribune's aviation editor, to write the story of the flight, and head for the far northland as an ice and ocean-going flying boat.

The trip will not be a stunt. It will be a scientific survey of the most logical air path between the old and the new worlds. Pilots Gast and Cramer were chosen to make the trip by Col. Robert R. McCormick, Tribune publisher, who is the owner of the plane and sponsor of the flight, because of their training. Both are veteran flyers and skilled navigators. Gast has been flying amphibian planes of the type in whic hthe round-trip Chicago-to-Berlin flight will be made since they first were introduced. Cramer is familiar with the Arctic country, having made several exploration flights into the far north and only last August having attempted to fly the North Circle from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, Sweden. Cramer and Bert Hassell were forced down near Mt. Evans, Greenland, that time and on this trip Cramer expects to fly directly over the spot where his plane, the City of Rockford, was abandoned. If feasible he plans to refuel the abandoned plane and fly it into the nearest base on the return flight.

FIVE-DAY FLIGHT

The trip from Chicago to Berlin, weather allowing, will be made in five days. There will be no attempt to break any speed records and there will be no long water hazards or endurance jumps. In fact the 4750-mile route as mapped for the flyers by the American Geographical Society includes only two hops across the open sea, each less than 300 miles in distance.

Heading northeast from Chicago, the Bowler will follow a line almost as straight as that marked by a string stretched across the map between Chicago and Berlin. A stop will be made in Milwaukee and then the big boat will spread its wings over the North Circle, its radio flashing messages to the Chicago Tribune and a selected group of associated newspapers as it speeds over Canada, Greenland, Iceland, and on to Bergen, Copenhagen and Berlin.

If all goes well the air yatch then will lay in a new stock of supplies and hurry back to Chicago by way of Warsaw, Stockholm, Bergen and the same far northern route to complete the first trans-Atlantic round-trip flight in history.

The Chicago Tribune flight is based upon airways and not steamship routes. Its aim is to demonstrate that the northern circle with land most of the way offers fewer hazards than any other air lane.

TO INVESTIGATE ISLAND'S

It expects to show the practicability of a terminal in the industrial center of the United States from which planes could be dispatched to and received from Central Europe. Feeder lines already radiate out of Chicago making direct connections with Mexico and Central America and a five-day hook-up for mail service between Central America and Europe is possible.

The Tribune plane will investigate the possibility of an eastern branch in the Faroe Islands, from which London and Paris could be served via Scotland, but will make no attempt to fly the route.

Some of the outstanding advantages of the North Circle or overland passage to Europe as pointed out by Gast and Cramer included:

"The fact that the distance from Chicago to the mainland of Europe because of the spherical nature of the earth's surface, is less than 200 miles farther than the distance from New York to the European mainland.

"That while the north country is a land of intense storms, they are not local storms, but can be predicted almost to the hour and that long periods of dependable weather may be expected. For more than 600 miles in Greenland flyers can obtain tail winds blowing either east or west by merely changing their altitude. This is possible because of the dome of ice over Greenland which causes air currents to always flow outward toward the gulf stream, become warmed and flow back at a different altitude.

BASES ESTABLISHED

"That bases already have been established every 800 miles along the route and can be set up every 400 miles miles along 50 per cent of the course. The cost of bases every 400 miles would be less than the expense of establishing one of the proposed floating islands in the Atlantic.

"That longest hop on the northern route can be made on six hours' hours is the minimum. This gives way the gasoline alone far exceeds the Great Circle a payload possibility, feasible in the summer under existing conditions over which a ship can fly and still keep within the load limits allowed by the Department of Commerce. The other the load limit.

In their flight Gast and Cramer will face much that is unknown and in addition to mapping an air route they will endeavor to contribute scientific data on the topography of country over which they will fly.

Bearing northeast from Milwaukee the Europe-bound Bowler will fly 640 miles to Rainl Lake, an Ontorio forestry control station, where the ship will pick up supplies and push on 197 miles to Rupert House on the Rupert River. There at the Hudson Bay Indian Trading Post, the Bowler and its crew will anchor for the first night.

NORTH OF FOG BELT

The second day the first stop will be 815 miles farther along the Great Circle on the north tip of Labrador. There at Port Burwell, on Cape Chidley in Ungava Bay the flyers will drop down for gas. Port Burwell has a radio station, but if the "Untin" Bowler's radio lives up to expectations, its services will not be needed.

Port Burwell is north of the fog country on one of the ribs of the world, where they have real daylight saving. The sun shines twenty hours a day, so the Bowler and its crew will fly on to Point Evans, skirt the east coast of Baffinland over Cape Walfingham, visit Holstendorg, capital of North Greenland, and fly up the Fjord Stromjford to Mt. Evans where they will land in protected water and spend the night at Hobbs's Camp.

For more than 500 miles on the second day the flyers will look down on great seas of broken ice and icebergs. There are no towns along this stretch and only a few thousand Eskimos in the country. Between Holstendorg and Mt. Evans there is an all-water jump of 214 miles.

The third flying day will find the Bowler heading across the great ice cap of Greenland over which no plane ever has flown. The cap has been crossed three times by explorers on foot. The first settlement is 375 miles from Mt. Evans and is called Angmogsalik. There is a radio station there, but the Bowler will merely dip down to salute it, continuing on 466 miles to Reykjavik, Iceland's big town. The jump from Angmogsalik to Reykjavik is a water trip, but by swinging north along the shore the sea flight will be cut to 300 miles.

AND THEN BERLIN

Pushing onward, the following day, the Bowler will follow the coast of Iceland for 175 miles and then cut across the sea to Thorshaven in the Faroe Islands. By skirting the Iceland coast, the water jump will be held down to less than 300 miles. This jump will offer the greatest hazard of the trip, for it crosses the Gulf Stream and where the Gulf streams flows, flyers catch fog. Then the Faroe Islands are only tiny dots in the ocean extending seventy miles and do not offer a very large target to shoot at. To offset this danger the Bowler will be flying over a stretch of water comparatively free of large ice. There will be numerous fishing boats and trawlers—probably the first the flyers will see—plying along the banks.

If the Bowler makes the Faroe Islands on a bee-line there will be no stop at Thorshaven. Glad to be away from the land of the iceberg factories, they will head toward the Shetland Islands, across 210 miles of open water and on to Bergen, Norway, where they probably will pass the fourth night.

On the fifth morning they will fly 190 miles to Oslo down Kattegat Strait, between the Baltic and the North Sea. From Oslo they will continue on 302 miles to Copenhagen, Denmark, and from there to Berlin, 220 miles across land and water to complete one-half of their journey.

NO LIVES LOST IN SHIPWRECK

Twenty-eight Persons Taken Safely From Hartwood

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—While gale-lashed seas were pounding to pieces the 200-foot lumber schooner Hartwood on the rocky coast off Point Reyes today, twenty-eight persons, including a woman and two children, were taken off the vessel by Coast Guardsmen in one of the most gallant sea rescues in Pacific Coast history.

Twelve of the imperiled crew were hauled to safety over the turbulent waters by means of the breeches buoy. Sixteen others, including five passengers, had been taken off in a surf boat several hours previously.

The woman rescued is Mrs. Carl Enstrom, wife of the doomed vessel's captain. The children are Paul Enstrom, 6-year-old son of captain and Mrs. Enstrom, and Fred Arnke, 7, son of Conrad Arnke, first mate.

All the rescued, wet and shivering, were taken to the Point Reyes life-saving station to await removal here.

First SOS signals were picked up at 9:16 o'clock last night and flashed to all ships in the vicinity of the stricken vessel. So dense was the fog and fierce the seas, however, that several hours elapsed before the vessel was located and a line put aboard her.

Court Rules Citizens May Point to Flaws in Municipal Regime

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—The right of free speech and the privilege of any citizen to criticise the administration of city, county, State or national government was upheld by the State Appellate Court here today in sustaining a lower court ruling denying the city of Albany right to sue William F. Meyer of that city for $10,000 libel.

Meyer is asserted in the action to have "wrongfully and maliciously printed defamatory articles" about the condition of government of the city. The articles are asserted to have stated the financial condition of the city was ruinous, that the city faced bankruptcy and was forced to borrow money to pay city employees.

The Alameda Superior Court sustained a general demurrer to the suit. The city of Albany appealed and the opinion handed down by the Apellate Court today upholding the Superior Court decision declared "every citizen has a right to criticise an inefficient or corrupt government."

Ambassador Claudel Begins Delay Negotiations

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—French Ambassador Claudel today began negotiations with the American government on instructions from Paris for the unconditional postponement of payment of the $400,000,000 World War supplies debt due August 1.

Ambassador Claudel called at the State Department and conferred for twenty minutes with Secretary Stimson.

The Ambassador, it was learned, did not present a note, but discussed with the Secretary of State the question of postponement of the due date of the obligation until December 31, as he had been instructed by Premier Poincare.

Secretary Stimson said before the conference that he did not know at present of any manner in which such an obligation could be postponed without Congressional action.

At the Treasury Department Secretary Mellon said he had received no advices from the French government or the Ambassador.

POINCARE, UNWILLING, FORCED TO ACCEDE

PARIS, June 28. (AP)—Pushed on by almost unanimous Parliamentary opposition, Premier Poincare sent to Washington today another plea for postponement beyond August 1 of maturity of France's debt of $400,000,000, incurred in purchase of American war stocks left in France when the A.E.F. went back home.

M. Poincare, making his eighth and probably last appearance on the debt and reparations questions before the joint Chamber Committees on Finance and Foreign Affairs today, read to the deputies a copy of a cable which he sent Ambassador Paul Claudel at noon.

URGENT APPEAL

The Premiere informed M. Claudel in the cablegram of the Chamber's decision and entreated him to "put all his heart into a Supreme effort" to obtain the postponement.

The Premier's plea was both unwilling and with little hope of success, but was made necessary by a resolution of the Chamber of Deputies in the first hour today asking that Ambassador Claudel seek postponement of the maturity date so that France would not be rushed in ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt accord. The debt accord would include the war stocks debt in the general war debt to the United States.

The resolution was passed after a speech of Deputy Franklin Bouillon in answer to twenty-one hours' speech-making by M. Poincare, who sought to show why immediate ratification of the debt accords with England and America is necessary.

SPECIOUS ARGUMENTS

The deputy argued that France was being railroaded into ratification and he declared he did not believe America would be deaf to an appeal of justice, but if America would not recognize justice then France would be able to appeal to the justice of the world.

"Versailles was an American peace; the Dawes plan was an American peace; the Young plan is an American peace," he argued "and to all of them America has refused to subscribe."

When the Chamber had expressed its will Premier Poincare told the Deputies he would apply himself with "all my devotion and all my patriotism" to carry out its wishes.

Woman's Smile Won't Come Off

PHOENIX, June 28. (AP)—Lola M. Young, a gayly attired young woman, smilingly approached Federal court here this morning and pleaded guilty to three counts of possession of liquor and of making one sale of two drinks to prohibition officers.

When the court sentenced her to two years and six months in the penitentiary for women in West Virginia the young woman was unperturbed, even after she was fined $250 on each of three additional counts.

OFFICER'S BEER DRAWS CENSURE

Texas Chairman Threatened on Garner Thrust

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 28. (AP)—A border customs collector who admitted he drinks beer occasionally in Mexico and that perhaps half the Mexican laborers employed on his farm may have entered the United States illegally was severely scored by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, at the Senate patronage hearing here today.

Roy Campbell, the customs collector, who is stationed at Laredo, Tex., and is said to owe his appointment to R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman for Texas, was questioned after Senator McKellar had threatened Creager with arrest for an innuendo attack on Congressman Garner, Democratic leader in the house. The threat brought an apology from Creager.

BEER IN MEXICO

"I drink a little beer in Mexico occasionally," Campbell testified when asked by Senator McKellar if he ever took a drink.

"Do you think it proper for a customs official to cross the border and drink?" queried Senator McKellar.

"I don't think it promotes confidence," Campbell answered.

"Then why do you do it?"

"I want to."

Subsequent testimony showed that Campbell had operated a 1000-acre irrigated farm near Laredo, using Mexican labor, "about half of whom," he said, might have entered this country illegally.

"Did you ever ask whether those workers were aliens before you hired them?" McKellar asked.

"I did not."

Campbell said only about 2 per cent of the liquor seized in Texas now is of Mexican origin.

McKELLAR COMMENTS

As the border officer prepared to leave the stand Senator McKellar remarked:

"I doubt the advisability of a customs collector drinking, or anyone closely connected with immigration, as you are, employing alien labor."

The warning to Creager against subjecting himself to contempt of the Senate came while the committee was inquiring into conditions in Hidalgo county. Mrs. H. O. Shaleben on the witness stand had renewed charges of a combine between Creager and Sheriff Baker, reputed Democratic boss of the county.

CHAIRMAN RAPPED

When Orville Bullington, vice-chairman of the Texas Republican Executive Committee, coached frequently by Creager, asked the question: "Then John Garner is aligned with the crooked Democratic machine in Hidalgo county?" Senator McKellar interrupted.

"Mr. Garner is not here to defend himself, so we will hear no more charges of that kind," McKellar said, warning Creager that any further conduct of the sort might result in his arrest for contempt of the Senate. Both Creager and Bullington apologized.

ROBSION DENIES DEMAND FOR FUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Representative Robsion, Republican, Kentucky, today made public a vigorous denial of the charge that R. B. Waddle, while postmaster at Somerset, Ky., had been requested to contribute to expenses of his primary campaign in 1924.

The charge was placed in the record of the Senate patronage investigating committee by Chairman Brookhart, in the form of a letter from Waddle saying he had refused "certain illegal demands" of Robsion and was not reappointed when his term expired.

Mr. Stimson will use the attractive old mansion, one of the finest examples of pure colonial architecture to be found hereabouts, as his residence.

Announcement of the purchase of Woodley is regarded as indicating that Mr. Stimson has every intention of remaining in the Cabinet for the duration of the Hoover administration.

The estate has a glamorous past. It served as the "summer White House" for four Presidents—Van Buren, Tyler, Buchanan and Cleveland.

Mrs. Lott said she could not explain why her husband also killed his daughter.

PEDAGOGUES OUSTED FOR 'WILD PARTY'

Bellingham Normal School Trio Dismissed on Charge of "Unbecoming Conduct"

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) June 28. (AP)—"For conduct unbecoming to teachers" three members of the Bellingham Normal School faculty were dismissed last night by the board of trustees.

They are Arthur Kolstad psychology teacher; Oscar O. Winther, history instructor, and Miss Helen S. Dozier of the normal physical education department.

The dismissals grew out of an investigation conducted by President C. H. Fisher after Kolstad a few nights ago caused the arrest of William Kahlke, Seattle banker, and T. Ward, Seattle contractor, on assault charges, asserting they waylaid and "beat him up." Ward objected to Kolstad's association with Kahlke's 19-year-old daughter, a student at the Normal. Ward is her stepfather.

President Fisher said investigation disclosed that the three dismissed faculty members and the Kahlke girl had a "wild party" at Kolstad's home recently.

OAKLAND, June 28. (AP) — Miss Helen S. Dozier, one of three members of the Bellingham (Wash.) Normal school dismissed for unprofessional conduct, graduated from Mills College here an honor student in 1927. In that year she won the Elizabeth Lee Stoner prize for excellency in physical education.

NEW GOULD LETTER ON WINE READ

Maine Senator's Praise of Cordial Made Public in St. Louis Vineyard Suit

ST. LOUIS, June 28. (AP)—United States Senator Gould of dry Maine expected some "fine wine" from a shipment of "cordial" he purchased from the Fresno Vineyard Company of St. Louis in 1927, according to a second letter he wrote the company which was made public here in connection with a lawsuit in Federal court.

In his first letter Gould, who, the company contends, was one of its customers, told of favoring a license for light wines and beer.

The second letter, dated two weeks after the first, acknowledged receipt of a shipment of cordial on May 27, 1927. "The cordial was in perfect condition," the Senator wrote. "It was working quite lively," he said; "in fact, the pressure was so great that the head of the keg was bulged."

The letter thanked the company for "all this kindness," and added that "I know I shall have some fine wine out of this shipment."

Both letters were made public by counsel for the Colony Vintages Company, successor to the Fresno firm, along with testimonials from other customers, for use as a defense in a $100,000 breach-of-contract suit. Neither letter had been introduced in evidence today, but in Maine Senator Gould verified the correspondence.

Cleveland Clinic Hospital Again Scene of Blaze

CLEVELAND, June 28. (AP)—Fire broke out early today in the research building of the Cleveland Clinic Hospital adjoining the Cleveland Clinic Building where 123 persons lost their lives in an explosion and fire May 15, last. So far as is known no one was in the building at the time.

The fire was located in the electric paraffin bath of the physiotherapy department of the research building, which is separated by roadways both from the hospital and the clinic building where the previous fire occurred.

The flames were extinguished without patients in the hospital learning that a fire had broken out. There was no excitement, and no one was endangered.

WOMAN BANDIT TAKES PAY ROLL

Kansas Brunet Lonehanded Bests Three Men

Hold-up With Unloaded Gun Nets $14,000 Cash

Desertion of Commandeered Driver Fails to Ruffle

TOPEKA (Kan.) June 28. (AP)—A young woman, unassisted and with a revolver believed to have been unloaded, coolly held up two employees of the Security Benefit Association here today and escaped with approximately $14,000.

The hold-up occurred in front of the headquarters of the association after the woman had forced A. J. Perlich of Kansas City to drive her six blocks to the scene of the robbery.

Escaping on foot, the woman fled to an apartment building a block away where she discarded a hat, smock and other articles of clothing. She then ran out the back door and disappeared.

WITH EMPTY GUN

Near the building the woman dropped her revolver, which was unloaded when found. Police expressed the belief that there were no bullets in the weapon at the time of the robbery, although it is possible the cartridges had been removed before the gun was thrown away.

The woman, described as being a brunet between 25 and 27 years of age, thin-faced and of medium height, stopped W. L. Stalons, chief clerk of the association, and Louis Streit as they were returning from a bank with pay roll money. She held a handkerchief to her face.

"Drop that package, or I'll blow your insides out," she commanded, drawing her revolver.

CHAUFFEUR ESCAPES

The woman caught the money satchel as Stalons attempted to toss it to Streit, and turned to enter Perlich's car. The motorist, however, had fled, driving to police headquarters to report the hold-up. She then ran a block to the apartment building.

Perlich said the woman entered his car while he was parked in front of a hotel and placed the revolver against his body, compelling him to drive to the benefit association headquarters.

Arrived there, he said, the woman ordered him to "keep quiet" and "not get nervous because they haven't come yet," referring, apparently, to Stalons and Streit.

STATE GETS RIVER SITE AT AUBURN

Flood-Control Reservoir and Power Plant May be Ultimate Use of Land

SACRAMENTO, June 28. (Exclusive)—The State of California today obtained ownership of the site of the proposed flood-control reservoir and power plant on the north fork of the American River near Auburn, with the filing of deeds with the Placer county recorder.

The Auburn reservoir site is one of three contemplated for the control of floods on the American River. The first site is at Folsom and already is on State-owned property. The third site is near Coloma, on the south fork of the stream and the State is entering negotiations for the acquisition of that site. State officials stated that even if the State does not use the site for the erection of a publicly owned dam, it can lease the site to a private company with impositions that a dam must be equipped with flood-control features to protect North Sacramento and the lower river regions.

The State paid $42,000 for the land. The purchase was made from C. E. and Myrtle Johnson.

Rangers searching the Illilouette Creek vicinity last night traced footprints of the missing woman to the creek bed where the trail was lost. Two native Indian guides were aiding them in the hunt.

Edward F. Trussell of Sacramento, brother of the lost teacher, arrived here last night and left with Chief Ranger Townsley today.

SCHACHT LAUDS PLAN OF YOUNG

Chief Reparations Delegate Tells of Parley

He Insists Rhineland Must be Evacuated

Banker Addresses German Commerce Chamber

[Copyright, 1929, by New York Herald Tribune.]

BERLIN, June 28. (Exclusive)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, speaking before the German National Chamber of Commerce at Munich today, declared that the German experts during the Paris reparations conference accepted the Young plan not because they considered the annuities fell within the capacity of Germany to pay, but because they felt that the plan brought nearer a period of economic and political peace which German industry requires for its restoration.

In a speech full of warm recognition of the part played in the conference by the United States Dr. Schacht, who was the chief delegate from Germany to the Paris conference, said that the fact that the compromise between the Allies and German offers had emanated from the American group made it easier for the German debt commission to accept because the United States "perhaps more than any other nation has a sense of economic responsibility in the strongest measure."

DEPENDS UNCLE SAM

Dr. Schacht repudiated the reproach often heard in Europe that America is "Uncle Shylock," asserting that if it is proved that a debtor nation is unable to meet its obligations the American people are the first to smooth over its difficulties.

While justifying the experts' recommendation to the German government of acceptance of the Young plan, Dr. Schacht frankly expressed the hope that the Reichstag would reject the scheme unless the Rhineland is restored to German sovereignty.

"I hope," he said, in the concluding passage of his address, "that no parliamentary majority will be found in Germany for political ratification of the Young plan unless there is immediate and unconditional evacuation of the Rhineland and a satisfactory settlement of the Saar Valley question giving us back full sovereignty over German territory.

PLAN FOR PEACE

"The world is satiated with political subterfuges which, under the pretext of a menace from our completely disarmed people, seek to justify foreign military power for some time to come laying its hand on peaceful German soil. The Young plan will be an instrument of peace or it will not be at all."

Dr. Schacht's speech today is the first public address he has delivered since he returned from Paris and represents the first shot fired in Germany in the Young-plan campaign. Hitherto opponents of the reparations settlement have had it all their own way, for Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, and other government officials have been prevented from championing the plan in view of the fact that the government's acceptance of it is dependent on the outcome of the pending diplomatic conference.

PREFERENCE TOLD

German business and industrial circles regard Dr. Schacht's speech as a masterly and convincing plea for the Young plan and he is believed to have spiked the guns of the Nationalist opponents of the plan by showing that the primary consideration is not the height of annuities of this or that scheme, but whether the revised arrangement offers a further breathing spell for German industry and renewed foreign confidence in German good faith.

Explaining why he prefers the Young plan to a continuance of the Dawes plan, Dr. Schacht told the influential German business men gathering at Munich, "a policy of understanding with our opponents offers the only possibility of emerging in patient and peaceable work from the sorry position in which we were placed by losing the war. A policy of liberation by force is not possible. Since the crash of our state order following the war, we have passed through five years of permanent crises which devoured the mark and our national life, both economically and spiritually. We have in the following five years in spite of peace and consolidation experienced ever-recurrent economic reverses which have demanded great exertions of force to be surmounted.

"Every additional year which leads us along quiet economical lines strengthens us spiritually and materially for potential crises which will not be spared us in the future."

Order Blocks Deportation of Baby Stowaway

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) The youngest stowaway ever to enter this port, Elisa Valerie, 14 months of age, was saved from deportation by an unexplained order issued by immigration authorities today just before she was due to sail on the Cosulich liner Presidente Wilson.

The baby arrived here in May with her mother, Marie Dolores Valerie, who died last week on Ellis Island. The mother attempted to smuggle her child ashore when her boat docked but customs guards noticed the bulge under her coat and halted the two. The child then was listed officially as a stowaway.

VAN WATERS BOOM GROWS

tem was flayed again by Dr. Fred H. Allen, director of Philadelphia child guidance clinic, and by Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor.

"Originally," asserted Dr. Allen, "the court was looked upon as a protector rather than as a punisher of children and was expected to give this protection when other sources had broken down or become inadequate. Today it is asked what has hindered the children's court from keeping pace with other phases of child welfare."

To get away from the punitive idea and better conditions generally, Dr. Allen suggested:

"Create in the minds of adults the spirit of scientific inquiry which can approach delinquency with a minimum of prejudice and less of the desire to condemn."

Miss Abbott sees the solution in making "judges, as well as teachers, parents and social workers," use more intelligence "as to the prevention and treatment of conduct problems. We need to put into practice what is now known, at the same time expanding our field of knowledge by research and clinical observation."

Touching upon labor conditions as affected by immigration and immigration regulations, Lefleur Magnusson of the Washington branch of the International Labor Office suggested multilateral treaties, saying:

"Every country is entitled to say which of its citizens may depart from its borders, who may enter, and upon what conditions."

EDUCATION PROBLEM

Education of the children of migratory workers has become one of the greatest problems in the nation, according to assertions made today. The automobile, particularly the cheap one, within the means of almost every American individual of the present day, was condemned as the greatest factor in development of the migratory spirit, but it also was held forth as the means to combat the evil as it exists.

Dr. George B. Mangold, professor of sociology of the University of Southern California, provided the note of optimism in an otherwise drab outlook by suggesting traveling schools. State aid for schools keeping touch with the migratory child and sanitary regulations for temporary housing of migratory workers and their families.

Temporary employment has brought the urge for migration and the cheap automobile has made it possible to an enormous extent, Dr. Mangold said.

"We are making nomads and gypsies out of hundreds of children, thus impairing their habits and steadiness and industry," he declared.

Mrs. Lillian B. Hill of the California State Department of Education elaborated on the same theme. She said that 36,891 children were listed in the 1927 school census who had no permanent place of residence. This did not include, she said, 3000 estimated children in labor and auto camps. In the same census, she said, 102,405 Mexican children were listed.

"Due to the mild climate and diversity of crops, the migratory problem in California is an all-year one," Mrs. Hill averred. "School progress of the migratory children is retarded by the low economic condition of the family, wretched camp living conditions, long hours of labor, poor food and low moral standards."

California is striving to meet the problem, Mrs. Hill said, in a program providing for equality of educational opportunities for the migratory child, a definite health program and the protection of other children with whom the migratory ones come into contact.

DEATH COMES TO SPRECKELS

Yonkers Sugar Refiner Has Fatal Heart Attack

He Was Member of Famous San Francisco Family

Name Made for Himself in Traditional Industry

YONKERS (N. Y.) June 28. (AP)—Louis Spreckels, 62 years of age, sugar refiner and for many years general manager of the Federal Sugar Refining Company in Yonkers, died today of a heart attack.

His death was unexpected. He awoke this morning, complaining of difficulty in breathing, sat up for a time but finally returned to bed, relapsed into unconsciousness and died in a few minutes.

Mr. Spreckels was born and educated in San Francisco, and was of a noted family of sugar refiners. He was taken into business at the age of 16 by his uncle, Claus Spreckels, founder of the sugar business which made the family name famous.

He worked in the Western Sugar Refining Company in San Francisco for several years and then was made an official of the Spreckles Refining Company plant in Philadelphia. He came to Yonkers as superintendent of the Federal plant and later became general manager.

He leaves his widow, two sisters, and two brothers in California, and numerous cousins.

He was a member of the Yonkers City Club and was a former civil service commissioner.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

OWENS VALLEY PACT DELAYED

The assessors surveyed every house and lot and piece of business property in the towns and placed a value on it which they would be willing to pay. It was for the purpose of hearing this value and to have explained the methods of arriving at the value that the meeting was called for tonight.

The townspeople, after several conferences and discussions among themselves informed the city that they would expect a price to be paid equal to five times the present equalized assessed valuation. The city replied that it did not think that a proper determination could be reached based on the assessed valuation, because the assessed valuation varied over the valley. It suggested the individual survey method, establishing a front foot or square foot unit price for the various classes of property involved.

ANXIOUS FOR ACTION

The townspeople are very anxious to have the matter settled, as is the city. Business men are complaining that business has been very dull because of uncertainty on the part of residents as to what the future holds forth. Both sides are confident that an agreement can be reached soon. One thing is certain, and that is that there is an entirely new feeling of cooperation and confidence existing between the city and the valley people. The committee representing the towns includes Jess Hession (chairman,) and George W. Naylor, for Independence; Carl Nelson and J. L. Gish for Laws; B. E. Johnson and C. H. Rhudy for Bishop; A. G. Barmore and George B. Warren for Big Pine and John C. Morris and Mrs. E. H. Edwards for Lone Pine.

Plumas-Lassen Rail Plans Off

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today denied the application of the Northern California Railroad Company for permission to acquire fourteen miles of private logging railroad and to build a seventeen-mile extension in Plumas and Lassen counties, California.

"The new road," the decision said, "would doubtless be of service to stock raisers and dealers in furnishing quicker transportation to and from ranches but earnings of the road from this source would be small."

BYRD REPORTS NEW LANDS

Aerial Discovery of 20,000 Square Miles in Antarctic Described in Navy Message

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—A report from Commander Richard E. Byrd, made public today by Secretary Adams, related that observers in the airplanes of his South Pole expedition had discovered approximately 20,000 square miles of hitherto unknown land in the Antarctic.

The flights, according to the report to the Secretary of the Navy, were made during the period preceding the winter-long polar night, which now has forced suspension of exploration.

SURVEY BY AIR

The major part of the report described the discovery and partial survey of the Rockefeller Mountain range, which one of his airplane parties discovered in January and was surveyed principally from the air in the two months following.

Byrd reported the landing on March 7, last, of L. M. Gould, geologist of the party, near one of the southern mountains of the range. This, he said, was the first time that man had discovered a new land from the air and landed upon it for scientific investigations.

PEAKS REPORTED

These mountains, he reported, "appear to be struggling to keep their heads above the snow," which covers all but the highest patches of rock bared by the wind.

Commander Byrd mentioned the sighting of other peaks, including one which resembled the Matterhorn, and very extensive snow covered land areas, but because observations were uncertain and mirages frequent, he said he did not wish to report upon them until the next season's explorations had checked the first findings.

SHIPPING RATE WAR RAGES ON

Peace Efforts in Coastwise Trade Futile

Fight Confined to Traffic in North Pacific

Cut Since Start Estimated at 50 Per Cent

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

All efforts to pacify coastwise steamship lines now in the throes of a freight rate war between California ports and the North Pacific have gone by the boards and the slashing is expected to continue indefinitely.

As one impartial observer who has been tendering the olive branch to the combative elements declared, "the participants apparently haven't been hurt enough yet." However, the war already has raged several weeks and rates have been cut down perhaps 50 per cent.

The slash applies only inter-State, as lines may make their own rates between California ports and Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, but are forbidden to diverge from intrastate tariffs filed with the State Railroad Commission on cargo purely between San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Bayside Steamship Company led the procession when it quoted favorable rates to attract asphalt, canned goods and such northward for its itinerant service. Nelson Line shortly felt the cut and met a dozen Bayside rates, which drew in the Admiral Line and McCormick Steamship Company's coastwise service to the same level. Differentials were claimed by one of the slower lines; were denied and the rates were cut again, and again met by everyone.

Last week and again this week overtures for a settlement were made but found little receptiveness. Observers declare the freight movement is being stimulated temporarily, but that there is just so much freight to be moved north or south, and the increase will not prove lasting. In the meantime shippers are declared to be taking advantage of the cheaper rates, as usual, anticipating the time when the war ends and solicitation will be acute at higher levels.

LASSCO LINE DUE FOR BUSIEST WEEK-END

The busiest week-end in its history is in store for the Lassco Line today and tomorrow when two Hawaiian and two coastwise liners arrive or depart.

The Harvard will start the parade by arriving at 10 a.m. today from San Francisco with more than 400 travelers. Two hours later the City of Honolulu will leave here for Hawaii with 420 passengers, 413 being first-cabin, the largest number in that class ever to leave port on a Lassco liner.

Late in the afternoon the Harvard will sail to San Diego and the Calawaii will put in with its seasonal record of 257 travelers and a cargo of 40,000 cases of canned pineapples and sugar from Hawaii. Sunday the Yale will bring a capacity list from San Francisco and sail for San Diego, the Harvard returning from that port the same day.

Among the passengers sailing on the City of Honolulu are C. T. Ripley, chief mechanical engineer for the Santa Fe Railway, Chicago; A. C. Parsons, vice-president of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company; William Ryan, film director; Jackson A. Graves, Los Angeles banker; C. P. Earley, general manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors, of Redlands; Shirley Hall, Catherine Hudges and Elladora Hudson, Pasadena and Los Angeles artists, and John C. Darby, sales and export manager for Bishop & Co.

Travel to Hawaii has been consistently higher this year than last, and the coastwise ships are enjoying unprecedented patronage, according to R. J. Chandler, vice-president and general manager of the line.

Forty thousand boxes of Southland oranges will fill the refrigeration compartments completely, when the Holland-America motor liner Drechtdyk sails late today for United Kingdom and Continent. She will have 10,000 tons of Pacific Coast products and sixteen passengers, of whom eight will embark here. Among the travelers is S. A. Van Konynenburg of Holland who has been shipping bulbs to this country for twenty-five years. He will return soon to establish bulb farms in Oregon. The vessel is commanded by Capt. George J. Barendse, one of the senior masters, who may fall heir to the bridge of the new motor liner Delftdyk, nearing completion and due here on her maiden voyage in November. The Delftdyk will carry twenty-four passengers, each cabin having connecting bathroom; will have 150,000 cubic feet of refrigeration, and make a speed of fourteen knots. She will carry 12,000 tons of cargo.

Steamer S. A. Perkins, departing early yesterday for gypsum at San Marcos Island, Mexico, fouled her propeller with a slack cable with which she was towing the barge Daylight. Merritt, Chapman & Scott's divers were down disentangling the cable and the vessel got away several hours late.

Approximately 1000 passengers, half arriving and half departing, were handled by the Admiral Line flagship H. F. Alexander, in yesterday morning from Seattle and San Francisco and out for the north last night. Arriving passengers included Frank Loftus, chief customs inspector at Seattle. Several scores of teachers went north last night to attend summer school at Berkeley. The liner was commanded this voyage by Capt. Charles Hansen, port captain at San Francisco, relieving Capt. Nystrom while the latter is in Admiralty Court. The Emma Alexander of the same line sailed for Ensenada last night with 175 passengers and is due back tomorrow night.

Speed of sixteen and one-half knots is to be given the six new silk-carrying motor freighters recently ordered built in Japan for the Osaka Shoshen Kaisha's run between Hongkong, Japan, San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York. Westbound the vessels will sail direct from Los Angeles, and will have facilities for ten passengers. Details received from Harold C. Smith of Williams, Dimond & Co., agents, show the vessels will have a gross tonnage of 8200, weight tonnage of 9700; will carry 14,000 tons of cargo, including 750 tons of silk in special rooms, 1000 tons of freight oil, and 330 tons of perishables in refrigeration. They will be completed in November, 1930, supplanting older vessels now in the run. The same line late this year will complete two more new globe-girdling motor liners, Buenos Aires Maru and the Rio de Janeiro Maru.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Before Tarzan's absence was discovered, his stateroom had been searched. Again the French documents were in Rokoff's possession. For that villain, disguised as a "Monsieur Thuran," was also aboard the liner. Now, with Tarzan thrown to the fish and the papers his, Rokoff was indeed happy.

Especially when he strolled the decks with a pretty American heiress. They reached Cape Town the same lovely morning Lord Tennington's yacht also dropped anchor there. A dinner-party aboard the Lady Alice happened to make Jane Porter acquainted with the vivacious American heiress and her escort, "Monsieur Thuran."

Later, when the yacht sailed for home over the same route, it was not strange that these new friends were among his lordship's guests aboard. Beautiful days at sea brought them again to the waters where Terzan had disappeared. Of this incident Jane's friend spoke, showing some photographs she had taken of the lost man.

And Jane, as she recognized in that print of the drowned man her own Tarzan of the Apes, fainted. For days she kept her room. To her, it was unbelievable that his brave heart should have ceased to beat. Now, with hope gone, she could no longer refuse the hand and titles of Clayton.

BOARD CLOSES DOORS OF BANKS

South Pasadena National in Hands of Examiner

Officials Declare Solvency and Promise Payment

May be Reopened as Branch of Chain Institution

SOUTH PASADENA, June 28.—With deposits in excess of $700,000 shown on its books, the South Pasadena National Bank, one of the three largest banks in this city, closed its doors today because of inability to meet payments.

Officials announced that all depositors will be paid 100 cents on the dollar and that the institution may be reopened within ten days as a branch of a large chain system.

SMALL RUN OCCURS

Frozen assets and a small run on the bank yesterday afternoon resulted in the directors' decision to lock the doors and place I. I. Chorpening, national bank examiner, in charge of the institution.

Of the $700,000 deposits, $250,000 is asserted to be invested in marketable securities and the directors assert that no depositor will lose money, either through liquidation or in the event that the assets and liabilities totaling more than $800,000 are absorbed by a chain bank.

Chorpening declined to assign any cause for closing the bank except to say that he was in charge "at the will of the board of directors."

ASSURANCE GIVEN

Small groups of worried depositors who gathered on the sidewalk in front of the bank on the southwest corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Mission street were reassured that the institution is solvent. None of the bank's officers could be reached tonight and it is understood that they will issue no statement until the bank examiner has completed checking the books.

Capitalized at $100,000 about four years ago, the bank has a board of fifteen members. The officers are: F. H. Gates, chairman of the board; F. S. Burgess, president; G. G. Hoag, vice-president, and W. L. Parslow, cashier.

The local water department has $35,000 on deposit in the closed bank and the postoffice about $1600. In addition to these deposits, the local street-assessment account in the bank is reported to total $11,200.

Ranger Bans Firecrackers

SIERRA MADRE, June 28.—No fireworks will be allowed in the hills on July 4, according to Ranger V. P. Vetter of the Santa Anita district, who stated today that a strict watch will be kept in mountain areas and any persons entering any of the canyons or trails will be searched for firecrackers. Persons found guilty of shooting firecrackers within the boundaries of the Angeles Forest will be severely dealt with, Ranger Vetter forewarned.

The forest on the mountainsides is unusually dry at the present time and great precaution is being taken. The same ruling applies to Monrovia Canyon, which will be under the supervision of city guards and all persons entering the canyon will be searched.

COVINA HIGH APOLOGIZES

Officials Deplore Incidents Which Caused Ousting of Colts from San Gabriel Valley League

COVINA, June 28.—Two years late, but necessary for reinstatement in the California Interscholastic Federation, Southern Section, Covina High School today extended a written apology to the schools of the San Gabriel Valley High School League in appreciation of the action taken on May 18, last, by the California Interscholastic Federation, which re-entered Covina High School in the league.

Covina has been playing an independent hand during the last two years following a heated row among valley schools over the decisions of a local umpire which were branded as unfair. Accusations that Covina athletes disobeyed the rules of the league for their own advantage caused the final break when the league took steps to oust the local high school.

DEMAND ACCEPTED

According to the dictates of the interscholastic federation, Covina must make an humble re-entry into the league with a note of apology, which has been complied with by Ben S. Millikan, principal, and members of the high-school board.

The letter of apology is as follows:

To the schools of the San Gabriel Valley School Athletic League:

The California Interscholastic Federation, Southern Section, at its annual meeting on May 18, 1929, placed the Covina High School in your league for athletic competition for the next school year.

The authorities of the Covina High School wish to publicly express regret that conditions arose two years ago that made it seem best for the California Interscholastic Federation to permit Covina High School to withdraw from the San Gabriel Valley League and compete in high-school athletics as a free lance.

REIMBURSEMENT OFFERED

For any indignity which may have been suffered by any other school in the league for which Covina High School was in any way responsible, the constituted authorities of the school hereby apologize and offer reimbursement for property damage done.

In returning to the league and resuming a regular status among the schools of the interscholastic federation, the Covina High School wishes to assure all parties concerned of a firm and whole-hearted purpose to abide by the spirit as well as the letter of all regulations laid down by the league and the federation for the control of interscholastic athletics, and furthermore promise to co-operate to the utmost of their ability with other school authorities of the league to prevent a recurrence of such conditions as made the prior suspension of Covina from the league necessary.

(Signed) Ben S. Millikan, principal, Covina High School; Board of trustees of Covina High School: F. J. Cline, president; Thomas B. Reed, clerk; J. W. Morgan, H. Allison and W. S. Sawyer.

Graduates Try Out New Idea

BELL, June 28.—Instead of having a visiting speaker, as do most graduating classes, the Bell High School graduates last night had four of their members give a short address. Marion Hanley spoke upon the subject, "Our Commencement;" George Brown, "A By-Product of Education;" Virgil Clarke, "The Tasks of Life," and Frances Harlow, "An Educated Democracy."

Miss Edith Knox, pianist, gave a musical program. The class was introduced by Claud L. Reeves, and the diplomas were presented by John B. Beman, president of the Board of Education. The exercises were given in the Huntington Park Union High School auditorium, as the auditorium at the school here was not large enough to take care of the eighty-five members of the class and their many relatives and friends.

"Street car service absolutely stops Sunday midnight. There will be no reconsideration. In a conference going on here between myself, F. R. Lewis, manager of the Edison Company, and G. A. Batchelder, the affairs of the company are so arranged that its physical properties can be kept intact under control of Santa Barbara people for purchase for local interests if such a plan can be financed," Heaney said.

New Tunnel to Unbottle Valley

VAN NUYS, June 28.—The contract for the building of the huge tunnel at the south end of Sepulveda Boulevard, under Mulholland High Way is to be awarded early next week, it is understood by advices received by Thomas B. Shannon, president of the Sepulveda Association, from Los Angeles city officials.

The contract, it is stated, will include the grading of Sepulveda Boulevard south of Ventura Boulevard to Burnham street, which is north of Wilshire Boulevard, a distance of about 28,000 feet. The County Supervisors recently passed a resolution ordering an appropriation of $275,000 from county funds for the grading, and the building of the tunnel. The city also will allocate a similar sum for its share in the project. The contract for the paving of the road will not be let until all grading work has been completed.

The project which has been in the process of planning for several years is of highest importance to San Fernando Valley, as the new road and tunnel, when completed, will virtually remove the Santa Monica mountain barrier on the south and will open the valley in direct route to the Hollywood, Beverly and beach districts.

SCENIC ROUTE OPEND TODAY

Roosevelt Highway Through Malibu Ready for Use

Gov. Young to Unlock Gate at Ventura Junction

Oxnard Sponsors Celebration After Line Ceremony

OXNARD, June 28. — Oxnard stands ready to play host tomorrow to thousands of Californians, including Gov. Young, Los Angeles and Ventura county officials, as well as stage and screen stars of note with an eighteen-hour program signaling to the world the completion of the new Roosevelt Highway link from Santa Monica to Oxnard. It has been called both the most scenic and most expensive highway improvement in the Southland in recent years.

A development, which highway officials have dreamed of for twenty years and, have had under construction for the past ten, is too big an asset to Ventura county in general and Oxnard in particular to be passed over casually, the local Chamber of Commerce feels. Consequently, a general celebration in which the entire county will take part has been arranged including the opening exercises of the road, a berbecue dinner at noon, speeches during the afternoon, a tour of the beaches, a Mardi Gras, a carnival and dance in the evening, culminating with a midnight show featuring many celebrities, has been worked out.

YOUNG TO TURN KEY

A huge arch at the Ventura county line on the new highway will be the scene of the first stop of the motor procession, headed by Gov. Young after leaving Santa Monica at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow. At this gate, the Governor will be presented with a huge key with which to unlock the gate, officially opening the last barrier in the highway. After appropriate ceremonies the parade will continue to the city, and visitors will participate in the old-time Spanish barbecue, which has been prepared for 2000 guests. A program of speaking at the local high-school grounds will follow, at which the Governor will make the principal address.

Among the highlights of the affair are the following:

Twelve-passenger airplane as well as the Goodyear dirigible Volunteer, will lead the procession up the coast highway from Santa Monica to Oxnard. The dirigible will be anchored over the football field at the high school grounds between trips in the afternoon.

ORIENTAL COLOR

In the Mardi Gras which starts at 7:30 p.m., there will be featured four bands, including one Chinese band and a Chinese orchestra. There will be more than 150 Chinese in costume as well as 125 members of a local Japanese association, all in costume and carrying lighted lanterns. Many other grotesque and colorful entries have entered the Mardi Gras. Fireworks, flares and noise-making devices will add to the glamour of the unique procession.

The local chamber has taken over the new Oxnard Theater where a special motion picture will be presented at the 7 and 9 o'clock performances. A midnight show will be given. All proceeds from these performances will go to the chamber to help defray expenses of the celebration.

STARS TO APPEAR

Among the stars who have assured friends here that they will participate in the midnight performances are the Duncan sisters, Edward Everett Horton, Miss Florence Roberts, Benny Reuben, Jack Clifford, Johnnie Hines, all noted stage and screen players, Gus Mack, Don Warner Ann Gray, Charles Beauchamp, Ray Baily and his little symphony orchestra, Jean Cowan, Royal Harmony Hawaiian Four, Sylvia and Al, all of Warner Brothers radio station KFWB, are to appear on the midnight show program through the courtesy of Hal M. Ayres, president of Radio Varieties of KFWB. Practically all of this talent is being donated for the occasion, as an assistance to Oxnard in staging its benefit performance.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED

REDONO BEACH, June 28.—Scholarship funds of the Redondo Union High School have received increases of $600 during the past few weeks as the result of a campaign sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association and other organizations. Further help has been promised by the Lions Club and the Rotarians, who made arrangements to adopt two students and see them through school.

SLAYER WEEPS ON ACQUITTAL

San Bernardino 'Wild Party' Prosecution Fails

Two Vote for Manslaughter But Finally Yield

Victim Clubbed and Stabbed After Liquor Party

SAN BERNARDINO, June 28.—After three days of deliberation a jury in Superior Judge Charles L. Allison's court this morning reached a verdict acquitting James V. Meador of the slaying of J. J. Hull which followed a "wild party" at Hull's home six weeks ago. The jury had retired at 3 p.m. Tuesday and throughout the sixty-eight hours of deliberation voted ten to two for acquittal on every ballot except the last when a unanimous ballot for acquittal was reached. Two of the jurors had insisted that Meador be convicted of manslaughter.

Meador, who lived at Hull's home, killed Hull by hitting him over the head with a rifle and by stabbing him a score of times with a butcher knife in a terrific struggle which occurred after Hull had acted as host to a party at which there were three girls and three men as guests. The argument developed during the party, Meador testified, when he intervened as Hull attempted to force two of the girls to drink liquor. The fight, however, did not occur until the guests had gone.

Meador fled in Hull's car and was arrested at Fresno a week after Hull's body had been found by a girl who had called at his home.

The State had contended that Meador had deliberately killed Hull to rob him but defense witnesses testified that Hull had frequently threatened other persons. Meador broke down and wept when he was acquitted.

Plans Made for Burbank Depot

BURBANK, June 28.—Plans and specifications for a new Southern Pacific station on the site of the present railroad freight and passenger building here were submitted to Building Inspector A. G. Bossuet this morning by Charles Mines, construction engineer of the railroad company. According to the application for a building permit the station will cost approximately $21,000.

A new station has been sought here for five years, and only recently, through the efforts of the City Manager and city Attorney, was the land obtained for the enlarged location. Plans call for a Spanish type building, 185x26 feet, which will combine the passenger station with the freight and baggage depots. The passenger waiting-room ticket office and rest rooms will be about 110 feet in length. There will be thirteen rooms in the building and a large canopied loading platform extending toward Palm avenue.

Freeman, vice-president; Sidney S. Welch, secretary-manager, and J. W. Venable and M. M. Wadell, directors.

TWO KILLED IN COLLISION

Woman May Join Husband and Daughter in Death; Crown City Banker Run Down and Killed

ONTARIO, June 28.—Two lives were snuffed out late last night and another may be added to the toll of an automobile and truck crash on Colton Road, east of here. The dead are Donato Rodriguez, 40 years of age, of Colton, and his small daughter, Ernestina.

Rodriguez's wife was near death at San Antonio Community Hospital late today. Mangled and crushed, Rodriguez and his daughter were rushed to the hospital following the crash, but both died within a few minutes. The mother has a severe skull fracture, interial injuries and lacerations.

Rodriguez was driving a light touring car which, it was said, was traveling on the wrong side of the highway and ran head-on into a heavy truck driven by W. S. Hallihan of Los Angeles. The girl was hurled far from the car and Rodriguez plunged through the windshield. N. R. Taylor, Los Angeles truck driver, said he had been forced from the highway by Rodriguez.

The lighter car was demolished and the heavy truck was turned crosswise of the highway from force of the collision.

PASADENA BANKER KILLED ON STREET

PASADENA, June 28. — An inquest to determine circumstances in the death of Van Winder Shields, trust counsellor for the First Trust and Savings Bank, who died last night after being struck by an automobile at the intersection of Colorado street and El Molino avenue, will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at Turner & Stevens mortuary.

Norman J. Cantley, 18-year-old Long Beach youth, who was driving the automobile, is being held by the police pending the outcome of the inquest. He asserted that he was following another machine and that Shields stepped suddenly into his path as he was about to pass the other car.

Detective Lieutenants Ben Kaighin and Stanley Decker, who investigated the accident, reported that Shields was walking in the safety zone when he was knocked to the pavement.

Shields was 37 years of age, and had resided here at 1218 Solita Road four years. He was graduated from the University of the South, Florida, and received his legal training at Washington and Lee University. Besides his widow, Mrs. Janet Phelan Shields, he leaves two children, William, 6, and Robert, 3 months of age.

SAN DIEGO, June 28. — Eugene P. Carver, Jr., commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, arrived here today to attend the ninth annual encampment of the California-Nevada departments which have been in session since Wednesday. Accompanying Carver, who is a member of Dilboy Post, No. 529, Boston, was Mrs. Carver, who is a leader in the auxiliary.

Gillett Turns in $2000 of County Funds

EL CENTRO, June 28. — Trial of Sheriff Charles L. Gillett, accused by the county grand jury of being $20,000 short in his returns to the County Treasury, will be resumed Monday morning after a two-day recess, Superior Judge A. C. Finney announced just before adjournment last night.

County Clerk Cal Mousseau today confirmed the report that Gillett recently turned over to the County Treasury approximately $2000, including certain bond and bail moneys which the Sheriff is accused in the indictments of having diverted to his personal use. His explanation in making the remittance to the county was that payment had been delayed through clerical error in his office, it was said. Dist.-Atty. C. G. Halliday, in commenting on the refund today, declared that it would have no bearing on the prosecution of the Sheriff. The money was not refunded until after criminal action had been started, Halliday said, and under such circumstances the Sheriff's action does not absolve him from responsibility under the law.

PLACENTIA, June 28.—Jack McMillan, 48 years of age, a one-legged oil field employee, is dead today because he did not recognize the finger of fate. While working about an oil rig here yesterday, McMillan was struck a glancing blow on the head by a piece of machinery falling from the top of a derrick. He was dazed but able to continue with his work after a few minutes.

Forty-five minutes later he was struck by a flying piece of heavy chain which broke under stress. This blow fractured his skull and caused other serious cranial injuries from which McMillan died two hours later at the Fullerton General Hospital.

PIPE CLEANING ORDERED

SANTA BARBARA, June 28.—Charles H. Johnson of Los Angeles yesterday was awarded contract for cleaning and caulking of the outfall sewer at a cost of $39,275. The only other bid submitted was that of the Merritt, Chapman and Scott Company, which was $200 more than the other figure. Engineer E. B. Brown recommended award to Johnson.

Fitts in Appeal to Endeavorers

SAN BERNARDINO, June 28.—Urging 5000 delegates to the California Christian Endeavor Union convention to teach the youth that "they can't get away with crime," Dist.-Atty. Fitts of Los Angeles county was the principal speaker at the convention last night. By education alone, he said, can crime be halted.

Dr. Ira Landrith of Chicago, international superintendent of the Christian Endeavor Union, will speak at tomorrow's session. A parade of 4000 young people "Crusaders for Christ," will move through the downtown district tomorrow as one of the big events of the forty-second annual State parley.

VAN NUYS TO VOTE ON CITY HALL BONDS

VAN NUYS, June 28.—No protests were offered at the hearing on the purchase for $36,500 of the proposed new city hall site at Sylvan street and Sylmar avenue, and bonds for the purpose will be voted on here on July 23. Los Angeles city already has appropriated $275,000 for the construction of the hall which is intended to serve and to keep the records of the entire San Fernando Valley annex of the metropolitan district. If the new city hall is built, the present branch city hall here will be used as headquarters for the valley branch of the Los Angeles fire department.

The other officers are Julius Hirschfelder, first vice-president; Fred Smith, second vice-president; Ed Franz, third vice-president; W. W. Bernhardt, secretary and treasurer; W. H. UNITY FOR WATER SOUGHT

Orange County Leaders Get Together at Meeting of Associated Chambers of Commerce

SAN CLEMENTE, June 28.—"Orange county needs water and needs it now," declared Ole Hanson last night in a plea for unity among sections of the county, delivered before the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, meeting here.

With this plea before them delegates to the dinner meeting voted to shelve their differences and set themselves seriously to the task of finding a satisfactory solution for the county's most pressing problem, water conservation.

The meeting opened with evidences of tenseness among the 150 persons assembled for the monthly session. Lew Wallace of Newport declared that his section had resented what he construed to be antagonism in northern Orange county to the harbor development, and that strong opposition had developed there to the county water program just defeated.

A resolution presented by L. F. Coburn of Orange asking the Board of County Supervisors to call another election on the water issue at the earliest possible moment was withdrawn and a motion was approved in its place calling for the appointment of a committee to represent every group affiliated with the associated chamber to work out a water conservation and flood-control plan.

The session brought forth a resolution asking the Supervisors to continue the flood-control engineering department at least until the committee has had an opportunity to study plans it has devised. Delegates also spoke commending Paul Bailey, county flood-control engineer.

"There's nothing wrong with the Board of County Supervisors, or with Paul Bailey," declared Jess Armitage of Sunset Beach. "The trouble was with their plan. Let's get another one that will be all right."

The next meeting of the group will be held at the harbor July 30, this being the first meeting under the new arrangement setting Tuesday as the session date.

MELON PATCHES RAINBOWED

Control of Shipments Changes Gloomy Outlook to Prospect for Highly Profitable Crop

EL CENTRO, June 28.—The threat of a disastrous melon season which confronted Imperial Valley growers early this season has disappeared and, with the crop two-thirds harvested, there is promise that it will prove to be one of the most profitable in the history of the cantaloupe industry, according to C. B. Moore, executive secretary of the Western Growers' Protective Association.

Moore stated that with 40,000 acres of melons in Imperial Valley this year and a backward shrink, it appeared a few weeks ago as though the melon crop would be an entire loss and a meeting of all growers and shippers was called, and a committee of eight men appointed to meet with Moore and try to plan some methods of saving the crop.

W. S. Fawcett of El Centro and E. L. Jack were to act with Moore as a clearinghouse association to handle shipments. Ninety-seven per cent of the entire valley signed up, according to Moore, and on the 16th inst., shipments were prorated to 400 cars a day. The psychological effect of restricted shipments, Moore said, has served to keep the market in a stable condition. The limiting of the output also has resulted in a better grade of melons.

Close supervision has been maintained throughout the season by County Horticultural Commissioner B. A. Harrigan and twenty-five field inspectors. Thousands of crates of cantaloupes have been turned down because they did not come up to the high standard maintained by Harrigan. As a result, the market has absorbed the 400 cars daily without any apparent weakening in the demand.

WHITTIER, June 28.—Annual election of officers of the division of American Association of University Women, the convention city for 1930, and the closing banquet with Henry Reinhart, president of Mills College, and Dr. Hoyt of the University of Ohio as the speakers were the outstanding features of the eighth annual convention held here today.

The State officers chosen are Mrs. Malbone Graham of Los Angeles, president; Mrs. Hugh Penland of San Francisco, vice-president; Miss Rosemary Button of Long Beach, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. E. Wilson, Ceres, recording secretary, and Miss Martha Prost of San Diego, treasurer.

Santa Barbara was chosen as the convention city for next year for the Pacific-Southwest and the State assembly, the latter part of June.

Mrs. Graham, the new president, spoke with enthusiasm of the $1,000,000 fellowship fund which the national organization has pledged itself to raise. California's quota has been placed at $40,000; of that amount $7000 has already been pledged. The fund is to be used for foreign fellowships.

The great question as to whether one who spits left-handed can beat a right-handed spitter was decided once and for all out at Wrigley Field yesterday. And Mr. Harry Krause, who spits from the left side of his mouth, proved that his method is more effective than right-handed spitting. Mr. Frank Shellenback upholding this side of the great scientific argument.

Inasmuch as Mr. Krause does his spitting for Kilefer's Missions, the league-leading Reds walked off with the decision over the Holly-wood Stars, 3 to 2, but not after twelve exciting innings that surely taxed the output of both hurlers' salivary glands.

Mr. Krause's great expectorating powers enabled the Missions to make it straight from the Stars, and tied the Reds' lead to a fraction less than five games over the Seals. In fact, it now appears apparent that the Coast league will now decide to remain, because of the Missions' paltry margin, which is sapping interest from the race, if Mr. Krause's performance yesterday had its share in bringing the moguls' decision, so it can not be amiss to call it the game instead of the split

'Wildcat' Wins Every Round and Takes Decision

Crowd of 8000 Pays $25,000 to See Slow Bout

Ring Showered With Papers by Disappointed Fans

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "wildcat," won the decision from Charley Belanger of Canada, after ten rounds of slow fighting at Dreamland Auditorium tonight. The Nebraskan won and outfought his opponent all the way. Hudkins weighed 161½ and Belanger 171 3-4.

A capacity crowd of more than 8000 persons, accounting for a gate of around $25,000, saw a bout so disappointing that the ring was showered with papers and programs in many of the rounds.

Hudkins forced the fight, driving the Canadian around the ring steadily, but neither landed many effective blows.

The bout started slowly but speeded up in the third round when Belanger traded punches in a short rally. Hudkins came back, however, to chase him around the ring and finished the session out in front.

The fourth round was devoid of any thrill and the fans booed lustily. Hudkins showed the most aggressiveness and winged punches to Belanger's body. Shortly after the fifth round opened, Hudkins's left eye was cut with a choppy

California Veteran Eliminates Best English Player as Two Helens Advance; Hennessey Loses

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 28. (AP)—America's women tennis players stepped into the breach today and saved the United States from an almost utter rout in the English championships on the Wimbledon courts.

In the elimination of Johnny Hennessey and Wilmer Allison, United States Davis Cup players, by Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, Uncle Sam's forces were given a taste of what might be expected if they hook up with France in the final Davis Cup round. With the win of P. Landry, the French are assured of three of the eight players in the quarter-final round.

But the two Helens from California—Wills and Jacobs—and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, did the same thing for America in the women's section. All three qualified for the quarter-final round. The California girls won with comparative ease with Mrs. Bundy turning in the sensational upset victory of the day in the downing of Miss Eileen Bennett, English Wightman Cup player.

Rising above the setbacks handed America's men racquet wielders was the old war horse, "Big Bill" Tilden, seeking his third Wimbledon title. Tilden, by beating Christian Bousssus of France, 6-3, 9-7, 6-4, became the only American to qualify among the last eight today. George Lott, Davis Cup youngster, still has a chance of gaining a berth by winning from Koseluh tomorrow.

Statz Gets Six for Six as Angels Rout Jacobs

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—The Angels gave the Seals a fearful mauling today, beating them, 18 to 5. They knocked Elmer Jacobs out of the box in the sixth inning and they did the same to Deacon Jones, who succeeded him. Then Val Glynn went to work and he was hit quite freely. Jacobs had one man out when he retired and Jones was able to get only one man out before he was lifted. The Angels made eight hits and scored eight runs in the sixth and wrecked the game from a local standpoint.

Arnold Statz had been benched because he was not hitting. He got a chance to play today and all he did was to whack out six hits in six times at bat. That is the second time this year that has been done here. Rollings of the Hollywood club got six for six here a few weeks ago.

Walsh had no trouble taming the Seals. For seven innings he allowed only two hits and Jolley got BROOKLINE (Mass.) June 28. The East-West net clash of the Marjories was a one-sided affair as Miss Gladman completely outplayed the Radcliffe girl in both sets. Miss Gladman won her second intercollegiate title later in the day when she paired with Miss Josephine Cruickshank, of the University of California, and defeated a Smith College team composed of Miss Polly Palfrey and Miss Fanny Curtis, 6-3, 6-1, in the final doubles play.

PLAN EXPECTED TO BE ADOPTED

San Francisco is Scene of Coast Loop Confab

Awarding of Bonus is Only Hitch in Details

All But Oakland Thought to Favor Split Season

The split-season plan, which has been the cause of so much controversy ever since Red Killefer's Missions jumped out into such a lengthy lead this year, is expected to be adopted by the Pacific Coast League magnates when they gather in San Francisco next Monday for a meeting called yesterday by President Harry A. Williams.

Because both local clubs, Sacramento, Portland and Seattle have lost all interest in the race, the magnates will probably vote to adopt the split season to revive attendance in these four cities.

If the split season is adopted, which it apparently will be, the second half of the race will start next Tuesday. By winning yesterday's game, the Missions increased their lead to five games over the Seals and thereby cinched the first half of the pennant. Only three more games remain in the first half of play so the Seals are mathematically out of the running.

The only hitch in the split-season plan now is whether or not a bonus will be put up for the winning team or teams to divide. Last year the league voted a $20,000 bonus, which was split by the Seals and Sacramento Senators, who each won a half and figured in the playoff.

STORM SHATTERS TITLE HOPES OVER WINGED FOOT

Bobby Jones Drops Back Into Tie for Third Place; Farrell Fails to Qualify by Eight Strokes

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

WINGED FOOT CLUB (Mamaroneck, N. Y.) June 28. (AP)—A terrific storm that at times bore every resemblance to a cloudburst struck the national open golf championship today, scattered title hopes all over the place and helped remove the famous Atlanta amateur, Bobby Jones, from the leadership as the field would up the first half of the spectacular 72-hole championship battle.

Early in the morning, before the stormy gale gathered full headway and broke over the bunkered battleground, stocky Gene Sarazen of New York, champion in 1922, and equally sturdy Al Espinosa, Spanish star from Chicago, shot out in front, deadlocked with totals of 142 each for thirty-six holes that withstood attacks throughout the day and throughout the disastrous downpour.

Sarazen, supremely confident and putting in sensational fashion, duplicated his first day's score of 71, Espinosa, a few minutes later added a par 72 to his 70 of the opening day to create a deadlock that Bobby Jones failed to break after a gallant effort under conditions considered unprecedented for open championship competition.

Followed by the greatest and also the most thoroughly soaked gallery of the day, Jones started with the storm, fought the gale and rain with dramatic brilliance but finally fin-

LOCAL ATHLETES TREK EAST

BY BRAVEN DYER

Los Angeles is sending some of the finest track and field athletes in the world east these days. Yesterday four youngsters left for the Junior Olympic Games finals at Atlantic City. Today the Los Angeles Athletic Club sends a team of thirty-two performers to the national A.A.U. meet at Denver.

You couldn't ask for finer boys than Vane Baker, Jerry Deal, Fernando Ramos and Robert San Jose, the kids who carry Southern California's hopes in the Junior Olympics. Vane is the most remarkable young athlete ever turned out here. His record of 758 points is so far ahead of anything done in the junior division that it fairly takes your breath away. Some idea of his athletic ability is gained when one notes that on successive Saturdays he chinned himself 41 and 42 times. Try that stunt at home some time and see had far you get. Vane is only 13 years of age and will make a big hit back east. Here's hoping his extreme youth does not hurt his chances in the nationals.

Deal is an old-timer at the racket, a typical American boy of 15. He was Southern California junior champion last year. This time Baker beat Jerry out for top honors. Deal is consistent and it would not be surprising to see him win back east, especially as he has the experience and age which Baker lacks.

Ramos is an alert, fighting Mexican boy who may develop into one of Southern California's finest sprinters in the days to come. He is also a fine broad jumper, having done 9ft. 4in. from a standing start.

San Jose was born in the Philippines and spent much of his youth in Honolulu. He is probably the most consistent performer of the four and may bob up with the senior championship.

The boys are in good hands

MERCURIES DEPART TONIGHT

Strong Track Team Will Invade Denver to Defend National Cinder Championship

BY RALPH HUSTON

Bound for the heights of America, as well as those of the American track world, the Los Angeles Athletic Club track-and-field team departs on the Union Pacific at 6:05 tonight for Denver, where the athletes will defend their A.A.U. national championship. The meet is scheduled for July 3, 4 and 5.

The thirty-two athletes who leave tonight will be joined in Denver by three others. Mercury officials who are accompanying the teams include Coaches Dean Cromwell and Tommy Davis; Leslie A. Henry, national track and field chairman of the A.A.U.; Charley Keppen, athletic director of the club, and Hugh Pinney, manager extraordinary of the team.

No less than twenty-one of the performers are juniors, who will compete in their particular events Thursday, and then will be reinforced by the seniors for the regular championship meet on Friday. Relay events are scheduled for Saturday.

Last year at Boston, the A.A.U. finals and the last tryouts for the Olympic team were scheduled simultaneously. The Mercuries won with something like forty-three points, and placed a majority of the men on the Olympic squad. There are no Olympic honors in prospect at Denver, but the Mercuries are hopeful of retaining their hard-won title. Major competition will be furnished by the Olympic Club of San Francisco, the Illinois A. C. and the New York A. C.

TWO FEATURES

The Mercuries are furnishing two of the main features. One will be the battle for sprinting supremacy between Frank Wykoff, the Glendale flyer, and George Simpson, the Ohio State speedster who was timed in 9.4 in the N.C.A. meet at Chicago. The second is the return to the lists of Sir Charles Willyum Paddock, who couldn't withstand the call of the cinders and came out of retirement just in time to file his entry for the century and furlong.

In all possibilities, Paddock won't do much, but the old war horse is still enough of a sprinter to command the attention of every track fan in America in his attempt to beat Wykoff, Simpson, Toland Bracey, et al.

As is a usual habit with western track teams, the Mercury strength is concentrated in the field events. In the shot will be Herman Brix, who has been constantly threatening world's records with every toss; John Kuck, the Kansas man-

STRONG WINS IN FIRST OVER COLIMA ON FOUL

Bert Colima brought last night's Hollywood Legion Stadium main event to an unsatisfactory and early ending in the first round by fouling Everett Strong, hard-socking middleweight.

The battlers had been boxing but one minute and thirty seconds when the Mexican scrapper sent in a right-hander that landed low on Strong. Strong started sagging to the floor, but was caught and helped to his corner by Referee Bob White. After a brief examination, Strong's hand was raised.

Up until the time of the low blow there was little to choose between the fighters, who had not warmed up to any real action.

Billy Uvick, manager of Strong, contended that Colima purposely fouled Strong to save himself punishment. Uvick declared that the last time the pair met in San Diego Colima won on a foul in the fifth round, but that the blow which was called a foul was a legitimate punch in the stomach. Rather than take any chance of being stopped, Strong's manager asserted, Colima took the easy way out.

The six-round semi-wind-up, however, furnished the customers with plenty of excitement. Harold Matthews, a featherweight from Nebraska, making his local debut by gaining the decision over Clayton Gouyd, Hollywood favorite. Matthews, after a bad start, threw plenty of gloves in the last three rounds to merit the verdict. Gouyd did a lot of swinging in the first

Martin Battles Oakley Today in Thirty-six Hole Finals for Pasadena Golf

GAINES BEATEN BY CALIFORNIAN

Loses Semifinal Match by 3 and 2 Tally

Brookside Golfer Wins Over Eichelberger, 1 Up

Rancho's Mixed Foursomes Scheduled Today

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Dave Martin of the California Country Club and Bud Oakley of the Brookside Municipal Golf Links will battle in the thirty-six-hold finals of the first annual Pasadena city championship over the latter's course today.

DAVE MARTIN.

In the semi-finals played yesterday, Martin won from Jack Gaines of Girard, 3 and 2, while Oakley staged a surprise by defeating Harry Eichelberger, Jr., Southern California junior champion, 1 up.

Martin and Oakley are scheduled to tee off at 9:30 a.m. for their first eighteen holes, and again at 13:45 in the afternoon.

In the Brookside flight, W. S. Goodrich defeated J. L. Bohannan, 1 up, and today meets Emile J. Lavigne in the finals. Lavigne won his semi-final match from F. J. Mazur, 2 and 1.

Claude Selt and Alex Smith battle in the finals of the Pasadena flight. Selt yesterday defeated A. P. Blackstone, 4 and 3, while Smith won from E. E. Thomas, 3 and 2.

The eighteen-hole consolation round was won by Aubrey Devine, University of Southern California football mentor, who shot a 71-8-63. Paul Willis, 76-8-68, and Bill West, 76-8-68, tied for low net. They will play off today for the silverwares.

MIXED FOURSOMES AT RANCHO CLUB TODAY

Rancho's mixed foursome tourney is scheduled for today, and Leon Keller yesterday announced that a new record for entries is expected. The only trouble seems to be a dearth of fair stars, and Keller announced that partners will be provided for all feminine golfers who are to play in the event.

The golfing program will be augmented by a supper dance in the evening and a bridge contest in the afternoon.

COLIMA LOSES FIGHT ON FOUL

three frames, but most of his punches were open-glove smacks that made a lot of noise but didn't do any damage. Matthews's style proved popular with the fans, the newcomer exhibiting a good left hand and an ability to punch straight from the shoulder.

Bert Sampson and Ole Nashlem went six rounds to a draw in the six-round special event. It was a poor bout, with Sampson being the better boxer and having what edge there was. Nashlem, a wild-swinging welter, had the fans with him, though, and their rooting evidently influenced the referee to call it a draw.

Pete Mossman, a middleweight billed as the champion horseshoe pitcher of Iowa, and Eddie Bertram went four rounds to another draw. Mossman has one of the most awkward styles ever put on display in these parts and for the most part fanned the air with a lot of wild swings. Mossman tried for ringers, but only got a few leaners. There was a lot of comedy to it, however.

In the curtain raiser Jimmy O'Neill was given an undeserved decision over Robert Pancho. Pancho really won the slugfest, but Referee Jolly raised O'Neill's mitt.

HUDKINS VICTOR OVER BELANGER

right. The Nebraskan let loose a volley of punches that drove the Canadian back, but they finished the round mauling in midring.

Hudkins came out in the sixth and speeding up, chased Belanger around the arena, trading a few punches to the head. Belanger showed better in the seventh and eighth by boxing the Nebraskan, but took a belting to the body in exchange. Belanger landed a stiff right to Hudkins's jaw in the eighth, it being his best punch of the fight.

The ninth and tenth rounds were faster with Hudkins swinging from all angles and Belanger stepping in to land several effective short blows.

PURSE HELD UP ON SCRAPPERS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—The purse of the Ace Hudkins-Charley Belanger fight, amounting to around $30,000, was held up tonight by Joe Genahlea of Sacramento, secretary of the State Boxing Commission. Genahlea acted under orders from Chairman William Hanlon, who telephoned instructions from Sacramento.

Genahlea announced an investigation would be held, probably next Tuesday when the commission meets here. The secretary said his orders from Hanlon were that if the bout looked bad to hold up the money.

BUNDREN BEATS MOORE

SAN DIEGO, June 28. (AP)—Herman Bundren, San Francisco middleweight, easily won over Tom Moore, Los Angeles, in a ten-round bout here tonight. Bundren won every round with Moore absorbing terrific punishment.

Smith Shaves Backswing

BY SOL METZGER

Horton Smith was the boy wonder of golf on May 21 when he established a world's competitive record in the French open by playing two rounds in sixty-six strokes each. Next day Horton became 21 years old. Today at Winged-Foot he'll bear watching. No contender has a stronger heart for a whirlwind finish whether leading or trailing.

Smith's game is self-made, the result of much reflection and practice. He is radically different from the pack of pros scrambling for honors today in the shortness of his backswing. You have to hand it to him here for a splendid adaptation of method to his own physique.

Horton is some inches over six feet. He could get a far greater arc to his swing by throwing his arms up and around his shoulders. But he has resisted that temptation. Instead, his backswing limit is his straight left arm. As it's a long arm with a big hand at the end Horton can slap his clubhead through the ball with tremendous acceleration and still keep the line. That's his secret for winning. Why not apply direction to your own game in place of attempted distance that lends from the fairway?

Putting is half the game. Sol Metzger has prepared a fine leaflet on Putting, which he will send free to any reader sending stamped, addressed envelope. Address The Times.

SPEED DRIVERS CLASH TONIGHT

Dirt-Track Stars Tangle in Ascot Program

Night auto racing will get its second presentation tonight at the American Legion Speedway when close to thirty drivers, dirt-track stars of the A.A.A., face the flag of Starter Fred Wagner in the qualifying heats. Out of this number twenty will compete in the six big races on the program. The events include the three sprints, consolation race, Legion sweepstakes and main event of fifteen miles.

Francis Quinn, driving the hydroplane-motored Miller special, will enter tonight's event as the favorite. Other stars who are behind the wheels of fast mounts are Mel Kenealy, Nick Martino, "Speed" Hinkley, Jimmy Sharp and "Red" Heisler.

Quinn is piloting the 151-cubic-inch job that Art Hines drove in the last meeting. It is a fast car and the speed of the machine, along with Quinn's driving ability, has installed him as a favorite.

Nick Martino, the Italian, will have the backing of the Italian colony tonight. In his Rajo special Martino passed Quinn on the curve in the last lap two weeks ago to garner main-event prize money. It was one of the most thrilling finishes on record here and established Martino as favorite.

Kenealy is the driver who "cleaned up" at San Jose last Sunday. The eccentric Mel is leading with 136 points for the Southwestern A.A.A. dirt-track championship for 1929. Jimmy Sharp ranks next with 97 points. "Speed" Hinkley and "Red" Heisler are some "reliables" who are always likely to upset predictions and beat out the favorites.

The races will start at 8:30 tonight with the qualifying heats, starting at 7:15.

The Legion oval will be flooded with the lights in use at the last races. The illumination comes from thirty-five lights of 12,000 candlepower, hoisted on the ends of poles sixty-five feet high. Cars are plainly visible at any portion of the track.

A.A.A. STANDINGS OF DRIVERS ANNOUNCED

Standings to and including the 1st inst., in the competition for this year's auto racing championship of the Pacific-Southwest, have just been released by A. C. Pillsbury, local representative of the American Automobile Association. To the winner of the championship this year will go the Simplex Piston Ring Trophy, while the driver who finishes second will receive a handsome stop watch from the A.A.A.

Two events since the 1st inst. have slightly altered the standings, while another A.A.A. event tonight, and the annual July 4 dirt track program at the Banning American Legion stadium will add changes.

SAN CLEMENTE RACE ON TODAY

Fourteen Yachts Entered in Ocean Classic

Diablo Rules Favorite to Repeat Again

Southland Skippers Hoist Canvas at Harbor

BY FRANK ROCHE

Fourteen trim looking "sea ghosts" representing the pick of Southern California's yachting forces will hoist canvas today at high noon and head out of the local harbor on the first leg of the seventh annual San Clemente Island race. The fleet which will face the starter's gun today is by far the most formidable aggregation of schooners, yawls and sloops that has started in the San Clemente race since its inception.

W. W. Peddler's Diablo is again favored to win this yachting classic. The Diablo is the queen bee of the fleet the old sea dogs contend. Despite the fact that most of sailing experts pick the Diablo to repeat her victory the sloop Talayha, which belongs to Lassard H. Lippman may upset all the dope and romp home in front.

The Talayha, sailing history shows, was at one time America's cup defender. Originally designed by Francis Herreshoff she sailed to many triumphs as the Athene. She was renamed Talayha when Lippman became her owner.

Owen Churchill's Babe, winner of the King of Spain trophy last March during the midwinter regatta, is another entry in the race that may come through with flying colors if the going is a bit heavy, some of the yachting experts point out. The Babe usually has a frolic when the seas get unruly.

Santa Barbara yachting circles will be represented in the race by the Talayha. California Yacht Club has the largest number of entries in the sea battle. Newport Harbor, Catalina Island and Los Angeles are also well represented.

The race will be conducted over a triangular course of about ninety-five miles. There will be no handicaps allowed any of the starters.

The entries:

Boat—	Owner—
Diablo	W. W. Peddler
Thoroughbred	Mat Walsh
Westwood	Syl Spalding
Jubilo	T. Dickson
Babe	Owen Churchill
Blindfold	Dean Radford
Wanderlure II	Charles Martin II
Enchantress	Morgan Adams
Invader	Dan Lee
Ocean Waif	Smith & Anderson
Monsoon	Don Ayres
Wilelia	Phil Watson
Panderra	J. H. Rohl
Talayha	Lassard Lippman

TENNIS CHAMP QUITS TOURNEY

of Pittsburgh, 11-9, 6-4, 6-4, in a semifinal match today.

Shortly after the Mangin-Jacobs match got under way it began to rain, and the match was halted when the score was four-all. When the players reached the clubhouse the rain fell in torrents. It was then that Seligson asked the referee if it would be all right for him to go to Philadelphia.

Mr. Beard answered that "no matches will be called off until 5 o'clock, when I believe the sun will be shining. We will play if we have to wait until 8 o'clock."

Convinced, apparently, that the rain would not cease for several hours, Seligson disappeared.

The Mangin-Jacobs match was resumed at 4:15 and concluded half an hour later. The officials waited until 5 o'clock and then Referee Beard announced his decision, after conferring with R. Norris Williams and William Breck.

Seligson returned to the clubhouse shortly after 7 o'clock.

"The way it was raining, I didn't think there would be any chance of playing," he added. "I do not intend to make an appeal, although I believe I have been dealt an injustice."

"I think I was right in defaulting Seligson," Beard said, "it was his duty to remain at the clubhouse as the other remaining players did.

"I recall that F. B. Alexander, a former Princeton tennis captain, was defaulted in a semifinal match in the national championships several years ago because he was ten minutes late."

The semifinal matches in the doubles were postponed until tomorrow, when the final also will be played.

Iowans Win Golf Honors

FIELD CLUB (Omaha, Neb.) June 28. (AP)—Bud Maytag, huge Newton (Iowa) manufacturer, and Bob McCrary, fiery little Scotsman from Des Moines, made the twenty-ninth trans-Mississippi golf championship an all-Iowa affair today by romping into the finals. McCrary, the upset genius of the entire week's play, drove into the final round by sandbagging Nathan Grimes, Denver medalist, 10 and 9, while Maytag almost matched his one-sided triumph by eliminating Larry Moller, youthful Quincy (Ill.) shot maker, 8 and 7.

BOUND FOR ATLANTIC CITY

Photo shows, from top to bottom, Fernando Ramos, Robert San Jose, Jerry Deal and Vane Baker, as they looked when they departed last night for the Junior Olympic Games finals at Atlantic City. The four boys go into action July 8 for the national championships.

LOCAL ATHLETES TREK EAST

on their trip to Atlantic City. Arthur Dietz, coach of San Jose and Deal; "Pop" Squire, who mentors Baker, and John F. Ness, member of the Junior Olympic executive committee are in the party.

As for the Mercuries they have a chance of winning the national A.A.U. championships, but too much should not be expected of them. The New York and Illinois A.C. are sending powerful teams to Denver and the battle will be between these three clubs.

From an L.A.A.C. standpoint much depends on what Frank Wykoff does in the 100-yard dash. The Mercuries are not likely to win many points on the track—in fact, outside of Wykoff in the century, Cliff Halstead in the mile, Harry Chacos in the six-mile and Ken Grumbles in the low hurdles the L.A.A.C. hasn't much to write home about. Competition is awfully keen at this time of the year and the L.A.A.C. hasn't the strength on the track that it should.

In the field things are different, although the absence of Bud Houser and the threatened loss of Eddie Meeller may hurt more than one suspects.

Herman Brix and John Kuck should place one-two in the shot, provided Kuck is in shape and Harlow Rothert stays at home as he has threatened to do. If Rothert goes he may now out Kuck, who was recently married and who has been busy with farming chores when he should be training—that is if he takes his shot putting seriously.

The javelin appears to be the L.A.A.C.'s second strongest field event, what with Jim DeMers, Jess Mortensen and Tom Yancey. DeMers, however, is an in-and-outer, capable of 220ft. but liable to fall back to 195ft. Mortenson should do right around 200ft., while Yancey, if his experience doesn't bother him, will hit 190ft.

If Fred Sturdy shows, as advertised, in the pole vault for the Mercuries, this will help plenty. He and Jack Williams should clean up eight or ten points here. Sturdy is the Yale star whose home is in Los Angeles.

Henry Lamalette and Bob Van Osdel may do something in the high-jump. Each has cleared 6ft. 4in., but both lack experience.

Many of these athletes are juniors and they perform in the junior meet on July 3. L.A.A.C. should win this meet rather handily. However, the senior squad is counting rather heavily on some of these boys for points the following day and it may be that they will be unable to reach the heights two days in succession.

Aycock and Yale Victors

DEAL (N. J.) June 28. (AP)—Tommy Aycock, a frail 22-year-old youth from Jacksonville, Fla., and Yale, won the national intercollegiate golf championship today in one of the most erratic matches that ever decided an important battle.

Their nerves frayed by four days of play in which they had survived all encounters and came down to an all-Yale final the bespectacled Aycock and his rangy captain, Marshall Forrest of Lowell, Mass., missed putts and approaches all over the place until Aycock finally won by a margin of 5 up and 4 to play.

Whatever the reason, Forrest played golf that would have failed to qualify for match play if it had been produced in medal rounds earlier in the week. For the thirty-two holes it took to end the match, he totaled twenty-three strokes over par, visiting nearly every trap in this tricky layout and missing the easiest of putts.

LEE FOHL BECOMES SCOUT

DES MOINES, June 28. (AP)—Lee Fohl, manager of the Des Moines baseball club of the Western League, has resigned to become a scout for the Minneapolis American Association team. Claude Davenport, pitcher, today was appointed his successor by E. L. Keyser, club president.

Jackie Fields Kayoes Cooper in First Round

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Jackie Fields, Los Angeles welterweight, tonight erased Farmer Joe Cooper of Terre Haute, Ind., from the list of contenders in the 145-pound division by knocking the Hoosier out in the first round of a ten-round bout at Mills Stadium.

Fields, recognized by the National Boxing Association as welterweight champion, caught Cooper with two left hooks about the middle of the first session, and the Terre Haute boxer went down without delay and was counted out.

Stratford in Net Triumph

DEL MONTE (Cal.) June 28. (AP) Gerald Stratford, San Francisco, won his way to the quarterfinals of the Del Monte tennis championship singles today by defeating Jack Cosgrove, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-4, in the fourth round. Stratford will meet Harry Plymire tomorrow.

Ed Levy of San Francisco won a fourth-round victory over Walter Honsberger, Berkeley, 6-4, 7-5. Levy will meet Wallace Bates tomorrow. Muhleisen will meet Murio and Seiler will play Wheatley.

SAN DIEGO YOUNGSTERS IN JUNIOR OLYMPIC FINALS TODAY

SAN DIEGO, June 28.—"Look at that kid chin himself." "How does he do it?" and similar phrases will be much in prominence tomorrow when the third annual San Diego championship meet of the Junior Olympic Games is held here in the stadium.

Since the qualifying meets finished two weeks ago the thirty youngsters who will form the competition this afternoon have been working to perfect their efforts in such a way that unbelievable scores should result. The San Diego county boys have chalked up scores in their semifinal meets that have surpassed any made by any locality in the nation with the exception of Los Angeles, who is slated to battle the locals for the national titles.

SARAZEN, ESPINOSA TIE

Cop Lead in National Open Championship With Scores of 142; Bobby Jones Third

ished his second round with 75, three over par.

A bad 6 on the seventeenth hole just when it appeared his rally would at least carry him into a tie with the pace-setters, forced Jones to forfeit the advantage gained by his remarkable 69 yesterday, and with a total of 144, drop back into a tie for third place with 24-year-old Densmore Shute of Columbus, O., the "dark horse" of the narrowed group now remaining in the fight for America's greatest golfing honors. Shute added a fine 71 today to his opening 72.

The net results of as hectic a day as the national open has ever known served to reduce the array of contenders to no more than about eight stars, remove the 1928 champion, Johnny Farrell, from further competition altogether with a shocking total of 167 for thirty-six holes, and likewise dispose of the slight remaining title chances of Walter Hagen, the British open king, and Horton Smith, the sensation of the winter season and holder of the open French crown. Hagen adding 81 to his 76 of yesterday totaled 157 to be fifteen strokes back of the leaders, while Smith, attaching a 77 to his first round of 76, was at 153 and out of the running.

With the field reduced to some sixty-five competitors out of the original entry of 132 for the final double-barreled chase of thirty-six holes tomorrow, the main fight centers among the twin leaders, Espinosa and Sarazen, along with the next pair, Shute and Jones. Should any of these four slip off the pace, Tommy Armour, who added a brilliant 71 late today to his 74 of yesterday for 145, may be ready to step into the breach.

DIEGEL THREAT

Six strokes behind, but nevertheless threatening, are Leo Diegel, 74-74—148, and Leonard Schmutte of Lima, O., with 73-75—148 in eighth place. Another stroke away loomed the blond amateur ace, George Von Elm of Detroit, who shot himself back into the picture with a sensational 70, two under par and a thirty-six hole total of 149. Von Elm's round, the best of the entire day, was scored with the last nine holes.

The main drama of the day centered about the stalwart figure of Bobby Jones, not only because the Georgian attracted fully two-thirds of the entire gallery, but because he furnished the fireworks of a desperate, even though losing, fight against par and the elements to retain the lead.

The storm began as Jones drove off, gained its full fury on the fifth, where a costly 6 spotted his card, and lasted until the twelfth hole, as a soaked, dishevelled gallery sloshed through the mud and water to this three-cornered struggle involving Jones, old man par and the weather.

After trouble in the traps on the first few holes, Jones hooked a tee shot from the fifth that struck a spectator and bounded back on the fairway. This was a favorable "break" in the midst of a torrential downpour, but Bobby, in too much of a hurry to use his brassie before the handle of the club became too slippery, flubbed the shot completely. It bounded off at a tangent, just missed a group of spectators and came to rest fifty yards away in the rough. Under the circumstances, two more shots to reach the flooded green and two putts represented a fine recovery and from there on, Jones settled down to fight all opposition to a standstill.

Streams of water, often several feet wide, coursed down the greens. Big pools collected on the fairways to make the footing treacherous, yet under such extraordinary circumstances, Jones made the last four holes of the outward nine in par, reached the turn in 38, two over par, and had the "old man" licked on the homeward nine, until he struck the seventeenth.

PERFECT GOLF

After trouble in a trap on the tenth Jones played five straight holes as perfectly as he has ever done. He got birdies on the 457-yard twelfth and 376-yard fourteenth, barely missing putts for two others. Needing only two par fours on the last two holes for a 73 that would tie the leaders, Bobby hooked his tee shot on the seventeenth. It landed in deep rough and his next shot was far short of the green. He was just on the edge in three and then took three putts to lose the advantage he had gained by such brilliant work. On the home hole, he was forced to chip from a knoll bordering the green and sink a six-footer to get his par 4 and tie Shute.

Sarazen blazed the day's trail with as sane an exhibition of the short game—chip shots and putts—as the tournament has witnessed. Frequently off the line from the tee and with his second shots, genial Gene made up for these lapses by sensational work around the greens. He only took eleven putts on the last nine holes altogether, putting six of the last seven and finishing with a twenty-five-footer on the home hole for the birdie 3 that gave him his second 71 in as many days.

Sarazen's only really poor work came on the eighth where he missed a three-foot putt after approaching weakly; on the tenth, where he missed the green and chipped all the way across it with his second, and on the seventeenth, where he was short with his second shot, as well as his chip and approach putt, finally taking a 5, 1 over par.

On the other hand, he holed a four-footer for a deuce on the seventh, a putt of twenty feet for another 2 on the 213-yard thirteenth and a putt of eight feet for a birdie 3 on the fifteenth. The deadlines of his chip shots made other putts look easy.

ESPINOSA FALTERS

Espinosa was three strokes ahead of Sarazen after the first twelve holes. He started the day one to the good, picked up one as he went out in 35 and another with a birdie 4 on the twelfth, but this margin was wiped out entirely by an atrocious 5 on the short thirteenth. There the Chicago veteran was just short of the green from the tee, approached weakly and then took three putts. This 5 cost him his chance to go out into the lead, for over the last five holes he and Sarazen played each other to a standstill otherwise, Espinosa's putting was spectacular, starting with a forty-footer for a birdie 3 on the first hole, another of twenty feet for a birdie on the sixth, as well as good-sized putts for birdies on the twelfth and sixteenth.

Densmore Shute, the 24-year-old Columbus (O.) district star, who has been in professional ranks only two years, duplicated Sarazen's 71 and boosted himself toward the top with a thirty-six-hole total of 144. Shute gave a fine all around exhibition.

Under conditions over the last nine holes equally as hazardous and nerve-racking as Jones encountered, George Von Elm shot 35-35—70. The blond Detroit star, but for slips in two of the last few holes, might have equaled Jones's 69, if not beaten it. Using a mid-iron on the water-logged sixteenth green, Von Elm took three putts to get down in 5 and on the eighteenth he missed his second shot for the green to take another 5, one over par.

Tommy Armour, 1927 champion, back in the running with a fine 71, said: "I might well have been 65 or 66. Seven times I sent my approaches right on the pin, in reaching distance, and missed every one of the putts."

With 150 the limit for those remaining in tomorrow's finals, the casualties, headed by the old champion, Johnny Farrell, also included Roland Hancock of Wilmington, N. C.; Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston, the St. Paul amateur; Ed Dudley of the Ryder Cup team, and Jock Hutchison, former British open champion. Hancock and Johnston each missed the select list by a stroke with 150. Dudley and Hutchison had 151 apiece. Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., runner-up to Jones in 1926, passed out with 152. Jack Cummings, Cleveland amateur, removed himself with an 80 and total of 153 after a fine starting 74.

Clouting Teuton Delayed With Stage Offers

Dempsey to Start Training for Future Bouts

Dick Daniels with a hundred chain of sixty-three yesterday became an official challenger of Max Schmeling. The Dane's manager, Mike Collins, filed an official challenge with the New York State Commission in behalf of Daniels.

The flickering out of Paulino Uzcudun at the hands of the German places the job of picking the next heavyweight champion up to the younger generation to which Schmeling, Otto Von Porat and Daniels belong.

The action of Collins in filing a challenge for Daniels may not get definite results in the near future, but it shows his confidence in the 19-year-old Dane who boxes Yale Okun, ranked Jewish New York heavyweight, Tuesday night.

Collins thinks Daniels will defeat Okun, although it has never been done before. The Olympic star will afford a connecting link for comparison, however, with ranking heavies.

Okun has fought Leo Lomski, Tommy Loughran, Ernie Schaaf, Jack Sekyra, Chuck Wiggins, Matt Adkins, Phil Scott and others. Although Okun has scored his share of knockouts he is not a one-punch puncher.

The Olympic learned yesterday that Paulino might come to the Coast soon. Matchmaker Willie Hamas has already offered the Basque work if he cleans up a while out here.

Promoter Jack Doyle went to bat to use Paulino inside the ring against Daniels providing the Great Dane makes good here next week. It's doubtful that Schmeling will be lured this way now. It doesn't fight Jack Dempsey is certain to box Jack Sharkey September.

SHARKEY, SCHMELING AGREE TO FIGHT

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—It is said that Arthur Bulow, deposed manager, might tie up his ring star in a mass of legal entanglements dimmed the thrill of victory for Max Schmeling, German pugilist who belted Paulino Uzcudun from the front ranks of the heavyweight contenders in the ring at Yankee Stadium last night.

A flood of theatrical offers is in on the clouting Teuton who is so much like the former champion, Jack Dempsey, and while Schmeling has about decided to accept one of the vaudeville offers for a month's tour.

After that Der Max's handlers find the way paved for his return in September with Jack Sharkey here for the heavyweight championship. Gene Tunney left vacant by the battlers have agreed to the match but fears are felt that Jack Dempsey by Bulow will complicate matters.

Although the show, first of the outdoor festivals of the season, is a financial success the receipts did not come up to expectations, the official figures published yesterday showed gross receipts of $1,000,000 and net receipts after paying the State taxes of $262,218. The official paid attendance was 82,000. Paulino and Schmeling received approximately $72,500 apiece for their services.

DEMPSEY BEGINS THEATRICAL TOUR

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, arriving here today to begin a three weeks' vaudeville tour, announced he would begin training immediately after the theatrical engagement was concluded." The former heavyweight champion was uncertain about his future ring plans, however, but indicated he was receiving offers.

The defeat of Paulino Uzcudun by Max Schmeling last night was expected by Dempsey. "It never expected a knockout," he says the Spaniard is too rugged for that.

Pressed for a statement as to his own plans, Dempsey said he was indefinite but the general impression was he might be looking forward to a future bout with the winner of the forthcoming Schmeling-Sharkey fight. The Manassa mauler carries considerable extra weight age over his old fighting weight being well over 200 pounds.

Curtis Poet, the "punching" [illegible] from the University of [illegible] will try out his wallop tonight in a clash with Leo Hernandez, [illegible] welterweight flash, at the Hollywood Athletic Club. Poet's record as an amateur shows twenty-one knockouts in twenty-nine bouts. He is the middle western amateur 160-pound title three years. In his professional starts he has knocked out Harry Gillian of Canada and "K. O." Johnny Adams of [illegible].

WOODS DEPARTS FOR BAY CITY POW-WOW

James Woods, State athletic commissioner of this district, left last night for San Francisco to attend a commission meeting scheduled for next Wednesday.

This will be the first full meeting of the State Commission since Charles L. Treadwell, San Francisco member, departed for New York in February. Treadwell has been reported back in San Francisco from New York several days but made no appearance at the meeting early part of the week. Bill Rolph of Sacramento is the other member of the commission.

Mr. Woods said only routine business will be transacted at the session. "As far as I know," the boxing commissioner said, "the only matter on the schedule next Wednesday is the application of the matchmaker for a license. Although there will be several members of the staff present, no action of importance will be taken."

Spain Regrets Paulino Loss to Schmeling

MADRID, June 28. (AP)—Spain today accepted the defeat of Paulino Uscudun at the hands of Max Schmeling philosophically, though with surprised regret. General confidence had prevailed that the Basque from the Pyrenees would win but the populace now consoled themselves by saying: "Anyhow, our Paulino made a good fight and was not knocked out."

SPLIT SEASON CONFAB MONDAY

evidently have now come to the realization that a split season is the only sensible plan to keep the fans interested in the race out here. This circuit is different than other leagues in that it has a twenty-eight-week season, the longest in organized baseball, and the clubs are forced to play seven-game series because of the long jumps. Last year when the split season was in vogue the league enjoyed one of its most successful years, but the magnates voted not to continue the plan at their winter meeting.

All of the Coast League magnates except Cal Ewing and Del Howard, the Oakland bosses, are thought to favor the adoption of the split season for the remainder of the race.

FISHERMEN ENJOY SPLENDID SPORT

Splendid catches have been made this week by the anglers fishing from the ships Palisades and Ameco off Santa Monica, it was reported yesterday by Capt. Cliff Morris. The Palisades, first of the all-day boats to leave the Santa Monica pier daily, has been fishing off Malibu and Point Dume. Good catches have been made, consisting of bass, halibut, barracuda and white sea bass.

The ship Ameco, two-trip-a-day boat, has been anchoring off Topanga Canyon. The anglers aboard have had good luck, bringing in bass, halibut, barracuda and a few sea trout.

HOME RUNS APLENTY

Thirteen Coast League players batted out twenty or more home runs during the 1928 season. About six players should reach the twenty mark in home runs during the first half of the current season. Only three players reached the thirty mark in homers in 1928. At least twice that number should pass the thirty mark in homers if the athletes continues to slam the horsehide in the same way during the second half of the season as they have in the first half.

The Reds chased him from the box with a five-run rally. Petty and French finished for the home team.

Red Lucas held the Pirates runless until the eighth, when a pass was followed by successive home runs by Paul Waner and Pie Traynor. Ford and Gooch were the hitting stars for Cincinnati, each connecting safely three times.

MAY BUNDY IS NET SENSATION

ors went to Mrs. Bundy. With her 12-year-old daughter looking on with approving eyes, the 42-year-old mother defeated beautiful Miss Bennett 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

After losing the first set and trailing 4-2 in the second and 4-1 in the third, the Wimbledon champion of 25 years ago fought her way to a victory that amazed not only the large crowd but the English girl as well. Countering Miss Bennett's steady base-line game with all the court strategy and stroke perfection of her many years of play, the California veteran proved that girls who used to play in long skirts, tight-fitting shirtwaists and straw hats can beat the modern maid, who, dressed something like chorus girls, disturbs the properties of staid old Wimbledon.

Mrs. Bundy has modernized her tennis costume as she has her game. It was strokes and fighting spirit rather than clothes that gave her today's victory.

Miss Wills, with accustomed ease, beat Miss Sigart of Belgium 6-2, 6-3, as Miss Jacobs also won her way into the last eight by eliminating the English girl star, Joan Fry, 6-3, 6-4.

The other sensation of the women's play was the defeat of Senorita de Alvares of Spain, picked to meet Miss Wills in the championship match, by Mrs. C. O. McIlquham, a comparatively unknown in tennis circles. Mrs. McIlquham won 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Under a blazing sun which provided the best of tennis weather, Tilden opened up the center court play against Boussus. Boussus carried the second set to 7-7 before "Big Bill" unloosed a few cannonball services to win.

Hennessey was far from his top form during his first two sets which went to Cochet 6-1, 6-4.

The young American rallied and forced the third to 9-7, before Cochet won. The Allison-Borotra match provided the most exciting finish of the week. The Texan finally was beaten 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3.

But while the Americans were falling by the wayside in the singles, the doubles combinations were going much better. Tilden and Hunter defeated O. G. V. Turnbull and J. B. Gilbert of England, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4; Hennessey and Lott disposed of the German pair, Kohlman and Nourney, 6-1, 9-7, 7-9, 6-2, and Lott and Miss Edith Cross eliminated the English-New Zealand combination of Miss Urber and F. M. B. Fisher, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

REDS WIN IN TWELFTH, 3-2

Krause Captures Spitball Duel from Shellenback When Sherlock's Single Scores Finn

southpaw rival; for he held the Reds to seven hits while the Stars touched Krause for thirteen. However, it is runs and not hits that determines the winners in these baseball games and you can't take that away from the great cause of splitting left-handed.

In all but three innings Shellenback disposed of the Reds in one-two-three order, but what happened in two of those rounds he didn't brought about his undoing.

Inasmuch as the twelfth inning decided the contest, the details of that frame will now be put forth. Mickey Finn, who had gone hitless in three previous times at bat, led off with a single to center and Ike Boone promptly bunted him to second. The Hollywood board of strategy here decided to pass Fuzzy Hufft, who sports one of those rare .400 batting averages, and take a chance on Sherlock's hitting into a double play. Sherlock, however, refused to join in the plan and socked a single to right that scored Finn and put Hufft on third. Christensen walked but Slade hit into a double play to end the excitement.

Dud Lee beat but an infield tap with one out in the Hollywood half of the twelfth, but Krause retired Pinch-Hitter Cleo Carlyle on a line drive to Hufft and then Slade took Funk's grounder, stepped on second to force Lee and end the game.

SHEIKS SCORE FIRST

The Stars scored first, putting over a run in the second when, after two were out, Bassler walked, went to third on Shellenback's double to right field and scored on Lee's single to center. Burkett forced Lee for the third out.

Shellenback experienced his bad inning in the fourth, when the Reds combined three singles with an error by Lee for two runs. Mulligan's hard-hit grounder eluded the grasp of Lee and the Sheik shortstop was charged with an error. Finn sacrificed Mulligan to second and then Boone beat out a hit to Lee. Hufft smashed a single to left that scored Mulligan. Sherlock also entered into the spirit of the occasion by punching a hit to center and Boone romped in from second. Christensen hit into a double play, Lee to Heath, to bring the inning to a close.

Krause got into an embarrassing situation after two were out in the seventh when Shellenback and Lee singled. Hofman, however, pulled the veteran southpaw out of trouble when he snapped a throw to Sherlock that caught Lee off first. That made it very distressing to Walter Reig, who had just come up to bat for Burkett. Inasmuch as Maloney had to play second, Reig went down in the records as a pinch-hitter without so much as even getting to take anything resembling a cut at the ball.

Eli Funk gave Krause a nervous moment in the eighth when he slammed a long one over Christensen's head in deep center. Funk, however, became too ambitious and was out trying to stretch the hit into a triple. Christensen, Slade and Mulligan pulling off the play.

GREEN TIES UP SCORE

It looked as though Krause was going to run short of saliva in the ninth when Harry Green, first up, smashed a long home run over the left centerfield wall to tie the score. But Harry evidently had an emergency tank of saliva on board and he turned this on to retire the side without any further scoring, fanning Rollings and then Shellenback to force the athletes into overtime.

The Stars will try to break their losing streak today with Walter Kinney on the mound. Dutch Ruether is slated to pitch for the Reds. Bill Lane's Saturday's grab bag will be an added feature, which will insure somebody winning besides the Reds.

INDIANS COP

DETROIT, June 28. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers literally threw away a ball game today, two wild throws giving the Cleveland Indians a 5-to-4 victory. John Miljus was touched by the Tigers for fifteen hits but kept them so distributed that eleven Detroit runners were left on base. George Uhle took his fourth defeat of the season.

Two of the Cleveland runs were scored in the fifth inning, when Roy Johnson threw from centerfield into the grand stand in an attempt to catch Miljus at the plate. Jamieson scored from first on the same error. Shea duplicated the misplay in the eighth on a peg to second. The resultant run broke a 4-to-4 tie. Score:

Exchange Acts on Oil Mix-up

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) Difficulties arising from transactions in Continental Oil stock on the New York security markets resulted in the following resolution today announced by the governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange:

"Whereas, investigation made by committee of arrangement has indicated that substantially all of the transactions in common stock of Continental Oil Company of Delaware, supposed to have been made on the exchange on the 27th inst., were consented between parties who believed that they were buying or selling common stock of the Continental Oil Company of Maine, a security dealt in on the New York Curb Market and not dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange, and

"Whereas, in opinion of governing committee it would be in the public interest that such supported contracts or transactions made on the floor of exchange should not be enforced and should be canceled.

"Resolved that governing committee pursuant to the provision of Section 5, of Article 2 of the constitution hereby extend and postpone indefinitely the time for the performance of any contracts made in Continental Oil Company's common stock on the exchange on the 27th inst."

DOUGLAS OFFER EXPECTED

Reported Meeting Called for Monday to Consider Proposal from Wright-Curtiss Group

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Directors of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., are scheduled to meet Monday, according to semiofficial information, at which time it is believed that Donald Douglas, president, will lay before the board an offer from the new Curtiss-Wright Corporation. Mr. Douglas is on his way back to Los Angeles after having spent several weeks in New York with officers of the Curtiss and Wright companies.

From the action of Douglas shares in the market there apparently is some doubt concerning the favorableness of the terms, or the disposition on the part of the Douglas management to enter into the consolidation. But it is believed here, nevertheless, that some kind of an offer has been made to Mr. Douglas for submission to his directorate.

MAJORITY LIVES HERE

Only five of the Douglas directors live in the East, which explains the delay in official action on whatever proposal has made for the inclusion of Douglas in the new combination. The majority of the board lives in and around Los Angeles, including Mr. Douglas, Alphonso E. Bell, H. W. Elliott, H. P. Grube, W. D. Longyear, Melville B. Rapp, Ray Robinson, H. H. Wetzel, Geoffrey Mayo, and Thomas B. Eastland, of San Francisco.

Eastern directors, who probably control close to a majority of the stock, include C. M. Keys, J. C. Cowdin, W. E. Douglas, Latham B. Reed and John J. Mitchell.

If Douglas is included in the picture, the proposed set-up involves the consolidation of this company with Travel Air, Keystone, Moth, Curtiss Robertson and Curtiss Caproni, all manufacturers of airplanes. The supposition is that the Curtiss-Wright Corporation would center around Douglas an extensive manufacturing operation in Los Angeles for the distribution of the airplanes made by these companies to the profitable Pacific Coast market.

PROBLEMS TO SOLVE

In working out the consolidation of manufacturing activities, however, the negotiators of the Curtiss-Wright merger are probably running into some difficult problems in personnel to solve. This is usually the stumbling block in most consolidation negotiations, particularly where a number of small independent enterprises are involved.

Whatever happens to Douglas, the fusion of the Curtiss, Wright and allied interests definitely lines up the leaders in the aviation industry and portends the beginning of the end for those small companies not properly situated to meet competition from large scale units. The Curtiss-Wright Corporation will have assets of $70,000,000, and will rank with United Aircraft, and the General Motors-Fokker group as major competitors in the industry. The Detroit Aviation Corporation, a holding company recently organized to combine a number of smaller newer companies, may emerge as one of the major enterprises.

United Aircraft, sponsored by the National City Company of New York, has assets of about $115,000,-000, and includes some of the strongest companies in aviation. Boeing Aircraft and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft are the nucleus of the combination, which also controls Chance Vought Corporation and Hamilton Metal Plane Company.

Details of the General Motors-Fokker operation are still a mystery, but rumors indicate that Fokker will soon be disclosed as the first of the airplane manufacturing companies on a large-scale production basis, similar to the automobile companies.

New Security Offerings Drop

Keys, president of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., in a letter mailed yesterday to stockholders, announced that the company has been promised a majority of its stock to be deposited for voting trust certificates and that the certificates will be ready for issuance July 1 at the Bankers' Trust Company.

The New York Curb agrees to list the certificates as soon as over 100,000 shares are turned in. This the company expects to accomplish by July 2, Mr. Keys stated.

In order to make the merger effective, however, it is necessary to have 51 per cent of the Maddux stock deposited in exchange for Transcontinental Air voting trust certificates by July 1. With the full co-operation of the Transcontinental organization and the assurance of an active market for the Transcontinental stock, unanimous support of the Maddux stockholders is expected.

New Gasoline Idea Doubted

AMSTERDAM, June 28. (Exclusive) — Chairman Loudon of the Royal Dutch Company, in commenting upon the new 100 per cent hydrogenation gasoline process of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, developed by the German dye trust, I. G. Farbenindustrie, declared today it was doubtful whether the new factory that the Jersey company is erecting at Bayway, N. J., could produce 100,000 barrels of gasoline daily under the new process. He added he would be considerably surprised if cost price of manufacture did not greatly exceed production price of Royal Dutch's own processes.

He stated great technical achievements are possibly not always most advantageous, and concluded by saying "We can view the future with the fullest confidence."

LEGGE FARMER'S CHAMPION

Selection as Member of Agricultural Relief Board Would Prove Popular Appointment

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

CHICAGO, June 28.—If Alexander Legge of Chicago, president of the International Harvester Company, agrees to serve on the new Farm Relief Board it will bring into the service of the nation one of its most experienced, astute and able business men.

Mr. Legge has been interested in the farming problem nearly all his life. He began his business career as a youth with the McCormick Harvester Company, in Omaha, Neb., in 1891.

So during the last thirty-eight years he has been associated with a business that is vitally bound up with agriculture prosperity.

When the McCormick and the Deering people merged into the huge International Harvester Company, Mr. Legge became an important executive in the business. Sixteen years ago, 1913, he became general manager and seven years ago president.

"The United States is so big, rich and powerful that it can get along for a time without farmers sharing in its prosperity. But only for a time. Sooner or later the farmer must get his share of that prosperity. He has waited a long time already, and has been discouraged many times in recent years. But ultimately he will come into his own," is the way Mr. Legge expressed it to me on one occasion.

While Mr. Legge is a well-known big business leader (although Who's Who in America gives him but seven lines,) the farmers have in him one of their stoutest and wisest champions. An excellent appointment.

Albert N. Marquis, founder of "Who's Who in America," is "a dead ringer" physically for Thomas A. Edison. Younger by ten or fifteen years, but with many of the characteristics of the famous inventor.

Mr. Marquis was born in Brown county, Ohio. He was left an orphan in early childhood and was reared by his grandparents.

After a few years spent in his grandfather's general store in Hammersville, O., he organized the publishing company of A. N. Marquis & Co. in Cincinnati, O. In 1884 he moved to Chicago, and ten years later began the publication of what has become America's most famous book "Who's Who in America." He was the sole owner of the publication until the incorporation of the company on May 1, 1926.

"Yes, it was hard at first to get the people we wished to include to edit their own copy," said Mr. Marquis in reminiscing with the writer the other day. "That wore off with the years. Now our problem is how to get most representative names in 'Who's Who' and keep out many who are anxious to be in. We have four times as many names in 'Who's Who' as we had thirty years ago. When a name goes in, it is because we believe that name should be in. No influence can put a name in the book. It has been tried hundreds of times. We never accepted a cent in thirty years from any one included in 'Who's Who.'

"Our records today contain probably more than 100,000 names of distinguished American men and women—the most complete file in existence."

Mr. Marquis is still president and editor-in-chief.

American Tank Car to Extend Foreign Field

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) Max Epstein, president of General American Tank Car Co., upon his return today from Europe, where he visited twenty-six countries, including Russia, unfolded plans for the broadening of the scope of the company's activities in the European markets.

It is understood that some powerful financial interests in Europe will become associated with General American Tank Car in the new enterprise.

A German subsidiary has already been formed—Allgemeine Transport Leihgeselischaft—and is now operating railway cars in both Germany and the Balkan states. General American Tank already owns a substantial interest in the largest railway car building concern in France.

It is understood that a Swiss holding company is in the process of formation which will hold the shares of the various European companies.

Stock Split of Bank Ratified

Stockholders of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, at a special meeting yesterday, approved the proposal to split the stock on a five-for-one basis reducing the par value from $100 to $20 a share. There will be 250,000 shares of the new stock replacing 50,000 shares of the old.

The dividend rate on the new shares will be at the rate of $1 a quarter, or $4 a year, according to the announcement, and which is 20 per cent on the par value. The dividend on the old stock was raised from 18 to 20 per cent annually at a recent meeting of the board and the first quarterly disbursement at this rate will be paid today on the old $100 par stock.

PICKWICK AIRWAYS ADDS NEW CARRIER

Pickwick Airways yesterday added a ten-place Bach Air Transport to their fleet of passenger planes, according to an announcement by Mitchell Davis, superintendent of operations. Edison Common in Sharp Advance Leads Spirited Activity of Utility Shares

Common stock of the Southern California Edison Company again featured all operations yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as more than tripling the turnover of any other issue, soared 3 points to a new high price for the recent past at 66½. This is about a point below its record high for all time. Several flurries of profit taking encountered did not appreciable effect and the stock closed at 66 flat.

Utilities as a whole commanded the attention of traders and this section of the list displayed activity that has not been equaled for some time. Edison 6 per cent preferred stock was particularly outstanding with a turnover of 1800 shares. Quotations held steady as in the case with three other preferred stocks of the company. The issue preferred advanced 1-4 to 100. Pacific Lighting shot up 2 points and scored a new high price of the year. The close was at 99½. The industrial board was unusually quiet and showed no changes of consequence and the oil list acted in a like manner displaying a tendency to soften.

California Bank recorded a sharp rally of 2 points to 132½, while Security-First National, which in the two preceding sessions exhibited no small amount of strength, eased off 3-8 to 128 1-8. Seaboard National Bank advanced 1½ points to 46½.

Sales totaled 31,673 shares valued at $811,990; previous day, 32,546 shares valued at $761,845.

Wheat Futures Up Sharply on Canada Report

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Widely circulated estimates that the 1929 Canadian wheat production will be away below last year's total but wheat values up with a rush today. According to one current forecast, the Canadian spring wheat crop of the prairie provinces this season will amount to only 315,000,000 bushels, compared with 568,000,000 bushels harvested in 1928. Officials of the Canadian Growers' Pool, however, denied having made this estimate, and instead suggested that Western Canada, with ideal conditions from now on, would raise 400,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2¼@3c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝@1¼c up, oats ¼ to ⅛@⅝c advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

Wheat made an irregular start, but then scored an almost perpendicular upturn of more than 3c. In view of reports that owing to persistent shortage of moisture Canada would harvest nearly 200,000,000 bushels less than last year, offerings grew scarce and buying broadened out on a big scale. In the detailed estimates which meanwhile were going around, and which came from accredited trade sources, special emphasis was given to mention that the figures made allowance for 10 per cent increase of acreage, and that the present condition of the Canadian crop is only 85 per cent, compared with 101 per cent a year ago.

Corn and oats went higher as a result chiefly of wheat strength. There was also talk that monthly unofficial surveys next week will indicate a relatively low condition of corn growth.

Provisions tended upward on buying credited to packers.

International Projector continued to draw the attention of traders with its steady advance and its jump yesterday of ½ point to a new record price at 29½. The balance of the market on a light turnover recorded no changes of consequence. Mining stocks, on the other hand, traded in a particularly brisk fashion.

BAY CITY CURB

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—Trading on the San Francisco Curb Exchange today presented an activity which has been absent for some time. In some of the issues, large totals were recorded with various price trends, but as groups no definite trend was discernible.

In the industrial group, a number of issues ran up large totals. Superior Portland Cement "B" opened with a fractional gain at 23, continued to lose to 22¾, but with good support rallied at the close to show a gain at 23. Sales were recorded in this group by Western States Life, Pacific Equities, Marchant and practically all of the trivialized issues.

The utilities were in demand today, with American Telephone and Telegraph rights continuing to advance, stabilizing a high and close at 7½. Southern California Edison opened with 2½-point gain at 68½, rose to 68, but under profit-taking to 65¾.

Italo Petroleum was the exception in the oil group. Opening considerably lower at 3.80 it advanced with a total of 2200 shares to a high and close at 4.85. Occidental Petroleum showed a 15-cent loss at the close at 2.95, after opening at the previous closing price. Universal sold with no change at 1.35.

Little activity was seen in the bank group, with Bank of America dropping from 230 to 227, showing a 4-point loss for the day.

STOCK MARKET TONE BRIGHTER

13 3-4 points higher at 239, but was still several points from the high. American Power & Light, Columbia Gas & Electric, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light, Engineers Public Service and National Power & Light all broke into new high ground. Substantial gains also were recorded by American & Foreign Power, American Water Works, United Corporation and several others.

General Electric ran up more than 8 points to a new high at 334, or 105 points above the year's low, and Westinghouse Electric closed about 7 points higher at 183 after having attained a new peak at 188 3-4. Telephone stocks also were in brisk demand. International Telephone rising nearly 5 points to a new high at 99 7-8, while American Telephone closed 5 points higher at 226½.

TRICO MOUNTS

The rise in Trico Products to a new high level was in anticipation of the announcement of a large contract from one of the country's largest automobile manufacturers next week. International Business Machines, Sharon Steel Hosp, Commercial Solvents, Otis Elevator, Ritter Dental, Timkin Roller Bearing, Newport Co., and R. H. Macy, were among the score or so other issues to set new peak prices, the last named soaring 16 points.

All three classes of Erie stock moved into new high ground on the announcement of the preferred dividends, but part of the gains were lost. Missouri-Kansas-Texas touched a new high at 57 3-4. Atchison and Lackawanna each lost about 2 points and New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and several others yielded fractionally.

Commodity markets pointed upward. Wheat advanced 3½ cents a bushel and corn 1¼ cents on forecasts of unfavorable weather. Cotton advanced on the average of about 50 cents a bale.

French francs moved to a new high level but the other leading currencies showed little change in quiet foreign exchange trading.

OIL NEWS

By HOWARD C. KEGLEY

A new drilling campaign is announced, it is said, when 3200 additional acres are made available for drilling purposes on the Ranch, miles west of Santa Paula.

An ordinance passed a month ago by the City Council of Santa Barbara becomes effective July 1. It places restrictions in that district surrounds the Palisades tract, recently discovered by the Standard Oil and Refining Company.

Olympic's Lomas No. 1 struck a producing sand which is in immediate leasing; of the oil sands in the Palisades tract. Drilling was started to open up a new pool in that vicinity. The well is to be further developed made available extensions of the pool along the coast to the Santa Barbara district, extends up in the hills toward Santa Barbara and Goleta, and north to Veronica Springs district.

Leasing Location

A 1,500-acre lease which is part of the Bolsa Rancho in Santa Barbara county, which was leased a short time ago by the Standard Oil Company, is just becoming active, as a well is being prepared for the No. 1 wildcat, to be situated at Rocky Point, near Point Conception.

Drilling delay in starting operations on the project was due to settlement of title, and no further delay is anticipated, it is said. The well to be Bolsa No. 1 will be situated about twenty miles north of the Standard Oil Company's Gerber No. 1 wildcat at Point Conception, which is idle pending settlement of litigations.

Oil Production Summary

The daily average production of oil from the well at Signal Hill was 128 barrels from 370 deep-sand wells, and totaled 176,000 barrels for the week.

Drilling completions are reported as follows: Dabney-Johnson No. 10 Burbank, and No. 20, for 850 barrels; Lomas and Bourdo's Burbank Green No. 1, for 100 barrels; Rio-Cal Oil Company's No. 3, Bolsa Lands; Richfield Oil Company's Bolsa No. 6, for 40 barrels, and Bolsa No. 1, for 200 barrels, and Elwell No. 1, for 40 barrels; Rio Grande Oil Company's Gerry No. 6, for 600 barrels; Yuba Petroleum Company's Yuba No. 1, for 40 barrels, and Texas Company's Marlow Kant No. 11, for 100 barrels.

Standard Oil Company's No. 1

The Standard Oil Company's No. 1 Kellerman Hills is coring at below 5400 feet. The Marland Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-8, offsetting the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well, which is now under construction and the pier upon which derrick will be erected is nearly completed. Delivery of piles for this project has been made, and progress more than a month.

Derrick Improved

With the completion of a seventy-foot tunnel about forty feet underground and digging of a chamber by twelve feet in size around the casing of the McKeon Petroleum Company's No. 2 well at Rincon Springs, all plans are complete to put out the fire which has been burning for nearly three months.

The McKeon well caught fire from No. 1 producing well of the McAdams caught fire while casing was being pulled. The derrick will burned a few days and then was smuffed out. It is estimated cost approximately 2900 barrels of oil per day.

Two seven and three-quarter and two eight three-quarter-inch casings were pulled from the McKeon and the two lower casings have been tapped to withstand the fire. This procedure has reduced the fire, it is said, to a minimum to safely enter the derrick.

Production Increased

Production of well of Rohde & McKeon at Santa Fe Springs, first completed in the Clarke sand, has been cleaned out and production increased to approximately 567 barrels of oil per day. Compressors are to be installed to increase the flow.

Bolsa No. 3 is drilling ahead below 5000 feet and preparations are being made to land casing to cement off oil in the Meyer sand.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—All previous sales records were shattered today on the New York Curb Exchange in a rush of buying that whirled leading public utility stocks to new peak prices. The ticker began to lag at the opening and never caught up with the market, being an hour behind at the close. Sales totaled 3,304,500 shares, compared to the previous record of 3,046,400 established on November 28, last.

Comparative moderate rates for call money with only two more trading days left for the month and the new rumors of utility mergers, including reports of a billion dollar alignment in the Middle West, furnished the background for the broad advance. The air stocks were the only group to finish behind minus signs, but most of the selling in this section was purely taking attracted by yesterday's advance.

Electric Bond & Share and United Light & Power "A" were the leaders, both soaring to new highs. Bond & Share, which is reported planning a merger of its affiliated companies, closed at 124, its high price of the day for a gain of 6¼. Sales in this issue totaled 85,500. United Light & Power "A" on a turnover of 300,700, shot up to 83¾ and closed at 49¾ for a net gain of 7. Through United Light & Railways this company owns a substantial common stock interest in American Light & Traction and Detroit Edison Company.

Aviation Corporation of the Americas lead the recession in the air shocks, closing with a loss of 2¾. C. M. Keys, president of the newly formed Curtiss Wright corporation, announced the company would not take in any of the air lines in which the Wright or Curtiss groups were interested. Aviation Corporation of the Americas is identified with the Wright interests.

Investment trusts encountered a good demand. Goldman Sachs was steady and Capital Administration "A" shares sold at a new high at 47¾, but lost a half point to close with a net gain of 2¾.

The oils were quiet and the mining shares—Newmont and Nornado each advanced nearly 3 points. Heyden Chemical broke through to a new high.

The closing price is omitted when same as the day, and both low and close when same as the high.

Disgusted Wife Relents to Get Mate Unjailed

SAN JOSE, June 28. (AP)—On her pies that her husband, H. Hale Smith, former secretary to Gov. Sweet of Colorado, had drawn checks against her bank account without her knowledge, June Smith, daughter of a prominent Utah family, was granted probation by Superior Judge Welch today on a charge of passing a bad check for $50.

Mrs. Smith attributed her difficulties to a desire to keep her husband out of trouble, but told the court her patience was exhausted, and that he could expect no further aid of her. As she was leaving the courtroom, she was advised that her husband had been arrested at a local hotel on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper and was in jail. A few minutes later Mrs. Smith paid the amount owing the hotel and he was released from custody.

Trade Reports for Week Show Slight Let-up

NEW YORK, June 28. (Special.)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Trade and industry this week show a slight tapering off, part of this, perhaps, due to purely seasonal influences, particularly hot weather, part of it to reports of slightly modified estimates of yields of crops such as wheat and some fruits. Even with the slight quieting noted, however, the general tone of reports is still at a higher level than a year ago.

In the iron and steel trade the effects of the hot wave of last week finds reflection in reports of a slightly slower speed of operations, but, in addition, the facts are apparently visible that lack of rain in some areas, as, for instance, the spring wheat Northwest, is perhaps responsible for a slowing down in future business, while in others, as for instance, the Southeast and Southwest, too much rain has been an influence in holding back distant buying.

In the steel trade, effects of the lessened prospect for fruit crops are noted in a slowing down of the plate production and in a lessened call for material for automobile and implement manufacture, which is not unexpected, in view of the year-long activity in these lines and this despite the rally in June in steel prices—the lower level of prices of most farm crops, as compared with this time a year ago.

Weekly bank clearings $11,818,318,000, an increase of 13.5 per cent over a year ago.

WEYMOUTH MAY GET WATER JOB

Colorado River Aqueduct Post to be Offered

Acceptance of Engineering Position Expected

He Drew Original Plans for Building Boulder Dam

Frank E. Weymouth, formerly chief engineer of the United States Reclamation Service and now chief engineer of the Bureau of Water Works of the city of Los Angeles, will be offered the position of chief engineer in charge of the construction of the Colorado River aqueduct, it was decided yesterday at the meeting of the board of directors of the metropolitan water district, and acceptance is expected. The formal appointment will probably be made at a meeting of the board on Monday.

At its most important session since its inception, the board not only decided upon the selection of Mr. Weymouth but also discussed technical problems and listened to a report of its financial committee which indicated that a tax of about 1½ cents per $100 of assessed valuation will be levied throughout the Metropolitan Water District next year to cover operating expenses for the fiscal year which commences on July 1.

THOMAS URGED ACTION

The selection of Mr. Weymouth to take charge of the construction of the aqueduct, cost of which has been variously estimated at from $700,000,000 to $200,000,000, was first urged by Prof. Franklin Thomas of the California Institute of Technology, who represents Pasadena on the water district directorate. In a letter to the board, which was read at yesterday's meeting, Prof. Thomas pointed out that the time had come to create the position of chief engineer of the Metropolitan Water District and urged that Mr. Weymouth is the right man for the post.

Judge George J. Hutton, who represents Santa Monica, spoke in approval of the selection of Mr. Weymouth and submitted a statement covering his engineering achievements. Thereupon Dr. John R. Haynes, one of this city's representatives, introduced an ordinance making the water district being a municipal corporation — creating the office of chief engineer and fixing the salary at $18,000 a year. The board's rule of procedure prevented the adoption of the ordinance on the day of its introduction, but a special meeting of the board was called for Monday to dispose of the matter.

DUTIES DEVOTED TO SURVEYS

Since becoming attached to the municipal department of water and power several months ago, Mr. Weymouth has been in charge of the preliminary surveys on the aqueduct which that department has been conducting for the past five years. As it is expected that the water district will take several months to assemble its own staff of engineers and start active work itself on the aqueduct project, it was the desire of the board to have Mr. Weymouth continue nominally in the employ of the city until the time when his full-time services would be required by the water district. In the meantime, however, practically all of his time will be devoted to the aqueduct surveys.

Therefore, the board appointed a committee to confer with the city's Water and Power Commission and obtain the commission's sanction to an arrangement whereby Mr. Weymouth's services for the time being would be divided between the city and the water district and the payment of his salary shall be shared by both. This committee will confer with Weymouth to obtain his consent to accept the position on these terms. The $18,000 salary of the chief engineer of the water district is the same as that now being received by Mr. Weymouth as chief engineer of the Bureau of Water Works.

AGREEMENT OBTAINED

The committee consists of W. P. Whitsett, Dr. John R. Haynes and John R. Richards, this city's representatives on the board, Prof. Thomas, and Harry L. Heffner of San Marino. The first three named are also members of the city's Water and Power Commission and at a meeting of the commission later in the afternoon they secured the consent of the other two commissioners to the arrangement.

Mr. Weymouth, who was born on June 7, 1874, in Medford, Me., has had a distinguished career since he obtained his degree as a civil engineer from the University of Maine in 1897. Shortly after his graduation he was employed in water works construction by the city of

THIRD WILL PRODUCED IN FINN TANGLE

Suit Over Estate of Late Senator More Involved as Court Orders Inquiry

Litigation over the $1,000,000 estate of State Senator George L. Finn of Iowa, who lived in Santa Monica, became more involved yesterday when a third will was filed by claimants after Superior Judge Crail ordered all known wills to be produced in court.

The latest will submitted is dated 1925, and eight codicils were added at later dates. Another will previously submitted was dated 1926, and a third dated January 17, 1929, three days before Finn died. It was this will that was the object of a spirited struggle in the office of Dr. Frank W. Murphy, and it was torn when two investigators from the District Attorney's office attempted to take it from Dr. Murphy, who said he was following instructions of the decedent in not filing it until July 15 next.

The 1925 will was produced when an affidavit signed by Gladys L. McAfee, grandniece of the decedent, was presented by Attorney Edmund Wheeler ... ttle, representing Charles Finn, a disinherited brother. The affidavit stated that David Burr Luckey, administrator, had this will in his possession. It was produced in a short time by Attorneys Thomas W. Cochran and Ben Griffith, who represent Luckey.

A petition to have Luckey removed as administrator was before the court yesterday, but was postponed. Meanwhile, Superior Judge Kestch has ordered an investigation of the asserted circumstances surrounding the withholding of Finn's will from probate.

Oil Well Blaze Finale Planned

This afternoon a final attempt will be made to snuff out the blazing McKeon oil well No. 2 at Santa Fe Springs, it was stated at the local McKeon offices last night.

An underground sideline probably will be connected early today. Through this line engineers expect to divert most of the escaping gas and oil to allow a surface crew to get in close to the mouth of the well and attempt to shut it off.

If the surface valves are intact engineers said their task will be simplified, but in case the fire has wrecked the pipes at the mouth the well may be killed by pumping mud down it. This would be done through the underground connection.

STATE IN DAWN OF GREAT ERA

Representative Evans Tells of Federal Help Due

California Developing Group Outlines Progress

National Aid to Florida in Fruit-Fly Fight Urged

"California is on the threshold of the greatest era of development since the opening of the first transcontinental railroad here," Representative Evans told California Development Association directors in monthly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He listed Federal appropriations totaling $194,561,500 which he said open water and power resources of untold potentialities to California, which create additional rivers and harbors facilities and provide for new public buildings.

Even this huge sum, the Representative said, does not include the millions available to California through appropriations for agriculture, roads, national parks and other recipients of Federal aid. And by reason of the recent national reapportionment law, he pointed out, California will assume more of her rightful place in the affairs of the country because that law raises California "from away down to fifth or sixth place in the House of Representatives and places her along with New York and other important representations in Congress." The Representative's reference to large appropriations that will be of benefit to California was understood, of course, to include the Federal provision for Colorado River water and power utilization.

PROSPERITY IN STATE

Evans's statements were received with particular satisfaction by the directors of the association, which is the State Chamber of Commerce, inasmuch as they had just listened to reports from their experts in various parts of the State reciting general prosperity in California, especially Southern California.

"General business activity in Los Angeles and Southern California," it was announced, "has been maintained at a satisfactory level in recent weeks" and the announcement was supported by facts summarized as follows:

The aggregate volume of industrial and commercial operations in the last three months exceeded the corresponding period of 1928.

Retail trading in Los Angeles in May ran up sales to 8.6 per cent above May, 1928. Other Southland cities' percentages were similar.

Sales of new automobiles in Southern California were more numerous in May than in any month of any past year. They were not so high, however, as last April's remarkable record.

Electric power sales in Los Angeles industrial district in the first five months of this year exceeded by 10 to 25 per cent the corresponding 1928 figure.

BUILDING PERMITS

Los Angeles building permits issued so far this year exceed by 5 per cent the corresponding figure for last year. Building begun in other Southern California cities in May exceeds by 23 per cent the May, 1928, figure.

The number of persons employed in the petroleum industry in the last half of May and first half of June exceeds by 15 per cent the corresponding fifure in 1928.

Automobile tire manufacture is booming, one leading manufacturer reporting a 36 per cent increase in business over the first six months of last year.

Banks reported an increased trend in commercial and mortgage loans, and a declining tendency in demand deposits.

WANT AID FOR FLORIDA

The directors, it was announced, "indorse the principle of indemnification by the Federal government, and memorialize Congress to appropriate any amount of money that may be necessary to permit Florida fruit growers to carry on and care for their groves during the Mediterranean fruit fly eradication campaign and to insure its success."

The action was taken upon finding by the directors "that the infestation of Florida by the fly constitutes a most serious menace to the fruit and vegetable supply of the nation; that in the eradication

FILM ACTRESS NEAR DEATH

Blood Transfusion Performed in Attempt to Save Life of Gladys Brockwell

A blood transfusion was made yesterday in an effort to save the life of Gladys Brockwell, motion-picture actress, who was injured in an automobile accident Thursday night while she was riding with T. Stanley Brennan, Los Angeles advertising man, en route to Ventura. The operation was performed by Dr. Norman P. Sprague at the Osteopathic Hospital, who says that her condition is extremely critical.

Brennan was seriously injured in the crash that occurred when the new roadster in which they were riding ...nged off a curve on the Ventura highway near Calabasas and somersaulted seventy-five feet down an embankment. Miss Brockwell was pinned beneath the wreckage with one of the car doors pressed against her head.

She received fractures of both lower jaws, fracture of the left upper jaw, fracture of the left collar bone, fracture of a vertebra, a broken pelvis, and a rupture of the large intestine. In addition, the left side of her face is paralyzed, caused by the severing of a facial nerve, physicians believe.

BRENNAN RECOVERING

Both of Brennan's shoulder blades were broken as well as several ribs. He was also treated by Dr. Sprague at the Osteopathic Hospital. Attendants said that he was resting easily last night.

Because of their serious condition, officers have not been able to obtain a coherent report of the accident. It is believed that Brennan was driving the car, although Miss Brockwell told one of the physicians who attended her after the accident that she was at the wheel, according to the Sheriff's report. Officers said that her statement could not be considered as positive because of her semiconscious state at the time of the questioning.

According to the meager information obtained by deputy sheriffs, the machine refused to take a curve on the road. Miss Brockwell and Brennan were unconscious when taken from the wreckage by passing motorists. Dr. Sprague said last night that he examined them immediately after the crash and could detect no evidence that they had been drinking.

Miss Brockwell has been a well-known film actress for several years. Brennan is connected with the Foster & Kleiser advertising agency.

INCE'S SON WILL WED BEAUTY

William Thomas Ince, film producer, indicates wedding date as Ada G. Williams signs marriage license application.

ADA C. WILLIAMS, Florida beauty contest winner in 1927, annexed another prize yesterday, when William Thomas Ince, son of the late Thomas Ince, motion-picture producer, gave her a large diamond solitaire ring, and notice of intention to wed that went with it.

Ince is 20 years of age and lives at 1003 Summit Drive, Beverly Hills. Miss Williams is 16. The wedding will take place July 7 in the Beverly Hills Hotel.

LAST WORK FINISHED UP BY COUNCIL

City's Governing Body Clears Way for Advent of New Administration

The old Council conducted its last session yesterday, working until after 1 p.m. clearing its files of reports and recommendations, and then adjourned sine die. On Monday the new Council, with six new members, will organize by selecting Win J. Sanborn as president. The retiring members are President Bonelli and Councilmen Alber, Colden, Hall, Hughes and Foster.

Mr. Colden suggested that the adjournment be signalized by rendering "Sweet Adeline," to which Mr. Hall moved as a substitute "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder."

Then Mr. Hall extolled President Bonelli for the fairness and ability with which he has executed his duties, and thanked the deputies of the City Clerk, City Attorney and City Engineer for their dealings with the Council. Several other members made short addresses, and the Council adjourned.

Chester Conklin Signature Error

An article printed in The Times of the 26th inst., described a meeting of prominent motion-picture actors and actresses who drafted a petition to President Gillmore of the Actors' Equity Association asking that they be allowed to express their views on the present situation in the film industry. Following this account was a list of the signers of the petition. Through an error in transcription of the list, the name of Chester Conklin was included instead of Charles Conklin.

Chester Conklin says, through the medium of his attorney, that he did not attend the meeting. Charles Conklin, film player, did attend the meeting and signed the petition, according to Conrad Nagel, who was chairman of the affair. Owing to the similarity of names, the mistake was made in transcribing the list.

LEGION POST TO MEET

Vernon Post No. 338, American Legion, will hold a dinner, entertainment and dance this evening at the Central Manufacturing District Clubhouse, 4814 Loma Vista avenue, Vernon, for the benefit of its building fund and child welfare activities. S. Bernard Wager is chairman of the entertainment committee.

BOWL FUND CAMPAIGN GOAL WON

Success Announcement Made Before Workers at Victory Luncheon

Completion of the Hollywood Bowl Association's $15,000 fund was announced yesterday at a victory luncheon in the tea garden of Hollywood Bowl. Incomplete returns indicated that thirty-five boxes and 1450 season books were sold during the three weeks' intensive campaign concluded yesterday, with several workers still to report. Announcement that the fund has been raised was made by Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, general Bowl chairman.

Mrs. J. Boyce Smith and her Bowl committee representing Pro Musica were awarded first prize, Season Box 624, for leading in the sales with 199½ subscriptions. Mrs. Joseph L. Levy of this committee alone obtained seventy-five subscriptions. Second prize, Box 6, went to Marion Bowden, president Sigma Xi Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Season books to the number of three, two and one were awarded, respectively, to sales committees headed by Arline Washburn of the Hollywood Community Chorus, which reported 103 subscriptions; Mrs. Morris R. Ebersole, of the Woman's Club of Hollywood, 60½, and Mrs Mae Shumway Enderly of Matinee Musial Club, 56.

Nearly 200 committees were represented at the final report luncheon. Mrs. Irish thanked and congratulated the workers.

SEWER WORK ACCEPTED

The Board of Public Works yesterday accepted Section 33 of the north outfall sewer and agreed to pay the contractor, R. A. Wattson $59,244 for the work. This is a part of the sewer system which serves the northern, northwestern and western part of the city.

STOLEN PLANE LOCATED AFTER BRIEF AIR SEARCH

An airplane to find an airplane was the procedure adopted successfully yesterday by the Sheriff's office when it received the report of Theodore Jenks of 5526 Gear street that his Eagle Rock biplane had been stolen the previous day from the Compton Airport.

Only a small amount of gasoline was in the tanks of the plane when it was left at the field Wednesday by Jenks and Deputy Sheriffs Bowers and Marty took to the air in a chartered plane in the hope of sighting it somewhere comparatively close.

The plane was located from the air in the bed of the Rio Hondo, about 300 yards north of the Beverly Boulevard bridge. It had a damaged wheel and propeller. The person who took it apparently had it in his possession but two hours, they learned from residents who saw it flying above the district about 10:30 a.m. Thursday morning. It was missed about 8:30 of the same morning.

According to Bowers and Marty, there is evidence that the person who was flying the plane jumped before it landed and was injured. After questioning some schoolboys, who later in the day saw a man in overalls being borne between two others, the officers believe the injured man may have lain unconscious where he fell for some time until found by passers-by.

MRS. PORTER WILL MISS INAUGURAL

Auto Injuries Will Keep Wife of Mayor-elect Bedfast for Some Time

Mrs. John C. Porter, wife of the Mayor-elect of Los Angeles, was injured seriously Wednesday night near San Diego when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband and three friends struck a depression in the road, the force of which threw her from the seat. The ligaments of her back were torn loose by the fall, according to her son, Lee Porter.

Mrs. Porter will be confined to her bed at home for several weeks, it is reported. She will be unable to attend the inaugural dinner at the Shrine Auditorium Monday evening. Mr. Porter received an unimportant head injury in the same accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter were returning to Los Angeles from San Diego where he had attended a meeting of the church brotherhood, together with Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Nelson and W. P. Willimott. They left the southern city about 10 p.m. The accident occurred a few minutes later. The other occupants of the car were shaken slightly but no injuries are reported.

Dry League's Move Opposed

Opposition of the efforts of the Anti-Saloon League of Southern California to persuade the Police Commission to rescind its action in ordering the police to make no more liquor raids without search warrants is expressed in a communication from the American Civil Liberties Union, filed with the commission. It is signed by Clinton J. Taft, director of the southern committee of the union, and refers to Chief Davis's request for suspension of the order pending action to be taken by a committee appointed last Tuesday.

Davis pointed out that warrants can not be obtained during the night. Taft declares that they can be obtained at the Municipal Night Court.

Accusations Also Aimed at Dist.-Atty. Fitts

Bribery Trial Will Go on as Planned Monday

Harold L. (Buddy) Davis, chief deputy District Attorney under Asa Keyes, but now indicted on bribery conspiracy charges, yesterday told his version of the Milton Pike arrest and presented his accusations against Dist.-Atty. Fitts to the grand jury.

The evidence and testimony were offered in two sections, the first dealing entirely with the entrapment of Pike, who was to have appeared against Davis next Monday as a witness. Pike is charged by Davis with having solicited a bribe from him through Fred L. Packard, and was trapped with $320 of marked money in his pocket after a meeting at a downtown hotel.

After the disposition of the Pike matter, during which the interrogation was handled before the grand jury by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Simpson and Hammon, the charges against Fitts were presented by Davis in the absence of any member of the District Attorney's office. Davis ended his testimony on this phase of the inquiry by presenting to the grand jury a list of witnesses declared by him to corroborate his accusations.

VOLUNTARY WITHDRAWAL

These accusations came originally in the form of a letter addressed by Davis to the grand jury, in which he set forth seven specific charges against Fitts and other members of his office. In the document Davis requesting an airing of the matter and offered to present witnesses substantiating his declarations.

The withdrawal of the deputy district attorneys from the grand jury room during the latter half of the investigations came voluntarily but after Davis had requested that they be excluded. The former official remained before the jury offering his testimony for about two and a half hours.

During the day, beginning with Dep. Atty.-Gen. Maltman, the grand jury heard Davis, his attorney, Paul D'Orr, and Ben Smith, veteran court reporter, who listened on a dictaphone to the conversations between Pike, Packard and Davis. His notes and transcripts of the various conversations and statements made during the Pike investigation were read.

OTHERS TO BE HEARD

When the jury reconvenes Tuesday, Municipal Judge Ballard, who issued the complaint against Pike; Fred L. Packard, intermediary; Thomas A. Reynolds, another of Davis's attorneys; George E. Walker and J. T. Hamilton, the two police officers who made the arrest, and Harry M. Hull of the Nick Harris Detective Agency, who installed the dictaphone, will testify. The inquiry into the Pike arrest probably will be closed Tuesday evening with some kind of official action by the grand jury.

Before the taking of any testimony yesterday morning Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Chief Deputy Stewart, Chief Trial Deputy Beecher, Deputies Hammon, Simpson and Shelley, went before the jury, and as a result Ben Smith, the official reporter, was declared by Foreman De Garmo to be disqualified in the reporting of this case.

Fitts previously had announced that he would ask for the permanent removal of Smith as a result of a controversy arising from the reporter's employment by D'Orr to transcribe statements in the Pike matter. The District Attorney, following the arrest of the State's witness, made a demand on Smith for his transcripts. The demand was refused on the grounds that the transcripts were the property of the attorney who had employed him.

TRIAL WILL GO ON

It was announced officially by the District Attorney's office last night that the Davis bribery conspiracy case, which is scheduled for trial before Superior Judge Wilson next Monday morning, will not be postponed as a result of the arrest and incarceration of one of the State's witnesses. Both Stewart and Simp-

City Has Made Good Most of Damage Caused by Breaking of St. Francis Dam

City Attorneys Stephens's final report on the progress of clearing up claims against the city resulting from the breaking of the St. Francis Dam and the devastation of property and loss of life in the Santa Clara Valley was filed with the Council yesterday. The work of settling the claims has been nearly completed, according to the report.

The total number of claims filed was 2823, aggregating $28,788,227. Of this amount, $25,361,458 has been settled for $4,542,439, leaving $3,426,769 in unsettled claims. Of this amount, $383,593 has been disallowed as illegal. Pending in court are twenty-four claims, aggregating $890,000.

DIVISION OF CLAIMS

There were filed 336 claims arising from loss of life, aggregating $4,864,006. The city has settled 286 of these claims for $858,090. Personal injury claims to the number of sixty-two have been filed, aggregating $263,340, and fifty-eight have been settled for $87,633, leaving four, amounting to $175,097, unsettled.

The city has paid settled claims, on warrant, amounting to $4,005,955.

Immediately after the disaster the city went to work to rehabilitate the valley by restoring the land and property to as near as possible its original condition. This work was under the supervision of H. A. Van Norman, general manager of the Department of Water and Power. The work of cleaning up the debris and restoring lands and orchards was completed by June 18, 1928, three months after the dam broke, while the restoration of homes and structures was finished October 15, 1928.

ACREAGE AFFECTED

The entire acreage affected by the flood was 23,638. Drift and debris was removed from 7563 acres and 63,096 cubic yards of silt and sand removed. Acres releveled to restore irrigation lines totaled 4305, ninety-seven wells were renovated, 85,475 feet of pipe lines cleaned, 85,475 feet of pope lines cleaned, 57,458 feet of ditches cleaned and replaced, 581,711 feet of fence repaired, 38,966 trees treated and 2867 boxed.

There comes to my mind an incident when Adela St. John was a very little girl. She arrived home one day bloodstained and battle-torn, leading a bedraggled little brother by the hand.

"Well, papa, it was this way," she said, practically. "A big tough boy picked on Bogart and Bogey was getting licked, so I just stepped in and handed the guy a couple myself."

Were I Mrs. Winter I should start right now while I had a good head start.

There comes a time of life when it seems as though you sit sadly by the side of the road and watch your most cherished friends pass across the Dark River.

Two of the finest men I have ever known went on this year—Martin Aguirre and Gen. George L. Byram—simple, modest, brave men honorable even in the smallest incidents of life.

THE FATAL DOSE

The Pullman porter picked up an empty bottle that had been left in the men's "rest room."

"The difference," he said, "between drinking this stuff and being killed on the battlefield is that you know what you died of on the battlefield."

DEAD TREASURES

There are many strange things in the desert.

In the Navajo reservation is a house containing four corpses, all wearing beautiful Indian jewelry. They died there of flu, and no Navajo will enter a house where the dead lies. If they can't drag a dying person out of the house they burn the house where he passed out.

This is one of the oldest superstitions in the world. The reason we wear black for mourning—although we no longer realize it—is to make ourselves invisible to the ghosts who come back—ghosting over the dead.

NOWHERE TO GO

I woke up just before daylight to hear an automobile screaming down the Tujunga highway. In an earlier day that would have meant some one rushing for a doctor. Now it means the end of a joy ride.

In these days you can't be pretty sure that anyone in a heck of a hurry isn't going anywhere.

Howard Found Guilty of Cooley Murder and Faces Sentence of Death on Gallows

VERDICT ASKS NO CLEMENCY

Jury Consumes Entire Day in Deliberations

Convicted Garage Man Will Hear Doom Monday

New Trial Expected to be Asked at That Time

John L. Howard, Pasadena night garage manager, will hang for the murder last April of his employer, Victor A. Cooley, if a verdict returned yesterday in Superior Judge Hardy's court is upheld.

The jury of six men and six women returned the decision carrying with it the death penalty approximately twenty-four hours after the case had been submitted to it Thursday noon.

Another case was in progress as the jurors filed into the courtroom and took positions in front of the jury box. Howard, cool in demeanor and apparently unaffected by the fact that his life was at stake in the words about to be pronounced, was taken to the counsel table, where his attorneys stood. Back of the group were Chief Deputy District Attorney Jordan and Dep. Dist.-Atty Aggeler, who prosecuted the case.

"Have you agreed upon a verdict?" inquired Judge Hardy, addressing the jury.

"Yes, Your Honor," replied Foreman Frederick England.

JURY'S FINDING

The small, white slip of paper, containing scarcely more than two dozen words, was passed to the court by Bailiff Bryant. County Clerk Moore read the verdict:

"We, the jury in the above entitled case, find the defendant to be guilty of murder as charged in the information, and find it to be murder in the first degree."

There was no recommendation made by the jury, which means that unless Howard wins a new trial on motion or appeal, he will pay with his life the State's debt for the fatal hammer assault the night of April 18, last, on Cooley.

Howard was so visibly unaffected by the verdict that apparently he did not realize the import of the pronouncement. He exchanged a few whispered words with his attorney, Josiah Combs, and then was taken to a cell in the County Jail, where he will remain pending hearing on a motion for a new trial.

SURPRISE TO DEFENSE

The jury's findings seemed to come as a complete surprise to Attorney Coombs and to several others who had followed the case closely and predicted that Howard had a good chance for a second-degree murder verdict.

Jordan and Aggeler, the prosecution attorneys, voiced their conviction that the evidence in the case fully justified the verdict as returned by the jury. Their version of the case was that Howard had slugged Cooley with a hammer in order to remove him as a possible obstruction in Howard's pursuit of the affections of Mrs. Pearl Cooley, widow of the slain man.

Apparently the jury also was satisfied that this was the correct view of the case, as the prosecution was based largely on Howard's confession that he had beaten Cooley with a hammer. After introducing the confession, the State then proceeded to establish as a motive the theory that Howard was in love with Mrs. Cooley, who testified as a State witness that she had told Howard she could love no other man while Cooley was living.

CONFESSION REPUDIATION

Howard, who took the witness stand in his own defense, repudiated his confession and declared he had made the statement only to protect Mrs. Cooley, whom he was led to believe was in custody in connection with the slaying. Although he admitted he had kissed and hugged Mrs. Cooley, he denied he had ever been in love with her or had proposed marriage.

Mrs. Cooley testified she has "inferred" that Howard was in love with her and wanted to marry her, she and her husband were separated at the time of the slaying. She could not be located in the courtroom yesterday when the verdict was returned.

Any discussion of what occurred in the jury room during the several hours of deliberation was precluded when, after discharging the jurors, Judge Hardy admonished them not to talk about their verdict or discussions in the jury room.

RESULT OF INQUIRY

It was said the court took this action to safeguard the jurors following the circulation of a report Thursday evening that they stood eight to four for conviction. In seeking to establish the source of this so-called leak, Judge Hardy questioned several court attaches and newspaper men, but it developed there had been no leak and that the report had originated with a person or persons not connected in any way with the court or the trial of the case, and was based on gossip and courtroom speculation.

Howard will go before Judge Hardy Monday morning at 10 o'clock for sentence, at which time it is expected his attorneys will file a motion for a new trial. A continuance then will be taken to allow for preparation of State and defense arguments on the motion, which, if denied, undoubtedly will result in the filing of an appeal with the Supreme Court in behalf of Howard.

According to evidence in the case, Cooley died of injuries inflicted with a hammer while he lay bed in the Pasadena apartment occupied jointly by him and Howard. Cooley died several days after the attack without regaining consciousness.

STATE CONTENTIONS

Howard, who was night manager of Cooley's automobile rental business, summoned the police and ambulance when he returned about midnight and found his employer in a serious condition.

It was the contention of the State that Howard slugged Cooley about 10:30 o'clock in the evening, then left the apartment and went back to his work, after first having sought to make it appear Cooley had been the victim of a bandit in order to cover up the crime.

The defense was based principally on Howard's repudiation of his confession and on testimony of Mrs. Cora Gelrke, who lives near the Cooley-Howard apartment, that she heard a woman's scream emanate from the vicinity of the apartment at about the time the attack on Cooley is said to have occurred. This latter testimony was designed to create the impression that someone other than Howard was in Cooley's apartment on the evening of the assault.

OPEN LINK IN COAST HIGHWAY

Governor to Officiate in Ceremonies Incident to Dedication

SANTA MONICA, June 28.—Today, for the first time in more than a century, the general public will be permitted to view the wonders of the twenty-two-mile coastline of the famous old Rancho Malibu, one of the oldest of the original Spanish land grants.

This date marks the opening to the public of the newly completed Santa Monica-Oxnard link of the Roosevelt Highway.

Ceremonies befitting the occasion have been arranged for by the Santa Monica-Ocean Park and Oxnard Chambers of Commerce, and Gov. Young, D. B. Meek, State Director of Public Works, and other State, county and city officials will be on hand to lend official dignity to the program.

Starting from Santa Monica at 9:30 o'clock this morning, an automobile caravan headed by Harold Roberts and his Golden State Band, and including a Pickwick nite coach and observation buffet coach filled with newspaper and newsreel men and chamber of commerce representatives, will proceed up the coast over the new road to a point midway between Santa Monica and Oxnard where a barrier-breaking ceremony will be staged at Trancas Canyon.

The caravan then will stream through the opened gate up the coast to Point Mugu and on to Oxnard, where a barbecue luncheon will be served. There, on the beach of the great Dominik McGrath ranch just out of Oxnard, talks will be made by Gov. Young and others following the luncheon. The Oxnard Chamber of Commerce invites the caravaners and public to camp on one of the finest undeveloped beaches in California today and Sunday. Firewood and fresh water will be provided by the chamber.

son, who will prosecute the case for the people, declared that the absence of Pike as a witness in no way will affect the trial.

In an official statement late yesterday afternoon, Fitts declared that his office is placing before the grand jury every bit of evidence in its possession or that has been supplied concerning the charges against Pike.

FAIRNESS PLEDGED

"We are going to present this matter fairly and impartially, and in the same manner in which any other case would be presented to the grand jury," Fitts declared. "Every effort has been made to separate the Pike matter from the accusations made against me and this office by Davis. This has been done so that the minds of the jurors will not become confused as to the two separate issues before them.

"In so far as the accusations against me and my office are concerned I welcome any investigation with or without my office represented in the grand jury room. Of course if the members of the grand jury deem it necessary I will be glad to present my side of the controversy."

From his cell in the County Jail Pike yesterday refused to comment on his case but declared that he has been promised a full and impartial hearing before the grand jury next Tuesday after his accusers have testified. He still stoutly maintains that he was the victim of a "frame-up."

INQUIRY DEFERRED

Due to the crowded schedule of the grand jury, no action was taken by that body yesterday in connection with the asserted "mistake" cremations at the General Hospital, now under consideration by the District Attorney's office.

Witnesses scheduled to appear before the grand pury yesterday to testify concerning three asserted instances when bodies of patients were cremated through error at the institution were not called, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley. The matter will be placed before the jury at the first opportunity, he said.

FORD SINGS PRAISE OF AGE

Give Me Men More Than 35 and Up to 60 and We'll Get Work Done Right, He Says

PHILADELPHIA, June 28. (AP)—Henry Ford in the July issue of the Ladies Home Journal says that he should prefer, if he could make the choice, to have all his employees between 35 and 60 years of age.

"For then," the automobile manufacturer adds, "we should have a stable and experienced force. We would not care how much over 60 the men were so long as they could do their work."

"Under no circumstances would we have a working force made up of only young men," Ford says. "It is absolutely necessary, in order to get the work through, to have a solid framework of older and more experienced men who know exactly what they are doing.

"It is not to be expected that a man of 70 will have as much endurance as one of 25. It is not at all necessary that he should have, for by the time a man has reached 70, he ought to have something a great deal more valuable than physical strength.

"The records of the employment department show that the work that calls for endurance is best served as a rule by men who are 40 or over. Younger men seem to tire of jobs of this kind rather quickly and want to be transferred to lighter work.

"Having lived a number of years," Mr. Ford says, "is a great advantage to anyone if those years have brought a background of experience. It is usual to associate age with years only because so many men and women somewhere along in what is called middle age stop trying. They let themselves be old."

MOSCOW, June 28. (AP)— Death sentences in the Soviet Union took a sudden jump today. The prosecutor had shown that the judge had co-operated closely with the bandits in supplying arms and giving judicial protection to the marauders.

The Uzbekistan supreme court sentenced to a similar death four bandits who, operating under the leadership of Fuzaili Maksuma, had hanged several women for not wearing the veil of Moslem custom.

From Minsk came the report that the death sentence was passed on Koney Pinchook for killing a village newspaper correspondent named Sanko. One Propetrovsk reported a death sentence imposed on a village bourgeois there for a similar offense.

VETERAN GIVEN LIFE TERM

Lorenzo P. Helpman Sentenced to Folsom for Murder of W. E. Moore, Cafe Owner

Lorenzo P. Helpman, World War veteran, yesterday was sentenced by Superior Judge Aggeler to life in Folsom Penitentiary for the murder March 1, last, of W. E. Moore, Los Angeles cafe man.

Helpman had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity. He waived a jury trial and the issues were placed before Judge Aggeler, who pronounced him sane at the time of the slaying. The court fixed the crime as one of first-degree murder, but ordered life imprisonment instead of imposing the death penalty.

Helpman was asserted to have shot Moore after he climbed on the running board of Moore's automobile and ordered him to drive through a stop signal. It was said Helpman had a fancied grievance against Moore because the latter had refused him a free meal.

Helpman asked that he be committed to San Quentin instead of Folsom, but Judge Aggeler pointed out he would have to make Folsom the place of imprisonment owing to the fact that Helpman had previously been convicted and served a term on a charge of burglary.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay prosecuted the case, while Deputy Public Defender Hill represented Helpman.

Donald Taken on Wife's Complaint

Richard (Dick) Donald, local boxing promoter, was arrested last night on a battery warrant obtained by his wife, Mrs. Frankie Donald, who accused him of beating her. Donald was arrested at the Pals Club, 218½ South Spring street, by Warrant Officers Chase and Richards. At Central Station he gave his occupation as a cafe manager and his age as 40 years. He was released under $100 bail for hearing Monday night in Division 13, Municipal Court.

Mrs. Donald complained to Deputy City Prosecutor Ford Jacks that her husband more than once had beaten her upon his return home. She asserted that he gave her a particularly severe beating, following which she made her complaint. Municipal Judge Reed in the night court signed the warrant.

Nothing by Halves

Whatever business you have, do it the first moment you can; never by halves, but finish it without hesitation, if possible. Business must not be sauntered and trifled with, and you must not say to it, as Felix did to Paul, "at a more convenient season I will speak to thee." The most convenient season for business is the first; but many put off their own times to a man's business; time is much oftener squandered away in the wrong choice and improper methods of amusement and pleasure.—[Chesterfield.

"Representation has been made regarding the part played by Elks' Lodge No. 99, in presenting the National Sports Exposition. The lodge has had no connection with this exposition other than that to lend its name as sponsor of an event publicly deemed worthy of such sponsorship.

"In consideration of the use of Elks' name Lodge, No. 99, was employed as a ticket-selling agency for the exposition, compensation to be 10 per cent of the money taken at the box office, to be used to pay part of the expenses of the exposition.

Writer's Wife Given $1500 Month Alimony

Mrs. Nancy H. Wilson will have to get along with $1500 a month, Superior Judge Rosenkrans ruled yesterday, when he ordered Carey A. Wilson, scenario writer, to pay her that amount of alimony while she is waiting for her divorce.

Wilson said he thought his wife could get along with one of his four cars, an "open job," but Mrs. Wilson declared her social obligations made it necessary for her to have a closed one, so the judge gave her a Rolls-Royce.

During the past year Wilson's income was $22,500, he said, but things haven't been so good this year, he testified, and he has sold only one story in six months. Wilson has to spend $2100 a month to keep up appearances, he said.

At both exhibits Mrs. Hoyt's work received outstanding recognition and she has returned with a fine collection of awards and honors. So great was the interest in the California growth in England that Mrs. Hoyt presented her redwood exhibit to the British Museum at the request of its directors, some of the desert plants were sent to Kew Gardens and other were requested by Cambridge University.

Mrs. Hoyt, who was the guest of honor at the Friday Morning Club yesterday, will spend the summer in South Pasadena, she said, working in her garden most of the time.

CIVIC GROUP TO BEAUTIFY

Greater Olive-Street Association Organizes and Discusses Tree Planting

Visualizing the possibilities of converting the business section of Los Angeles into the most beautiful metropolitan district in America, Ross W. Campbell, local real estate man, yesterday urged the downtown street associations either to affiliate or merge their societies into a master group.

Mr. Campbell's talk was directed to a gathering of Olive-street property owners, who at a luncheon yesterday at the Alexandria organized the Greater Olive-Street Association to succeed the Olive-Street Property Owners' Association, which was dissolved.

The purpose of the new Olive-street body is to obtain the co-operation of both the property owners and the business interests along the thoroughfare from Third street south.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

L. E. Shepherd, former president of the Property Owners' Association, was elected head of the new body. W. Herbert Allen was named treasurer. J. J. Garland, son of W. M. Garland, was elected general manager of the new group, succeeding J. Francis Potter of the former organization.

Membership in the Greater Olive Street Association will not be restricted to property owners, as was the former case, but will include merchants and other individuals interested in the development of the thoroughfare.

Mr. Campbell emphasized the value that would accrue from a systematic and harmonious plan of beautification along the street and suggested the planting of palms along the edge of the curbings, erection of flower pots along the window-sill line of the second story, and the decoration of street-lamp posts with a Colonial or some other design flower baskets.

DRAWING VIEWED

A water-color drawing illustrated his suggestions, virtually all of which were met with accord by those present.

"We all have just awakened to the possibilities within our grasp," the speaker continued, "and with the recent appointment of a city forester, a real plan of city beautification is now under way.

"One of the beautification plans first to be undertaken will be erection of a number of great fountains throughout certain sections of the city. The one in Pershing Square which is to be named 'The Fount of Angels' symbolizing the christening of the city, will cost approximately $200,000 and will be the gift of one of the city's pioneers.

"Another large fountain to be erected in Hollywood likewise will be the gift of some outstanding citizen and will be designed to symbolize the motion-picture industry.

"Other fountains throughout different civic centers of the city will follow and soon Los Angeles will become known as the 'City of Fountains.'"

State Supreme Court to Hear Antialien Case

SACRAMENTO, June 28. (AP)—Notice was received here today that the State Supreme Court has granted a hearing in the antialien land law case of K. Osaki and K. Yoshioka, Sutter county Japanese in whose favor the Appellate Court recently ruled.

Atty.-Gen. Webb asked the Supreme Court to consider the case after the lower court handed down a decision stating that a section of the law requiring defendants to prove their citizenship status deprives one of his constitutional recourse to law. The State and not the defendant should prove eligibility, the Appellate Court held.

Osaki, an alien, and Yoshioka, an American-born Japanese were charged by the State with leasing rice lands in violation of the alien land law.

STATE IN DAWN OF GREAT ERA

campaign under way in that State it has been necessary to quarantine large areas in which all fruit has to be destroyed; that this destruction of fruit crops in quarantined areas will have to continue for a considerable period, which will result in a most serious financial situation to growers; that it will be most difficult to bring to a successful conclusion the eradication campaign being undertaken without the complete co-operation of the growers and the people of Florida, and that it probably will be impossible for these afflicted growers to give this co-operation without some way is found to reimburse them so that they can live and care for their groves."

OTHER STEPS TAKEN

The directors called upon the Federal Agricultural Department to assist Mexico in keeping out the fly because of the menace its presence there would be to this country, and they called upon the department to tighten plant quarantine now along the border and described as inadequate. They asked also that the department provide $15,000 to study the control of plant lice through lady beetles.

Steps were taken by the body to have the United States Department of Commerce locate here permanently a Pacific Coast specialist on airports and it began also a movement to discourage fly-by-night aviation schools. Help is offered to any California city or county framing air navigation regulations and wishing to have them conform to present State and Federal regulations.

Because this time of the year is the dangerous one to roadside grain crops, to brush and forests, the directors took steps to have traffic officers vigorously enforce the law against throwing burning material from conveyances.

The association has available, it was announced, a corps of planning experts ready to aid cities and counties intending to take new steps under the recently enacted law providing for planning bodies.

The next meeting of the body will be in San Francisco, August 2.

RUM-SHIP SALE DECREE ASKED

Head Orders Forfeiture of Przemsyl

Ownership Reputed to Tony Cornero

Suit Charged Craft With Landing Liquor

United States Commissioner Head yesterday settled the fate of the rum-running ship, Przemsyl, reputed to be the property of Tony Cornero, asserted rum-runner, when he ordered the vessel forfeited to the government under the provisions of the customs laws.

Acting as special master in chancery, Commissioner Head presented his findings to United States District Judge James for final approval. If the findings are approved the vessel will be sold at auction by United States Marshal Sittel.

The ship first drew attention when it left Hamburg, Germany, with a liquor cargo valued at $500,000 and later was turned over to the government at New Orleans by the captain and mate, who claimed prize money for so doing. The United States court there released the vessel and the leaders in the asserted piracy were sent to Germany and imprisoned.

The ship left New Orleans and later appeared off the California coast, coming into Los Angeles Harbor without any liquor. It was seized by the government to satisfy an income-tax lien against Tony Cornero. The government lost this suit as a Hamburg broker claimed ownership.

Recently a new suit was filed by Asst. U. S. Atty. Doherty, who asserted that the vessel had been used to supply small boats with liquor, and thus unloaded its cargo in California.

Boston. From 1899 to 1901 he was employed by the Isthmian Canal Commission and for the next year he served as resident engineer of the Guayaquil and Ecuador and Quito Railway Company.

DIRECTED LARGE PROJECTS

It was in 1902 that he joined the United States Reclamation Service and in the twenty-two years that he remained with that organization he had charge of some of its most notable projects. He was project engineer in charge of the Lower Yellowstone project in Eastern Montana from 1905 to 1908. For six years after that he was supervising engineer for Idaho and parts of Oregon and Wyoming, and in this post he had charge of the tremendous Snake River drainage scheme, which included the irrigation of more than 400,000 acres of land, and entailed the construction of a number of large storage dams, the most notable of which is the Arrowrock Dam. Until recently, this was the highest dam in the world and it was not only built for $1,500,000 less than the estimated cost but also in one year less time than had been estimated by the Board of Consulting Engineers.

In 1916 he became chief of construction of the reclamation service and in 1920 he was appointed its chief engineer. During the four years he held that post he assumed direct charge of the Colorado River survey work which led to the recommendation in favor of the construction of a 550-foot dam in Boulder Canyon. Then he drew up the detailed plans and specifications for the building of the dam which, except for minor changes made later, are the plans which received the approval of the Seibert Commission last year. Therefore, he has been familiar for years with the Colorado River problem.

DIRECTED MEXICO PROJECT

After resigning from the reclamation service he became a consulting engineer, being for two years president of the firm of Brock & Weymouth. In 1926 he became chief engineer of the J. G. White Engineering Corporation and went to Mexico to assume charge of the immense reclamation and irrigation program which was begun by the Calles administration. Although no definite announcement has ever been made of the fact, it is understood that it was his interest in the Colorado River Aqueduct project which led him to accept his present position at the head of this city's water bureau several months ago.

The report of the water district board's finance committee yesterday was to the effect that during the ensuing fiscal year $1,387,000 will be required for the year's operations, which will include mainly the continuation of the surveys started by the city and the preparation of actual construction plans. In 1925 the voters of this city approved a $2,000,000 bond issue to cover the cost of the aqueduct surveys. A considerable portion of this money remains unexpended and it will be utilized to help cover the survey operations of the water district. Therefore, the finance committee, members of which are Mr. Whitsett, Mr. Heffner and Col. S. H. Finley of Santa Ana, estimates that only $855,000 will have to be raised by taxation throughout the district this year. On the basis of present estimates of assessed valuation, that would require the levying of a 3½-cent tax but the exact amount of the tax cannot be definitely determined until the valuation is established next August.

LONG BEACH MAY JOIN

At yesterday's board meeting, it was also indicated that two communities not now in the district may join it in the near future. One of these is Long Beach, which signified its interest in the project by sending a representative to sit with the board yesterday as an unofficial observer. The representative of the beach city is James F. Collins.

The other community is Alhambra, which notified the board that it desires to hold an election to determine whether its citizens wish the city to join the district and asked to be informed of the procedure which it must follow to obtain membership. The information has been sent to the Alhambra authorities by the secretary of the board.

At the morning session of the board an outline of a plan for an underground aqueduct was laid before it by Walter Gordon Clark, former associate of Gen. Goethals, who came here from New York about five years ago to conduct a consulting engineering business.

Under the Clark plan a sixteen-foot tunnel would be constructed from Black Canyon 227 miles to Los Angeles. It would deliver 1500 cubic feet of water a second at the 500-foot level here, that is, roughly, to the level of Hollywood Boulevard. Storage reservoirs would be provided at Silver Lake and at Dry Lake, Nev.

Clark said it would take sixteen to eighteen years and $247,000,000, or about $1,000,000 a mile, to construct the aqueduct by his plan. He outlined a plan whereby the project could be completed in seven to nine years by a tunnel construction method that would cost $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 more. The extra cost, according to the engineer, would be less than what it would cost to build a temporary system in order to get the water here by the time it is urgently needed long before the eighteen-year project would be completed.

LACK OF VISION CHARGED

The carrying charges against such a project, he calculated, would be about $16,000,000 a year. He provided for its being financed by fifty-year, 5 per cent bonds.

Clark said the people of Los Angeles have exhibited short-sightedness in not being more liberal in providing bond money for water expansion. He said they should provide the municipal department with what money is required now to plan thirty and forty years in the future and that they do not do so because they are inadequately informed.

DELAWARE PICNIC TODAY

An all-day picnic of the Delaware State Society of Southern California will be held today from 3 to 8:30 p.m. at the Elysian Park Recreation Lodge, Portia street and Sunset Boulevard. Dr. John Snape will be the principal speaker. There will be prize games for children and adults, and icecream, lemonade and coffee served. Courtesy automobiles will meet the street cars at the park every half hour.

Your home expresses your individuality in the taste you use in choosing your wall papers—which by the way, are very much the fashion again. This is worth-while news which you would do well to follow for it means a great gain to numerous clients of this splendid department and bank.

Sardine and egg—Mash the contents of a can of sardines to a paste and mix with an equal quantity of mashed boiled egg; season well; spread on white bread.

It would be hard to find a greater booster for Hughes Ice Cream than "Janey-May" a young matron of my acquaintance and it all came about by the ice cream she made turning out a failure. In her dilemma she sought my advice on what ice cream to serve which would taste like "the home-made kind" and so without a moment's hesitation I recommended Hughes—because it is made of pure thick cream, fresh fruit juices and true vanilla—she followed the suggestion and now Janey-May is for Hughes every time!

To remove red wine stains from cotton or linen sprinkle salt on them and then pour boiling water through them.

Native Couple's Golden Wedding Day Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Stockton, 2611 Shoredale avenue, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at Sycamore Grove Park with their four children, ten grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and sixty-four other members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stockton are natives of California and except for a brief interval when they lived in Washington Territory have always resided in their native State. For twenty-four years they made their home on a ranch in Ventura county.

Mr. Stockton was associated with the Los Angeles Railway Company when it was a horse-car line. Later, when in the orange business in Pasadena, he helped to pick the first carload of oranges ever shipped from this section.

NOTABLE ARRAY FOR MEETING OF WAMPAS

Five luminaries of the stage and screen, Belle Baker, vaudeville headliner; Marilyn Miller, musical-comedy star; Joe E. Brown, Eddie Buzzell and Irving Aaronson, will attend the regular meeting of the Wampas next Monday night at the Roosevelt Hotel under the chairmanship of George Landy, retiring publicity chief of the First National Studio. Miss Baker and Miss Miller will sing, Joe E. Brown has promised a laugh offering, Buzzell will tell some of his stories and Irving Aaronson is to present his Commanders in syncopation. Dinner will be served at 7:15 o'clock.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS SOUGHT

A recommendation of the Board of Police Commissioners that traffic signals be installed at Eighth street and Harvard Boulevard was received by the Council yesterday and referred to the Traffic and Street-Lighting Committee.

Park District Work Ordered

Council yesterday instructed the City Engineer to prepare the assessment district map for the Victory Park No. 2, a tract of 173 acres in the Arroyo Seco, after Deputy City Attorney Keith informed that body that Superior Judge Bowron had rendered a decision in favor of the city in a condemnation proceeding. The cost of the project is estimated at $800,000. Following the completion of the park project it is probable that a speed highway between Los Angeles and Pasadena will be constructed through the territory.

OBSEQUIES TODAY FOR CALIFORNIA PIONEER

Last rites for Mrs. Jennie Turney, California pioneer who died last Wednesday, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at Garrett Brothers' mortuary, 921 Venice Boulevard. Burial will follow in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mrs. Turney was born in Nova Scotia and came to California a half-century ago. She resided at 727 Nowita Place, Venice.

COUNCIL SECRETARIES GET SALARY INCREASE

Almost the last act of the retiring Council yesterday was to present its fifteen secretaries with a $25-a-month increase in salary. Their pay was advanced from $150 to $175 a month.

ACTION UP TO COMMITTEE

A resolution directing the Board of Public Works to award the contract for the construction of the Sepulveda Boulevard tunnel and the grading of 7.68 miles of roadway was introduced in the Council yesterday by Councilman Webster. It was referred to the Public Works Committee. The Board of Supervisors has allocated $275,000 toward the project.

Today's Bible Text

For he that will love life and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil and his lips that they speak no guile. 1 Peter iii:10.

HARD TO EXPLAIN

Possibly there is an excuse for the existence of song pluggers, but we can't think what it is just now.

KEEPING IT UP

The strife between baby-blue suspenders and tan belts is nothing much to worry about although a good deal depends upon each.

BY A DAM SITE

The government will create a little city of its own close to the site of the Colorado dam, but this will not impair the courage or enterprise of the citizens of Las Vegas. There is always a sideshow for every main tent. They were there first.

SEEKS INFORMATION

Public libraries in America seek to popularise reading, but in many European cities the library is looked upon in much the same light as a museum. Scholars seek its shelves for reference purposes, but the rank and file of the citizenship seldom cross the threshold. That is where we gain.

KEEPING THE FAITH

A noted preacher bases an alleged slump in faith upon the quality of gospel as dispensed from the average pulpit. The pastor may talk about everything but the old-fashioned religion and this latter is the very thing which tired humanity craves. The average man doesn't want his church to compete with the jazz band or the radio. He wants it to be like a great rock in a weary land.

THE BAGDAD FLYER

German interests are back of the airplane lines from Cairo to the Caspian Sea by way of Jerusalem and Bagdad. The trip from Egypt to Bagdad is a long and weary one if made by camel, but the flyers can make it in twelve hours with a tail wind. In the days of the Kaiser the Germans were eager to get into Bagdad by railroad, now they can make connections by plane without bothering with steel rails. The extension into Persia doesn't add much to the difficulties either. The new Jerusalem will gaze in wonder at the strange birds that are now passing overhead.

REDSKIN ORATORS

Experts and humanitarians are joining hands in the effort to dispose of existing Indian problems in a manner that will give justice to the red men. As long as they do not get in one another's way this will be all right, but the viewpoint of these bronzed pioneers should not be overlooked. There's a chance that what is best for them would not be most to their liking. Really they are entitled to live their lives in their own way, but they will never have the chance. The different tribes should be encouraged to elect one representative to a great council of the Indians of America and this council should be either an approval or a protest on all measures for the regulation of their people. They are at least entitled to a hearing.

SENATORIAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut is of the new school. He doesn't think that the Senate chamber is the holy of holies or that a Senator is a joss, to be worshiped by the masses. Even now he is carrying on a war against Senatorial privilege. He would withdraw the protection which members of both branches of Congress have enjoyed since Hector was a pup. Under the law the statesmen are exempt from prosecution for libel. Any speech or utterance made on the floors of Congress may not be questioned elsewhere. A Senator cannot be held responsible for his words. Senator Bingham objects to this. He wants a member of either branch of Congress to be treated as the average citizen and made responsible for his assertions and pronouncements. He wants his statesmen to be without fear and without favor. It is a safe bet that the Connecticut statesman will not get very far with his crusade. The politicians would have to be shamed into action—and that is impossible. What would happen if Tom Heflin could be held responsible for his words?

FOR FOREST PROTECTION

The decision on behalf of eleven Western States to use their joint efforts for the passage of the Engelbright bill at the regular session of Congress is a wise one if the nation's timber resources west of the Mississippi River are to be safeguarded. This measure proposes the yearly appropriation by the national government of funds to safeguard the national forests. That such safeguarding is urgently needed is plain to anyone who compares the annual use and destruction of standing timber with the annual new growth.

The annual use can hardly be greatly restricted, even if it were considered desirable to do so. There is the possibility of savings, no doubt, in this use; better methods are being devised all the time, but their effect is more than equalised by growing demand; and there approaches a time when replanting on a gigantic scale will become necessary if these timber resources are not to be exhausted completely, from the mere attrition of use alone.

But when to exhaustion by use is added destruction by fire, the extinction of forests on the North American continent becomes much nearer. This fire loss cannot be completely done away with by any reasonably conceived measures, but that it can be very greatly reduced, at a cost commensurate with the result, there is no doubt whatever. This the Engelbright bill seeks to accomplish.

Cutting and fire together eliminate from these resources, which constitute only one-sixth of the original virgin timber area of the continental United States, some 60,000,000,000 board feet each year, while only 15,000,000,000 board feet are being replaced by new growth; in other words, we are digging into our forest capital at the rate of 45,000,000,000 board feet annually at the present time. Every stick of timber that is saved from fire is, therefore, so much gain, and delays by that much the time when there will be no more. That time, unless there is a radical change in the methods of treating forests, is but thirty-six years distant.

A change in forest policy in the direction of better protection is, therefore, an imperative necessity and every year that its adoption is put off is costly.

Better roads and more fire trails, and the opening up of more forest land to grazing, are two of the methods suggested by the eleven-State conference. Grazing reduces the fire hazard by reducing the underbrush, in which fire spreads rapidly. Of course forest land may be overgrazed and much of it is, but the opening of new areas, as suggested, will reduce the pressure on the remainder. Better roads permit quick access to burning areas, and more firebreaks and trails will limit such burnings as occur. All these are well-known expedients, whose usefulness is not in question. These remedies require to be applied more intensively than they have been in the past, and new ones need to be discovered and applied. The trouble at present is that Congress has not made sufficient appropriations to give the known methods a fair trial, to say nothing of permitting invention and innovation.

There has been a great deal of talk of reforestation in the past few years. The usefulness of it is obvious. It is also probably true that considerable areas of land now devoted to agriculture would better serve the nation, and in some cases their owners, if they were devoted to raising three crops. But reforestation is of small avail when coincident with it there are burnings of matured forest areas of greater extent.

If it takes thirty years to mature a tree—many species are not fit for cutting short of forty or more—it is plain that one acre of mature timber burned over means the loss of as much forest growth as can be replaced by replanting thirty acres in one year. You cannot make up for burning thirty acres of timber by replanting thirty acres; destruction goes on at a much more rapid rate than growth. It is common sense to use money first to stop the fires and not to make reforestation the paramount consideration until this is accomplished. Unless, of course, money enough can be found for both. It will have to be some time.

GETTING A GOAT

It seems that not even the Secretary of State may bring an unattached and improvident goat into this country without raising a disturbance at the barrier. Secretary Stimson appears to be having more or less trouble by reason of his unofficial family. As Governor-General of the Philippines he seems to have acquired the makings of a private zoo. When he sought to bring some of his pets to America the difficulties began. His famous parrot had to have a special dispensation and a bodyguard, and at that the bird had to swear himself in.

But he made it.

Then Secretary Stimson sent a call for his favorite goat. This is a brunette Filipino named William Hamilton Bones, but called Bill for short. The animal has a glossy imperial and an inquiring disposition and was suspected of being the official bouncer at the Governor's palace in Manila. At any rate if a stranger took up too much of the chief's time Bill was apt to eat the straw hat out of his hand or butt him off the front porch. In this way he had a definite value.

So after Secretary Stimson had been established in his new home in Washington he cabled for Bill. If the animal could have been loaded on a battleship he might have been all right, but he was crated as regular freight and when he reached the landing at San Francisco the inspectors of the Agricultural Department got a whiff of him and put up the barrier. It seemed that there was some regulation whereby an alien goat who might become a future charge upon the country could be turned back at the border.

It might have gone badly with him had not his identity and destination been urged on his behalf. The Secretary might have had to write him a passport before he could get off his ship.

There seems to be a lot of fussy folks at the border. If Bill had been a bootlegger he could have made this country with less trouble.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

YOU can't have any idea how many enthusiastic sun bathers there are on Los Angeles roofs if you haven't been planing or ballooning lately.

"Bud" Campbell, co-pilot of the Goodyear dirigible Volunteer, says the scenery of Hollywood, seen from a motor car, is striking; but seen from a dirigible it is positively arresting.

"The first time I flew over Hollywood," he says, "I was amazed by the great number of moving objects on the roofs. It seemed that just about half the buildings had people on top of them. I flew lower and discovered that the sun bathroom seems to be almost as common to residences and apartments there as the ordinary bathroom was twenty years ago.

Found Data Elusive

"Interested—from a scientific point of view—I took along binoculars the next trip. In an airplane one has to keep moving swiftly, but in a dirigible one can practically "heave anchor" in the sky and take time for adequate observation. I halted the ship over a well-known women's club. But those women were marvelously athletic. The speed with which they got up and left that roof was record-breaking. There were eighteen of them, I just had time to count them—but I'm a fast counter.

"My hope had been to take a complete count of the sun bathers of Hollywood, as I believe that community contains more of them than does any other place on earth. But that was the only place where I ever got to count them. Aided by the quick eye of the motion-picture camera, however, we yet may be able to shed some light on this interesting subject."

Something to Bet On

We look with scorn upon the age
When gladiators, to assuage
The public's lust for blood,
Were chawed by lions, punched by spears,
Because, since those benighted years,
We have grown wise and good.

We seek the auto race, and say:
"How many will be killed today?
Not more than two, I bet."
"You're on," another civilized
Sport-lover chortles, joy-surprised.
"That's what I came to get."

A Confidential Answer

They all come to Los Angeles. We've just received a letter from Homer Croy, author of "They Had to See Paris," of which Will Rogers is making a talkie now, who writes that he hopes to be starting out here in a week or two, or as soon as he gets through fussing with his forthcoming novel, "Coney Island." Some years ago, Homer was our room-mate in Paris for nearly a year, and he jollies us by adding, "I got most of the material for 'They Had to See Paris' while chaperoning you in les grands boulevards."

Since those days Homer has acquired fame and we have acquired family. We recently sent him a picture of our twenty-mule-team quartet of boys and baby daughter, and he writes:

"Carol is now 6½ years old. It is all Mae and I and the hired man can do to control her. How in the world do you manage your assembly?"

Well, just between us, some people think we don't.

Another Love Lyric From Cynical Joe

If you would only say that you are false,
If you would only say what's true,
If you would only say you've other loves,
If you would only say: "For you,
I'll tell the truth. I do have other loves
Who fill my heart with ecstasy,"
If you'd say that—I'd break your silly neck!
I'd rather have you lie to me!

THE HOME OWNERS

President Hoover in a note to Harry Culver as representing the real estate interests of the nation asserts that it is fit and proper that the realtors of the land encourage the home-buying and home-building habit among all citizens. The man who owns his home is a better neighbor and citizen to that extent. There is a degree of responsibility and an acceptance of the community spirit that might otherwise be lacking. If the country were made up wholly of men and women who had unbroken title to their homes there would be nothing to worry about in connection with the future of the nation. And think how lucky the man is if the home he owns is located in Southern California!

DOCTORS INCORPORATED

Corporations to handle sickness are the latest wrinkle in big business. Take your troubles to the company and have a specialist at reduced rates. The corporation hires the doctors by the year and can get good ones at that. The idea is to standardize fees at a modest basis and mayhap furnish the greatest good to the greatest number.

TO A WREN

By James J. Montague

I know the song you ululate
Is meant by you to page a mate.

In supplicating for a wife,

So in this cote on my garage
You may establish a menage.

But your shrill song rings loudly out
At four A.M., or thereabout,

And not a partner you have got
In six long weeks to share your lot

Though other wrens, both near and far,
Already happy fathers are.

And lately I have come to feel
That you are lacking in appeal,

And are by nature fitted for
The future of a bachelor.

I trust that soon you'll realize
You're not regarded as a prize,

Give up this paging for a mate
And placidly accept your fate.

Which brings much freedom you will find
And makes for calm and peace of mind.

My sympathy for you is deep,
But still, you interrupt my sleep.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

JUST WHAT THE WEST EXPECTS

(Kansas City Star)

The belief is growing in Washington, according to the news reports, that unless the Senate makes some very drastic changes in the tariff bill recently passed by the House of Representatives, President Hoover will veto the measure.

That is what the West expects the President to do.

When the Republican party promised farm relief it promised an agricultural tariff bill. That was the second big factor in the remedy the party held out in its relief program. The West accepted the platform pledges in good faith. Both Congress and Mr. Hoover were bound by it.

What the West expects now is that the President will keep faith. The tariff bill that the House framed was not an agricultural tariff bill. Cloaked under the guise of a tariff for agriculture, it really was a bill for further protection to the industrial East. The fact that the House of Representatives failed to carry out the party pledge to the farmers relieves neither the Senate nor the administration of the responsibility to see to it that the party pledge is kept and the party faith maintained. Agriculture may be disappointed if it does not secure any tariff bill, but it would rather be disappointed in that way than to be tricked with a measure that cheats agriculture of what it was promised.

ROOT FORMULA ON ITS WAY

[New York Evening Post]

The adherence of the United States to the World Court has now been brought one step nearer. The Council of the League of Nations has unanimously approved the formula worked out by Mr. Root and adopted by the League's jurists, and it but remains to obtain the further assent of the member nations, which will undoubtedly be forthcoming at the meeting of the League Assembly in September, to have the way clear for final action on our part.

In some quarters it is held that the Root formula amounts to virtual acceptance by the Court members of the Senate's original reservations to our adherence and that consequently the President can announce our membership without again submitting the question to the Senate. But whether or not Mr. Hoover would feel like adopting this procedure simply to avoid the possibility of acrimonious discussion in the upper house, there is little reason to believe that even the Senate can further block a move which is so generally demanded by public opinion throughout the country.

There no longer exists any valid reason for our continued abstention from the one world tribunal empowered to render judicial decisions in international disputes.

DO-IT-NOW DIPLOMACY

[Boston Transcript]

Time was when shirt-sleeves diplomacy was supposed to be America's chief contribution to the conduct of foreign affairs. It has remained for America to startle the chancelleries of the Old World with the diplomacy of do-it-now. Ambassador Dawes approaches English shores. The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs foregoes a holiday that no time may be lost in welcoming the American envoy who, having landed from a fast steamship, rushes to London in a fast train. The next morning, the Ambassador is received by the King, stopping merely to shake hands and say how-de-do before hastening off to catch a fast train for the purpose of scurrying across the tight little isle into Scotland to talk things over with the Prime Minister.

At the embassy, the new order is established. Begins the era of open covenants openly arrived at right off the hot or hot from the griddle. Old World diplomats are reminded that it is time to play ball. Perhaps signs reading "This is my busy day," "Do it now" and "Please close the door as you go out" are lacking, but the spirit behind them is there. England is reminded that the underslung pipe is not the only thing new to diplomacy to cross the seas from the United States.

Indian Rights

SANTA ROSA, June 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A caption in our local paper dated June 12 reads: "Indians Seek Millions." That sounds splendid for the Indian, does it not? But let us think. How many millions are mentioned, and how many Indians are heirs to those millions? $8,750,000! And the remnant of those hordes of people who first owned California and roamed in freedom over its vast mountains and valleys, living in great plenty and prosperity, according to their ideas of a good time, numbers a little upward of 20,000 souls.

Now will California, our Golden State, in all its vast riches and prosperity, stoop to offer to the descendants of those people who once owned it in its entirety, the miserable and inadequate sum of $8,750,000? The State Legislature recorded in the California Assembly Journal, dated February 16, 1852, an appraisal of the land values described in the eighteen treaties. That appraisal says the aggregate value of these lands is not less than $100,000,000. Has land in California become less valuable since the year 1852? In behalf of the Indians of California, I ask the consideration and investigation of our rights and needs, by all fair-minded and conscientious citizens of our State and of our nation.

RED WING.

We, the Consumers

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Where do we 105,000,000 of Americans who do not live on farms come in, in this grand program of boosting the price of all kinds of food, clothes and goods sky-high, under the operations of this farm bill and the monstrous tariffs that Congress is piling onto the backs of us 105,000,000 of consumers? Since Hoover and Congress are showing the consumers not the very slightest consideration, in all of these political proceedings, it is now plain that we must combine, form nation-wide consumers' leagues and look out for our own interests, by taking direct and political action that will force Congress to respect our rights.

We fondly boast that ours is a nation where majority rules. Yet here this minority of food producers, whom we outnumber five to one, coolly proposes to boost the price of every kind of food—and we are astounded to see our city Congressmen voting to help these farmers soak us! Our answer to that will be to to find city Congressmen to look out for city consumers' interests, and woe to the city Congressmen who vote to boost food and clothing prices.

The Times in two recent editorials said the people were taking to apartment-houses because we can't afford, now, to keep up even a cottage, with such high taxes; and that the farm bill will raise the price of flour and bread. Already here in California the farmers are getting in shape to boost prices. If they do, we consumers will make them sorry for it, before we get through with them.

How about half a billion revolving fund for us 105,000,000 of consumers? We could use part of it, right now, to buy political cohns for every member of Congress who voted for that bill.

CAROLINE CURTIS.

Relief for Taxpayers

VENICE, June 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We are often prone to criticise our public officials so that it is but fair that we also commend those who try to do us taxpayers a favor in attempting to economize in the city or county expenses and we hope that the city health department instead of trying to play politics, and according to the City Attorney's decision unlawfully collect and spend the citizens' moneys for food handlers' examination (examinations that cost the city about $5 which they were selling for 50 cents) and also spending our money in sending out city-paid nurses to attend private insurance companies' clients, and many other wasteful and extravagant methods, do as our Board of Supervisors did in sustaining the dismissal of Mr. Miller and Miss Wooley in the interests of economy by Mr. Holland.

A little more economy and common sense instead of a lot of politics and fads, that are costing us taxpayers millions of dollars, will certainly be appreciated by us overburdened taxpayers. Another suggestion that might be worth while would be to stop increasing the pay of city and county employees.

A NOTABLE SAFETY RECORD

A good many years ago Mark Twain was quoted to the effect that railway trains were safer than beds, as fewer people died in them. The president of the American Railway Association now states that a person runs less risk of losing his life traveling on the railroads of this country than he does staying at home. As proof of this he cites the fact that last year 34,000 home fatalities occurred in the United States, against a loss of only sixteen lives among 800,000,000 passengers carried by the railroads. When the safety of railway travel is compared with that of automobile travel an even more impressive fact is discovered. The average number of persons killed daily in automobile accidents during 1928 was five times the total number of passengers killed on the railroads during the entire year.—[Detroit Free Press.

TAKING SAXOPHONE

BY WYNONAH B. JOHNSON

The public school music system deals out musical instruments to ambitious youngsters these parlous times for use during the holidays. For a nominal sum, used to put the instrument in perfect order at the end of the season, Brother can bring home a clarinet and Sister a saxophone, and then they become orchestra material next term.

Strolling along Our Street in the later afternoon we are greeted by peculiar sounds on the lambert air. Comes a moaning moo like a distressed cow from a doorway, and the youngster strolling with us informs us that Junior, he's takin' sax. Taking. One visualizes the harassed instructor handing it out—and Junior "takin' music," with both grimy hands and puckered mouth—and alas, of music not desiring to be thus "taken."

Squeals of a particularly painful shrillness chime in, and Sonny adds carelessly that the kid in there is takin' flute. Her brother, he takes fiddle, and their ma aims to make 'em play—you know—duets. A sturdy thumping joins the wave of sound; that's the kid next door—he yearns to be a trap drummer, and is industriously practicing. And that—that forceful toot which dies down so unexpectedly, and is followed by husky puffs—that's the boy who has just joined the Boy Scouts and yearns to be a bugler . . . One-two-three-FOUR, one-two-three-FOUR, chants a loud voice above a labored exercise on the piano. The little girl in there, undoubtedly, wants to be a jazz accompanist some sweet not too distant day, and play the "Wedding of the Painted Doll" and "Button Up Your Overcoat," 'n' everything.

Hark, what's that? The pained remonstrance of a suffering pig? Surely no one who takes sax, or takes drums, or takes pianner, or takes clarinet, no, nor flute, nor bugle, could accomplish such a—such an unearthly effect. The stroller pauses, petrified by the whining, squealing, droning agony, and the guide says with some pride: "Now, in there lives a kid who's got a real bagpipe—somebody brought him home from Scotland. He's learnin' it all by himself." Learning the bagpipes—and alone—the stroller shivers.

She is just as proud of the ambition of the neighborhood, the determination of the street to be musical or bust, but privately, she is glad she possesses a good strong loud-speakin' radio, and can tune in brass bands and tune out some of the takers of music.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Showcards and Posters?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A show card and poster man gets from $25 to $150 a week, while still more is paid to those especially gifted. There is much advertising done in Los Angeles, and an A No. 1 man is in demand. A great deal will depend, however, on his ability to meet the public; and instruction in the various angles of the business will be given free to those enrolling in the class at the Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard.

This class includes instruction in brush and pen lettering, show-card layout, arrangement and balance, color combination and preparation, and styles of lettering for posters, including modern lettering. Some of the students are also studying window trimming, and thereby increasing their salaries.

The instructor is F. L. Holcomb, who has worked at show cards and posters in his own shops for fifteen years in Los Angeles and Spokane. His class meets on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 273 of the Art Building. The class will continue through the summer, except for the first week in July. There is no charge.

ANGELS IN THE CLOUDS

By The Foothill Philosopher

Like celestial beams of glory that sometimes descend, in unexpected moments, to vanquish somber thoughts that assail the soul, searchlights from tall towers in and near Los Angeles were playing among the clouds of early evening, producing the effect of spirits from another world hovering above this earthly city of beauty. Holding the hand of a child I stood, almost as entranced as he, regarding the phenomena.

"Look!" said the little boy, "do you see the angels flyin' through the skies?"

I had his imagination, but not his faith. I saw much with my eyes and my mind. What would I not give to be able to see with his heart? Yet I told him he was right and I believe he was right. For behind the light we see there is another light that we seldom behold, but without the effulgence of which there would be no light at all. Perhaps even the great sun is but a veil and symbol of that glory which man, as man, may not look upon and live. Yet children may behold that light, saints and sages may see it and every soul may bask and bathe in it when the rebellious, feverish mind surrenders itself to the spirit of truth.

T.A.T. OFFICIAL AIDS INAUGURAL

All Plans Completed for Air-Rail Start

Lindbergh Will Fly First Eastbound Ship

Mary Pickford to Christen One of New Planes

"Too many people think of commercial aviation and established airlines as just ships, motors, spare parts and pilots. They do not see the tremendous amount of detail involved in establishing passenger and mail depots, radio equipment, weather stations, airports and all the myriad things that go to make a successful air line.

"Only about 16 per cent of our investment is represented in our ships and spare parts and pilots. The balance is found in the other items that are as essential to passenger carrying by air as are the ships themselves," Col. Paul Henderson, executive vice-president of Transcontinental Air Transport, explained yesterday in commenting upon the company's plans for the opening of their transcontinental air-rail service on July 8, next.

LINDBERGH TO FLY

Col. Henderson arrived here Thursday evening on a T.A.T. ship from New York and is at the Biltmore.

Report that Col. Lindbergh will pilot the first ship on the first eastbound flight July 8 was confirmed by Henderson. He stated that the first westbound plane, leaving Columbus, O., at the same hour, will be piloted by John Collings, eastern division superintendent of T.A.T.

Col. Henderson met Lindbergh and his bride at Columbus Monday, he said. Lindbergh is flying over the T.A.T. route, spending a day at each landing station, inspecting final details and preparing for the inaugural day of the service. Lindbergh is due here July 7.

ACTRESS TO AID

The T.A.T. executive will participate in the christening of the new Ford trimotored ships City of Los Angeles and City of Philadelphia at the Grand Central Airport at Glendale Sunday, July 1, he said. Mary Pickford has been named to officiate at the christening of at least one of the new ships, of which Col. Lindbergh will be the pilot. The company is now operating eleven such ships in readiness for the opening day, Col. Henderson said.

With the official on the trip to Los Angeles were Donald Bartlett of St. Louis, assistant general manager; Kline Roberts of Columbus, guest of the company and Mrs. T. B. Sellers, also of Columbus.

RESERVATIONS OPEN FOR AVIATION LUNCHEON

Reservations opened yesterday for the aviation luncheon to be given at the Biltmore next Tuesday under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, in connection with the inauguration of the new transcontinental service of the T.A.T.

Invitations have been issued to a number of men and women, prominent in aviation circles, to accept places at the speaker's table, according to President Shannon Crandall of the chamber. Several nationally known figures identified with the industry who are expected to be in the city at that time, will be requested to attend the luncheon.

Special Train Will Run Here From El Paso

To accommodate one of the largest tourist delegations ever to travel over Southern Pacific lines on one of the lowest excursion rates ever offered by the company, a special train will leave El Paso, Tex., today arriving here tomorrow with approximately 200 passengers aboard.

This special rate allows transportation from El Paso, Tex. Nogales and Tucson, Ariz., for $20, which is a reduction of more than 50 per cent on regular summer excursion rates.

From Phoenix, Maricopa, and Yuma, Ariz., the round trip will be $15, company officials announced.

Many persons on their vacations are expected to take advantage of the low rates, which permit return to be made July 15.

HOME OF TED LEWIS LOOTED BY BURGLAR

Burglars looted the apartment of Ted Lewis, jazz band leader, at 1660 1-2 North Havenhurst Drive, West Hollywood, it was discovered yesterday when the maid, Gertrude Ruhn, entered the rooms. Her estimate of the value of the loot was around $3600. Mrs. Lewis is in New York, and the band leader is in San Francisco.

The articles stolen as listed by the maid are: White ermine cape, $1000; summer ermine coat, $500; black velvet coat, $200, calfskin leopard coat, $200; black caracul coat, $250; London gown, $250; black transparent evening wrap, $75, and twelve other gowns valued at from $50 to $150 each.

CONTRACT AWARDED

The contract for the work in the Pacoima avenue and Valleyheart Drive improvement district was awarded by the Board of Public Works yesterday for $5886. The work is to consist of paving, gutters, curbs, sidewalks and storm drain.

VALENTINO'S BROTHER TO COLLECT $9 REPAIR BILL

Guglielmi Valentino, 1636 North Stanley avenue, brother of the late Rudolf Valentino, still has a chance to collect the $9 he wants for damages to his automobile, but he must wait until July 18 to find out who is to pay him, Municipal Judge Gualano ruled yesterday.

Valentino says he was parked on Las Palmas avenue near Hollywood Boulevard when a car driven by Richard G. Shaw, 1541 Hampton Court, bumped into one occupied by Mrs. Adela Shell and Dale Frederick, both of 2021 North Oxford Drive, and the latter crashed into his machine. He says all persons involved agreed he should have his repair expenses paid, but when they were unable to determine who was to pay he was forced to sue all three in order to get an impartial referee. Judge Gualano set the case over when, due to the fact that the court's calendar called for trial at 10 a.m. while the subpoenas said 2 p.m., Mrs. Shell and Shaw failed to appear.

DOG HAS HIS DAY—IN COURT

Just Between Friends

"NORMAN and I and the big dog were only playing, and the dog bit me and tore my dress," 4-year-old Lily Eynde told Municipal Judge Gualano yesterday in small claims court where her father, J. C. Eynde of 1926 Wooster street, sought $50 damages from Edwin Thalman, father of Norman Thalman, also 4, and owner of Tamar Von Wurmtal, imported Hungarian shepherd dog, which was accused of attacking the little girl.

Thalman told Judge Gualano that his dog was only playing and after viewing the huge animal, which was sleeping peacefully near the bench, the court agreed that it might have been playing, but that Eynde was entitled to $18 for payment of a doctor and replacement of the dress. Thalman paid the judgment.

RAIL CONVENTION CLOSES

Mechanical Division Selects Atlantic City for Next Year's Meeting-Place

Atlantic City was selected as the next meeting-place of the mechanical division of the American Railway Association as its tenth annual convention came to a close yesterday at the Alexandria.

The terms of office of the chairman and vice-chairman do not expire until June, 1930, therefore no nominations for officers of the division were made.

Seven members of the general committee to serve until June, 1931, were elected as follows: F. H. Hardin, assistant to president, New York Central Lines; O. S. Jackson, general superintendent of motive power and machinery, Union Pacific system; J. S. Lentz, consulting master car builder, Leigh Valley Railroad Company; J. A. Power, superintendent motive power and equipment, Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana; A. G. Trumbull, chief mechanical engineer, Erie Railroad; S. Zwight, general mechanical superintendent, Northern Pacific Railway Company, and W. L. Bean, mechanical manager, New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

JEFFERS SPEAKS

W. M. Jeffers, vice-president of the Union Pacific system in charge of operation, was a guest at the closing meeting yesterday morning and spoke briefly. "I am impressed with two things, always, about a railroad," he said. "The first, that it is the most exacting business there is. Men in other lines of business can go back and correct mistakes or errors, but in the railroad business, particularly in the transportation departments you men who are responsible for the movement of traffic—we can not go back and correct errors at times as we would like to.

"Again, I am impressed with the fact that it is the one business that a man must learn from the other fellow. There is no course in universities or colleges, there are no text books from which a man can learn the railroad business. He must learn it from the other fellow."

REPORTS READ

Mr. Jeffers paid a sincere tribute to the work that has been done by the mechanical men, "and we are more than pleased and more than happy to say to you that you have not only done what you were expected to do, but you have accomplished the almost impossible," he added.

Reports were read and discussed on locomotive and car lighting, locomotive design and construction, utilization of locomotives and fuel conservation and the report of the joint committee on reclamation.

CORRECTION MADE

An error was made in Thursday's Times in quoting an address made before the convention Wednesday morning by Charles Dillon, vice-president and managing editor of Transportation, a monthly transportation magazine. What Mr. Dillon said was: "But, for that matter, what employee is likely to be found lacking in sympathy and good sense when he learns that on the average, employees to the number of 387,000, with 14,000 locomotives, 12,000 passenger cars, 540,000 freight cars and other railway facilities to the total value of $5,800,000,000, worked throughout the entire year 1928 to produce enough revenue to pay railroad taxes? Is he not likely to be impressed when he learns that it cost the railroads of America $1,079,417 every day in the year during 1928 to pay their tax bills?"

SHERIFF ASKED TO AID HUNT FOR $8000 DOG

The Sheriff's office yesterday was requested to aid in recovering a Pekingese dog, valued at $8000, reported missing by Mrs. Josephine Owen, of 2611 Hillhurst Drive. According to the report made to deputy sheriffs by Mrs. Owen, the dog disappeared from the porch of her home, where she had left it while she took her automobile to the garage in the rear of the house.

CORDISH GUILTY, FLEMING FREED

Ex-Head of Mutual Motors Convicted of Theft

Sentence of from One to Ten Years Pronounced

Associate Held Not Guilty by Jury's Verdict

Nat Cordish, former president of Mutual Motors, yesterday was convicted in Superior Judge Wood's court of grand theft in connection with his asserted discounting of a fraudulent automobile sales contract.

E. K. Fleming, who was tried with Cordish, was acquitted of a charge of grand theft and another of forgery. The jury also found Cordish not guilty on the forgery charge.

Cordish filed a motion for a new trial, which was denied by Judge Wood, who then imposed sentence of from one to ten years in San Quentin. An appeal was taken by Cordish's attorneys.

The case has been on trial for the past three weeks. There were originally eleven counts against the defendants but during the course of the trial the number was reduced to two counts.

FALSE OATH CHARGED TO EX-MODISTE

Mrs. E. L. Hupp Accused of Untruth in Testimony on Bankruptcy Action

Mrs. E. L. Hupp, former owner of two women's clothes shops, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal McLean on a charge of making a false oath in a bankruptcy matter.

In an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury it is charged that a petition in bankruptcy was filed by Mrs. Hupp's creditors, and that after the appointment of Earl E. Moss as special master to hear the petition, Mrs. Hupp appeared before the latter on April 5, last, and made a false oath regarding a material fact in the matter.

It is charged that Mrs. Hupp, whose residence is given as 416 South Normandie avenue, testified that diamond rings, valued at $600, and owned by her, had been pawned and that she sold the tickets to a man named Marks. The government charges that, instead, she gave the tickets and money to Marks to redeem them, but did not declare them as part of her assets.

Bail in the case was fixed at $1000, which was furnished and she was released pending arraignment.

Mrs. Hupp declared her liabilities to be $46,216.45 and her assets, $54,329.71. Among the assets were listed a grand piano, twenty dresses, ten pairs of shoes, nine hats, two ensembles and five coats.

PROCEEDINGS ABANDONED

The Council, by resolution yesterday, abandoned the present proceedings for the opening and widening of Flower street between Washington and Thirty-eighth streets, but also directed the Board of Public Works to prepare a new assessment district for the project. The proceedings have been hanging fire for seven years. City Attorney Stephens reported that the litigation is likely to extend for several more years, so in the interest of speed and efficiency it was deemed best to start all over again.

GAME SHIPS' WHEELS SPIN

Roulette, Dice and Cards Reported Going Strong on Offshore Craft as Taxis Ply

Traffic of the sportive element to the two gambling barges anchored off Los Angeles county yesterday picked up rapidly as news spread that the games were under way. Roulette wheels were spinning and the chuck-a-luck, black jack and crap tables were reported busy, some guests boasting of winnings on their return to shore.

The Johanna Smith which opened Wednesday thirteen and one-half miles northwest of Venice, had more than 100 guests Thursday night, and that number was reported dwarfed yesterday. The Monfalcone began its operations twelve and one-half miles southeast of San Pedro Thursday evening, and shore boats were leaving a landing at the foot of Avalon Boulevard in Wilmington hourly with all the guests they could carry. Owners of the Monfalcone were operating conservatively, receiving only such guests as came from an exhibit ship, the Centennial anchored half a mile nearer shore.

TRIP IN RELAYS

Shore boats merely took guests from Wilmington to the Centennial where they could fish, inspect the ship or perchance ride another boat to the Monfalcone. Few fished and the inspection of the Centennial was brief. The entire trip to the Monfalcone consumed less than an hour.

No intermediate ship was used to the Johanna Smith, shore boats proceeding direct from a Venice pier. The distance however is greater than to the Monfalcone, consuming an hour and three-quarters each way.

Cafes with sixty tables are maintained in each craft; each has a dance floor, orchestra, lunch counter and other diversions.

ACTION DOUBTFUL

What action is planned against either ship by law - enforcement bodies was not revealed and no one could be found to assert the craft are operating illegally.

Barge operators declare there is no Federal law against gambling and that as the craft are on the high seas the city, county and State lack jurisdiction. One operator yesterday quoted attorneys as declaring that even the new State law effective August 15, next, and aimed at such floating casinos, will be found unconstitutional. He said his associates might seek to avoid conflict with the law by using a second intermediate boat, but if they couldn't avoid it, they would fight it in the courts.

The shoreboats leaving Wilmington for the exhibit ship Centennial, depart from municipally owned landing under the jurisdiction of the park department, which always is available free to the public.

As far as the Johanna Smith is concerned, Captain of Police Behrendt, in charge of the Venice division, declared as far as he knows there is no legal way of preventing the water-taxis from taking on passengers from the privately owned pier of the Abbot-Kinney Company at Venice. Late in the day he asked the City Prosecutor's office for a ruling and was informed by Assistant City Prosecutor Krowl that the law will be studied with a view of handing down instructions.

SOLICITORS WARY

The Johanna Smith is riding at anchor about three and one-half miles beyond the imaginary boundary line running from Point Dune at the northern end of Santa Monica Bay to Point Vicente at the southern end.

From the vessel to the Venice pier and back throughout the day a fleet of the water taxis sped, each with a load of passengers, who, however, had been solicited not for gambling, but for the cafe, dancing and entertainment features.

CHIEF PLANS FIGHT

Chief of Police Webb stated no application had as yet been received for permits to operate water taxis from the Santa Monica Municipal Pier, the operators of the Johanna Smith apparently choosing not to risk refusal on account of the landing being municipally owned. Webb added that Santa Monica is determined to do all in its power to prevent the gambling traffic and his department will subject any applications to careful scrutiny in an effort to ascertain if the applicant intends to transport passengers to the vessel for purposes of playing the games.

Persons close to the gambling interests indicate that if Santa Monica refuses them water-taxi permits it is likely they may enlist the cooperation of private piers farther up the coast.

SERMON TOPICS ANNOUNCED

Loyalty Sunday Meeting at Hollywood Bowl Will Be Chief Event Tomorrow

Patriotic programs of music and sermons at nearly every church in Los Angeles and a mass meeting at Hollywood Bowl at 3 p.m., to be addressed by Gov. Young, Mayor-elect Porter, United States District Judge McCormick and Dist.-Atty. Fitts, will feature observance of loyalty Sunday tomorrow.

More than 30,000 persons are expected to attend the Bowl program which will include selections by a band of 800 harmonica players and the rendition of negro spirituals by 200 colored singers. The congregation will join in the pledge of allegiance to the flag, led by the Boy Scouts.

The main purpose of the meeting, sponsored by the Citizens' Loyalty Alliance, composed of a score of fraternal, civic and religious organizations, is to demonstrate the people's support of President Hoover's law observances appeal. Dr. Robert Freeman, who, with Dr. Mark Matthews of Seattle, represents the Pacific Coast on the national loyalty commission of the Presbyterian Church, said that tomorrow will be observed as loyalty Sunday by thousands of Presbyterians throughout the Southland, at their churches and at the Hollywood Bowl. Ample parking space has been arranged for those who go in automobiles.

Tribute Given Alexander for Scenario Work

To have his work praised by John Barrymore is the tribute received by J. Grubb Alexander, Warner Brothers scenarist, who wrote the screen play and dialogue for "The Gamblers," which will be the next picture at Warner Brothers Theater.

Alexander recently completed the screen play and dialogue of Barrymore's first all-dialogue film vehicle, "Gen. Crack," from the novel by George Preedy. Both studio executives and Barrymore himself have been lavish in praise of the brilliance and wit of the lines, comparing them with the satirical writings of some of the best ironic playwrights.

Formerly a member of Universal's scenario staff, Alexander wrote the adaptations for several of its films, including "The Chinese Parrot," "The Man Who Laughs," "Freedom of the Press," and others.

Vienna has a traffic law which imposes a fine on pedestrians who cross main streets outside of the areas marked by white lines.

HEADLINE ACTS OFFERED

With three headliners scheduled, the Orpheum starting today will present one of the outstanding vaudeville bills of the year, it is said. The trio includes Harry Carroll, and Ann Greenway in a program of songs by Harry Carroll and Billy Rose; Buster West, former feature of George White's "Scandals," with John West and Ada Broadbest, and Herb Williams, the eccentric comedian.

Glenn and Jenkins, blackface comics; Edythe Marcelle and Ted Williams in "The Kitchen Pirates" with George Andre and Salve Olanino; Chase and Latour company; Mangean Troupe in "Sensational Wild West Pastimes," and Tyler and St. Clair are other Radio-Keith-Orpheum attractions booked.

CAST ASSEMBLES

With story preparations practically completed, Leo McCarey, Pathe director, is now busily engaged in assembling the cast for his new production, "Dancing Rhythm," which is scheduled to go into immediate production on the Pathe lot. William Counselman, who supervised "Joe College," McCarey's last directorial effort for Pathe, will also act as supervisor for the new production.

HEROINE IN BATTLE IS EFFECTIVE

Eleanor Boardman Shows Acting Skill In "She Goes to War"

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Come the events of 1914-18 to rescue the movies once again from any doldrums into which they may have fallen of late for lack of action and spectacle. Which is to say that "She Goes to War," now at the United Artists, purveys much plot and no little pictorial animation. It is a Henry King feature, in which Eleanor Boardman is the central personage.

This film is an interesting one, dealing as it does with a girl who actually becomes very much involved in the European conflict of eleven and more years ago. Miss Boardman, as the heroine, actually goes to war, rides in a tank through a welter of liquid fire, suffers a lot of rough kidding from her buddies, eventually shoots a German machine gunner, and then promptly faints.

The production is adapted from a story by Rupert Hughes, which ran in the Red Book. It is notable for its abundance of incident, and its contrasts between humor and pathos. You don't have to believe that it could happen to enjoy it, because the performances, especially Miss Boardman's, are clever enough to make the picture unusually convincing—or if not convincing at least exceptionally fascinating.

"She Goes to War" has only a very few lines of dialogue, but the sound effects in the scene where the tanks fight their way through the hideously realistic gasoline flames are sufficient to make up for any lack of conversation. The machine-gun fire is also remarkably depicted. There is a din that approximates real warfare probably more effectively than any that the screen has yet attempted.

The characterization by Miss Boardman has very strong qualities as applied to the silent film medium. She discloses first a girl who thinks that war is some sort of gay pastime. She figures to wave the flag that leads to victory across No Man's Land, and instead, arrives in France to find that her patriotic duty consists of floor-scrubbing in a canteen.

Through a turn of events that leads to her taking the place of the man to whom she is affianced, she eventually achieves the honor of the soldier's uniform, and becomes a deciding factor in the battle.

Naturally, this sounds like a pretty wild and fictional tale in the telling, but the picture succeeds in making it entertaining, if not wholly plausible. It is much more plausible than the mere recital of the plot might indicate, because of the very good dramatic structure of the film, and the adequacy of Miss Boardman's portrayal.

The picture has the fault that it indulges in too much coarseness in some of the war scenes, both in suggested action and subtitles. Realism—of course—but a little too much of it.

Of the supporting portrayals those by Al St. John and Glen Waters are for humor the most efficient. Edmund Burns induces approval for his apt impersonation of the fiance who turns weakling. John Holland appears as the rival who wins. Pathetic is the impression of Alma Rubens in the role of the canteen worker, who warily pretends to be the mother of a dying soldier.

A music score of colorful and dramatic quality by Modest Altschuler accompanies the film.

Those who have missed Eleanor Boardman of late will find her return in this film ably directed by Mr. King an event of interest.

The comedy, all talking, with Charles Grapewin and Anna Chase, is of the domestic variety, and should please, because of Grapewin's repartee. An organ number, "Musical Memories of 1917," is played by Oliver Wallace.

Marta Oatman Players Give Dumas Drama

A three-night revival of Alexander Dumas, Jr.'s, "Camille" is being offered by the Marta Oatman Players. The play started Thursday evening and closes with tonight's performance. A separate cast is used each night.

A first-night capacity house was permitted to gaze upon Dolly Green, who as "Camille" created a beautiful vision.

The entire current of the play is one of maturity and it requires the same quality in interpretation. If one will overlook this excusable absence on the part of the inexperienced players, one can admire them for the intense sincerity which was the keynote of the production. The emotional demands of this now old-fashioned masterpiece are enormous, but the actors were not found wanting. A criticism would be that the lightness was not sufficiently light and that the drama was universally heavy.

Professional smoothness and alacrity were outstanding. The sets, simple and artistic, were designed by Edward Dwight Satterlee, who also took the part of Armand. More fire might have been lent to the role, but his dignity and restraint were quite acceptable.

Miss Green's "Camille" was gracious and sympathetic, sounding an unusual emotional depth. Her best work was in the third and fourth acts.

Noticeable too, were Jean Mathew's clever characterization of the false friend, Mme. Prudence; Charles A. Carroll as the Count De Varville, and Ralph Nye as Gaston.

Throughout the direction of Marta Oatman was evident. The surmounting of the many obstacles entailed in the production of a masterpiece, particularly this one, should bring commendation on this group of youthful artists.

SLEUTH AT WORK

William B. Davidson, a familiar figure of the stage and screen, has been given an important role in the William A. Wellman production, "Woman Trap," Paramount announces. Davidson's part will be that of an unrelenting detective. Hal Skelly is featured with Evelyn Brent and Chester Morris.

Barbara Quiets "Big Pond" Grouch

Lucile Nikolas

Will appear in her original role in the trans-Atlantic comedy, starring Robert McWade, which starts tomorrow at the Hollywood Playhouse.

FOX TO FILM ELINOR GLYN TALE

Actor of Crook Roles Pens Himself Underworld Play; Irene Rich Leaving Movies for New York Stage; Cecil B. De Mille Takes Long Yacht Trip

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Sensational events are these days earnestly seized upon by magazine writers, film studios and the stage as foundations for stories and plays. Therefore, it is but natural that the striking fate of the Belgian financier, Alfred Lowenstein, who hopped, was pushed or fell from an airplane into Atlantic waters several months ago, should arouse the imagination of writers.

MARY DUNCAN

Elinor Glyn fashioned a story around the accident, calling it "Such Men Are Dangerous," and sold the yarn to Fox Films, which will make it into a picture.

Warner Baxter and Mary Duncan will have the leading roles, according to present plans, with Al Santell directing.

ROBERT ARMSTRONG TURNS INTO AUTHOR

So thoroughly saturated with plots and underworld atmosphere has Robert Armstrong become, presumably, during the past year and a half, in which time he has appeared in no less than fifteen crook dramas of the screen, it isn't to be wondered that he wants to get it all out of his system by writing a crook play himself.

And that is just what he is doing. He is very secretive about it, however, won't whisper a word about its character or plot; but Pathe has bought it, and is only waiting for the final page to fall from Armstrong's typewriter to put it on the screen.

ROBERT ARMSTRONG

Naturally an actor would write a fat part for himself, and this, we understand, Mr. Armstrong has conscientiously done.

Irene Rich on Stage

Not content with her screen triumphs, we hear that Irene Rich is planning an invasion of the stage.

In fact, she is under contract to A. H. Woods to appear in a play called "Scarlet Pages."

Miss Rich has lately completed a vaudeville tour, and is now appearing opposite Will Rogers in the Fox picture, "They Had to See Paris."

Cecil De Mille to Yacht

Cecil B. De Mille is going to take his first rest in many months when he completes "Dynamite" next week and leaves for a month's cruise on his yacht. He will touch points at Mexico and Canada.

CECIL B. DE MILLE

While on that voyage, it is expected that the Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer director will make up his mind which of three stories he will select as his next vehicle. It will not be, he assures us, a big spectacle, but will be a modern story.

Rise-to-Fame Note

Because John Francis Dillon, First National-Vitaphone director, remembered Olive Williams and her technique at flipping pancakes in a Los Angeles downtown restaurant, Olive is in the movies now.

When the opening scenes of "Sally" were taken, a girl was needed to stand in the window of the cafe and flip flapjacks.

None of the waitresses at the First National Vitaphone studios could qualify for the job, and the casting department was at a loss to find a girl who would photograph well, and who still carry on the almost lost art of flipping pancakes in the air and making them light right side up. Then Dillon remembered Olive, a pretty brunette he had seen in the cafe. Olive was summoned, and she was perfectly willing to lay aside her real pancake turner for a movie prop. For three days she has been making pancakes on the "Sally" set and has been treating the cast to breakfast every morning.

Virginia Bruce's New Role

Virginia Bruce, Fargo (N. D.) high school girl who recently in whirlwind fashion signed with Paramount, has been cast for an important role in the talking screen's first original operetta, "The Love Parade," which Ernst Lubitsch will direct.

The young actress is the girl who came to Los Angeles to enroll in a university, applied for work at the Paramount studios on a bet and found herself a member of Paramount's stock company.

Joseph Mariensky Is Back

Joseph Mariensky, the Russian singer and artist, who had started in pictures, but who was injured in an automobile wreck a few weeks ago, has recovered, and is working again.

"Hindu" Starts at President

Walker Whiteside, a noted figure of American drama, comes to the President tomorrow as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players in "The Hindu." This will be the first time in several seasons that the actor has appeared under a management other than his own. The comedy of the Orient in which he will appear was chosen because it is one of his most popular starring vehicles.

Franc Hale, youthful and blond actress, who has been Mr. Whiteside's leading woman for the last two years, will appear in the chief feminine role, that of Clarice Cartwright. Included in the cast are Donelda Curry, Gladys Earlcott, Charles Penman and others. The play is staged under the direction of Edwin H. Curtis.

ACTRESS WILL HAVE STAGE "AT HOMES"

Percy Haswell (Mrs. George Fawcett,) starring in "The Old Shoe," at the Egan Theater, has started an innovation, bound to be popular, it is said. Miss Haswell announces that following the matinees beginning today she will be "at home" to her audience at the conclusion of the performance. "The Old Shoe" is a southern play and Miss Haswell, who is a southerner, believes in southern hospitality.

Old-Time Songs Scheduled for Late Matinee

Noted composers of popular music will feature song hits of a decade or more ago, together with their latest numbers, in the musical fiesta at tonight's midnight matinee of the "Hollywood Revue of 1929," at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

Directing the fiesta as master of ceremonies will be Al Boasberg and Carlotta King of "Desert Song" fame on stage and screen will sing "Kiss Me Again" in connection with a special tribute to be paid to Victor Herbert. Ten pianos will be used in the musical recital.

The song hits of an earlier day to be rendered and their composers include "School Days," by Gus Edwards; "The Doll Dance," by Nacio Herb Brown; "I'll Get By as Long as I Can," by Fred E. Ahlert; "Me and My Shadow," by Dave Dreyer; "If the Man in the Moon Were a Coon," by Fred Fisher; "Blue Shadows," by Louis Alter, and "Sleepy Head" by Jesse Greer. Other composers who will give their new and old-time songs include Herbert Stothart and Milton Ager.

Celebrities of stage and screen unable to attend regular performances in numbers are included in the reservations for tonight's midnight matinee, the second of the special presentations at the Chinese.

PLAY MOODS VARY AT WRITERS' CLUB

Contrasts Offered in "Black Butterfly" and "When Buddha Laughs"

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

The Writers' Club "Play Nights" are coming to bear the intrinsic golden stamp of an almost Renaissance temper of mind. The plays produced during the week were of startling variation, and though episodic in nature, evidenced a preoccupation with the art of the one-act play which pricked the jaded palate into newness of life.

The fact that youth in creative mood is having its fling added zest to the evening. Perhaps the darkly shifting pattern of "Black Butterfly," from the skilled pen of the lovely and blond Gloria Blackton, youngest daughter of Col. Stuart Blackton, veteran motion-picture producer, was the most strongly emphasized and originally contrived.

Unusual in concept and treatment, "Black Butterfly" deals with one Revere Roberts and his pretty jazz-baby wife, stylish "high yallers," frequenters of the Ritzy Harlem district made famous by Carl Van Vechten. Revere, great hulking, good-natured fellow, is gentle as the proverbial lamb, but violent when aroused, full of the quick transitions of mood which ever distinguish the elemental creature. His thickened senses are, however, preternaturally attuned to the rhythm of his "yaller Cassandra's" fluctuating heart beats. Revere would hold no brief for any "playin' aroun' with othahs" for his "yaller" orchid.

The animated dialogue and joyous playfulness of these naive creatures in the intimacy of their boudoir is well imagined. The denouement, is swift and terrible, with the passion-swept negro throttling his "black butterfly" in an excess of jealousy. Too late he finds himself sobbing over his fatally bruised "butterfly."

John Bowers played the husband of jumbled and excessive emotions with fine intensity of feeling and a fervent realism which brought a sob to the throat. As the gayly caparisoned little jazz-baby, Marguerite De La Motte acted with captivating spirit and spontaneity.

Again the white man in contrast with the yellow, even though he be a derelict, proves the idealist where woman is concerned, in "When Buddha Laughs," by Dagvar and Pauline Forney. Staged with the richly accoutred sumptuousness of the Orient, the play was vivid in atmospheric perspective and eastern philosophy. "To forget one's wife," says the wily bandit, Gen. Kwang Su, "is unwise, but to forget one's self is unpardonable."

The general, with his soft, pampered body and cold and corrupt heart, slakes his lust within his "pavilion of pleasure" or in the innocent blood of his victims. Boris Bagroff, renegade Russian officer, adviser to Kwang Su, retains yet a vestige of chivalry, and proves his mettle in giving his life for the Russian girl he loves.

There are intrigue and the delicate brutality of the oriental mangled with the pure idealism of the white man, and the verbal thrusts are nicely barbed. As Kwang Su, literate and cynical voluptuary of slippery persuasions, George Marion gave a polished and well-rounded characterization. As the renegade Russian, Walter Byron was handsomely in the picture and acted with marked finish and an arrogant gallantry which were convincing. As the girl, Dorothy Burgess somehow seemed hardly worth all the tragedy. Her acting lacked finesse, and the poignant feeling which the part required.

A stimulating little "hors-d'oevre" from the pen of Hal Crane, "Van Courtland Three-two-one," which properly opened the program, was sophisticated and New Yorkish and smartly chatty. As the much besought bachelor Richard Tucker was humorous and nice and naughty all in one. Marion Lord as Van Courtland's playmate was a hard-boiled sister of dangerous proclivities when it came to check books.

"The Fourth Degree," featuring Doris Lloyd and written by Maverick Terrell, brought a high lift of surprise comedy in the end, from an opus which sounded like crook palavering. Doris Lloyd was splendidly dramatic.

Spanish Cast Brings Back Early Days

A glimpse of California's early life was presented Thursday night at the Teatro Mexico when "Ayona," a comedy-drama by the contemporary dramatist of Mexico, Catalina S. de Gonzalez, was given its premier amid the glamour and applause of a distinguished and appreciative audience.

The play itself was rather slow at its beginning. It reached its climax in the second act, when it unfolded the tragic story of a peasant girl who was wooed and won by a nobleman.

The presentation was given by a capable cast of local Spanish players headed by Romualdo Tirado. The outstanding event of the evening was the introduction of the authoress from the stage at the conclusion of the play. She was greeted with applause and received a number of floral tributes.

The audience was composed of descendants of the early families of California, and was in itself a tribute to the talent of Senora Gonzalez. A few songs and Spanish dances were presented following the play.

GAY TO HUNT LIONS

Charles Gay, director of Gay's Lion Farm, El Monte, has been invited by the Royal Adventurers' Club of Edinburgh to head a lion-hunting expedition to Africa next winter, when it is planned to visit Tanganyika and other remote jungle regions, including the territory where "Trader Horn" is now being filmed. Instead of shooting the lions for trophies, this expedition will trap the beasts alive and bring them back for zoos and circuses.

DIRECTOR IS BUSY

Richard Wallace, Paramount director, whose latest production, "Magnolia," a tender love story of the old South, starring Buddy Rogers, is shortly to be released to the public, is surpervising the story preparation for Clara Bow's next starring vehicle, "The Saturday Night Kid," which he will direct for the Paramount-Famous-Lasky organization.

FILM HOUR ON KHJ ANTENNAE

"June Roses" Will Follow in Tonight's Program

Bachelor's Farewell Offers Mirthful Theme

KEJK Plans Satire on Early Radio Stations

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

KHJ, the Don Lee station, will contribute another filmland hour at 7 o'clock this evening. Lindsay MacHarris, KHJ's versatile announcing maestro, has woven the skein of music and talks for the hour.

Jack King, concert pianist who became an exponent of jazz, will be guest artist. One of his own numbers, "How Am I to Know," will be on the music menu.

Marie Dressler is to sing, "I'm the Queen." Thelma Todd and Eddie Dunn, from the talking films—will do comedy numbers. Raymond Klages and Jesse Greer, song writers, also will be co-stars on the film hour.

PROGRAM FOR BACHELORS

For the 8 o'clock continuity Baron Kayea, father of Clickity Clack, and other fantastic creations of the children's hour air castle, will produce a musical theme, a bachelor's farewell to his old cronies, under the title, "June Roses." That also is the caption of the special theme song. "Bachelor Buttons" and a parody called "Parade of the Bridegrooms," also will be given their radio premiere on this broadcast.

The studio orchestra will play at 9 o'clock, followed by Earl Burtnett's dance group until midnight, and then the closing hour of organ music.

RADIO REVUE

KEJK, Beverly Hills, will present a radio passing show tonight from 9 o'clock until midnight in the form of a mild satire on broadcast of 1922 and 1923.

The Howard Sisters, singing duo direct from an oriental tour, will be featured performers, while the Johnson Brothers, the three rhythm boys, will be heard in vocal and instrumental numbers.

Henry Sherr, comedian, will purvey some bedtime stories and comedy songs, and Jimmie Sills will strum banjo tunes. The studio dance orchestra and Phil Taylor, baritone, also will take part.

The three-hour big tent show will be more or less of a parody on early radio stations, when announcing was spasmodic, the talent not so good and the audience few and far between.

AMERICAN PROGRAM BROADCAST FROM JOAK

According to advices received in Los Angeles yesterday by Y. Sugimachi, of the Japanese Daily News, radio station JOAK, Tokio, will broadcast a special program designed for American audiences during the evening hours, Pacific standard time on July 4, next. JOAK is reported to operate on 10,000 watts power, using the frequency of 345 meters, or about 870 kilocycles.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr. Frank McCoy

author of "The Four Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

MENTAL COMPLEXES

The science and art of psychoanalysis has given us an insight into many peculiar activities of the mind. On every hand you hear the word "complex" referred to. There are both the inferiority and superiority complexes, the sexual complex and a dozen others which you hear discussed.

One of the greatest truths brought out by the psychoanalyst is that past events which should have had an unimportant meaning are given undue present power through the magnifying ability of the imagination and the multiplying strength of exaggeration. A "complex" is thus built as the seed of an idea in the memory mind, and seems to collect around it all of the materials for its growth, that is, other ideas of a similar nature and those possible of association seem to gather together, making a complex of associated ideas. The trouble is, such a complex is often a destructive one. A simple sexual incident of childhood may become a devouring monster in later life because the neurotic patient unconsciously gathers together all of the ugly and unwholesome ideas around this subject.

A child, criticised for his failure in school, may build up a destructive complex of failure lasting all through his life. He may learn to think more of failure than success—to actually scan the newspapers for stories of failures, to find excuses for his own anticipated failures and thus spend all of his life making excuses—instead of making good. The psychoanalyst and the psychologist can be of great help to such neurotic individuals by helping them to uncover the complex. This is done by simply helping the patient to unravel the tangled skein of destructive ideas and understand each thing for its true worth. The greatest difficulty in doing this is that the patient is usually unaware that the complex has been developed through his own imagination and exaggeration.

To be bluntly told this fact will often defeat the object of the well-meaning friend or of the psychologist.

The one who honestly wishes to get rid of destructive mental complexes should learn to earnestly study over all the events of his past life and view each happening in its true importance, as viewed in the light of more mature understanding. He must, figuratively, lay all his cards on the table and not be surprised at what he finds. All experiences must be honestly judged at their true worth. He must learn to balance his thinking and emotive life so that he will no longer suffer from an undue exaggeration of some idea.

Many psychologists are publishing books today which are of great help to the patient who earnestly wishes for the proper mental and emotional balance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Removing Baby's Birthmark

Q.: Mrs. M. E. B. writes: "My baby, 4 months old, has a large red birthmark on the end of his nose. Is it safe to have it removed now, and what method would you advise?"

A.: It would probably be advisable for you to have the baby's birthmark removed while he is still young, as the scar will not be so large as when he grows older. Various methods are used such as electricity, carbon dioxide snow, and acids. The first two methods are usually more easily controled.

Can't Retain Cold Drink

Q.: Mrs. T. H. writes: "When my mother takes a drink of anything cold it comes right up, even before it seems to reach the stomach. Hot drinks stay down. What causes this? She is 81 years old."

A.: Your mother may have inflammation of the stomach, and the cold water and sensitive lining causes the stomach to contract. The best method of getting rid of the inflammation is to follow a milk diet for a time and then a well-balanced diet.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BANANA LEMON WHIP

Boil together two cupfuls of sugar and one and one-half cupfuls of water, and the grated rind of one lemon until the syrup spins a thread, remove from the fire and stir in ont tablespoonful of gelatin that has been softened with one-half cupful of cold water, and stir until the gelatin is dissolved; add the pulp of three or four bananas that have been pressed through a sieve and mixed with the juice of two lemons; pour into a cold bowl and as soon as beginning to set around the edges beat with a rotary egg beater, continue beating until a creamy mass is formed. Place in sherbet glasses and allow to thoroughly chill.

MOCK DUCK

One cupful of chopped celery, two cupfuls of bread crumbs, two cupfuls of chopped walnut meats, two cupfuls of boiled rice, six hard-boiled eggs, three raw eggs, one tablespoonful of grated onion, seasoning of salt and paprika, and two tablespoonfuls of butter or shortening. Place the bread crumbs in a saucepan, add two cupfuls of water, and allow to heat for five minutes, add the celery, chopped hard-boiled eggs, remove from the fire, add the shortening, nut meats, rice and seasoning; beat the raw eggs, and mix with the other ingredients; form into the shape of a duck, brush over with melted shortening and bake for one hour. Serve with applesauce.

COUNTRY CLUB FRIED CHICKEN

Wash and clean two broiler-sized chickens, cut them in four pieces, dry well and dip each piece in beaten egg that has been seasoned with salt, paprika and mixed with three tablespoonfuls of cream, roll in bread crumbs and place in a baking pan, dot with butter and bake in the oven for fifteen minutes; then place in a steamer and let smother for thirty minutes or until tender on a slow fire; add half a cupful of hot cream to the gravy in the pan, place the chicken on a platter and pour the gravy over it.

CHEESE CANAPES

Eight rounds of bread, one-fourth of a pound of cheese, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a little salt, a few grains of cayenne pepper; one teaspoonful of mustard and one tablespoonful of cooking sherry; cut the bread into rounds with a cutter two inches across, fry on both sides until a golden brown, place the butter in a bowl, cream it, add the cheese and cream until a smooth paste is formed, then add the seasonings, mustard and sherry, place a layer of this mixture on the fried croutons, place in a pan and set in the oven until heated through.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, enema outfits for the new baby, bleeding, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DIFFICULTY IN SWALLOWING INDICATES SLOW PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

Sometimes children, up to the age of 2 and beyond, show a disinclination to chew and swallow thick foods. Sometimes this is only evidenced when the foods are crumbly, such as toast, though some children refuse even such soft and easily swallowed foods as cereal. The baby may suck at the food in his mouth, instead of chewing it, until it goes down "wrong" and he coughs and chokes. He may hold it in his mouth for as long as a half-hour and finally make an unsuccessful attempt to swallow it and then choke and vomit it back. All this is distressing to the mother and she is almost certain to show her distress to the child.

If she is honest, she will admit that for many months past the age when the child should have been feeding himself, she has been doing this for him. She has various excuses: He eats better, he spills so much, he puts his fingers in the food, he throws it on the floor, etc., but the main thing is that the child remains passive while she stuffs food in his mouth. If he is reluctant to eat he spits it out. If he refuses to chew and sucks at the food, he is very likely to inhale it. His choking spell and his mother's obvious concern and fright set him against taking food in his mouth, which may go down in this unpleasant manner. Soon he refuses all thick foods on general principles.

This does not mean (as one mother said) that his throat passage is too small. It does not mean that he is tongue-tied. It does mean that his physical development is delayed, and that he is nervous.

This type of baby may be very fat, but has a history of late walking and talking. Without doubt, he does not use his hands in any useful manner. Dr. Cameron in his "The Nervous Child" says: "The fault is that the brain centers which control the movements of hands, mouth and tongue have not been developed, because his activities in all directions have not been encouraged. It is much less trouble for a nurse to feed a child than to teach him to feed himself, and if he is not given daily opportunities to practice, he will certainly not learn this particular action." And further on along the same lines: "If, on the other hand, he is waited on hand and foot, if he is restrained and confined, sitting too much passively now in his perambulator, now in his high chair, now on his nurse's lap, his imitative faculties and his tactile dexterity alike remain undeveloped."

Help for this condition, then, lies in giving the child greater freedom in every capacity. Freedom to walk and run. Freedom to use his hands in every possible manner, and especially in learning to feed himself, however awkward and slow to learn he may be at first. Then the mother must be very careful to keep from becoming agitated when he chokes or spits up. A drink of water for him, a calm face, and another spoonful to try will suggest to the child that this is no terrible matter. Food should be minced fine, crumbs avoided until he swallows more easily, and small mouthfuls given. If he takes these mouthfuls himself, and takes them with relish and delight, he will naturally put forth more effort to swallow them than if he opens his mouth listlessly and mother puts in a spoonful.

CITY FILES TWO TIDELAND SUITS

Nice Point of Law at Issue in Both Cases

Mormon Island Owners Will Fight for Titles

State Act of 1911 Cited as Basis for Move

Two suits to recover and quiet title to a valuable strip of tideland around Morman Island in Los Angeles Harbor were filed yesterday in Superior Court by the city.

The suits were brought at the request of the Board of Harbor Commissioners and are directed against Borax Consolidated, Ltd., said to be an English corporation, Joseph B. Banning, Jr., and others.

The actions raise the interesting legal point of whether a patent to the island granted to William Banning in 1881 by the Federal government is valid as to the tidelands surrounding the island.

PATENT INVALID

The city asserts the patent is invalid as to the tidelands for the reason that at the time the patent was issued to Banning the tidelands were owned by the State of California by virtue of its sovereignty, and the United States was without jurisdiction to grant the tidelands.

All of the defendants in the two lawsuits are said to have derived title through Banning's patent to the island.

Tidelands lying within the city limits were granted to the city by an act of the State Legislature in 1911 and it is by virtue of this law that the city is seeking to validate its claims to the tidelands at Morman Island.

ISLAND FILLED IN

Another point of vital importance in the case lies in the fixing of the limit of the tidelands at issue. A large portion of the island has been filled in and that portion lying below the original or natural line of mean high tide is involved in the suits.

Associated with City Attorney Stephens as counsel for the city in the cases are Assistant City Attorneys Leach and Green and Deputy City Attorney Watson.

VERDICT ON JAIL SUICIDE ANNOUNCED

Wuyacich Found to Have Ended Life by Stabbing Himself in Heart

What amounts to a verdict of suicide was returned by a Coroner's jury yesterday following an inquest into the death of George Wuyacich, who shortly after his arrest on a charge of murdering his wife, Anga, in their home at 3010 Eighth avenue, was found dead in his cell at the University Division Jail early Thursday morning with apparently self-inflicted knife wounds in his heart. Though it contained no reference to "suicidal intent," the verdict stated Wuyacich had come to his death from "stab wounds in the heart, inflicted with a pocket-knife in the hands of the deceased."

While there will be no further investigation on the part of the Coroner, Captain of Detectives Cato, in charge of the homicide squad, declared the verdict in no way will interfere with or retard his own investigation into the problem of why Wuyacich was allowed possession of the knife after his arrest and incarceration.

The double tragedy orphaned three children of the couple, two girls and one boy, all of whom are being cared for by relatives.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR AUTO VICTIM

Henry G. Rissman

PIONEER TO BE LAID AT REST TODAY

Funeral Services for Henry G. Rissman Will be Conducted at 2 p.m.

Another pioneer resident of Los Angeles will be laid at rest today following funeral services at 2:30 p.m. at the B. E. Dayton Undertaking Parlors, 1008 Santa Monica Boulevard, Beverly Hills, for Henry G. Rissman, who was killed instantly by a speeding motorist Thursday while he was standing in a safety zone at Pico street and West Boulevard.

Born in Milwaukee, Mr. Rissman, who was 55 years of age and lived at the Alcazar Apartments, came to Los Angeles from Racine, Wis., in 1883. With his family and brother, George Rissman, of 1898 West Adams street, he acquired considerable interest in property at Fifth and Spring streets, present site of the Citizens National Bank Building. He disposed of his holdings some years ago. For several years prior to his tragic death he was engaged in the development of farm lands, notably those in Ventura county.

Known as a genial character, Mr. Rissman numbered many of Los Angeles' prominent citizens among his friends, including Walter F. Haas, attorney, and Dr. Hugo A. Kiefer, both boyhood chums. His hobby during leisure moments was the making of fine quality violins.

Mr. Rissman leaves a son, Waldo, and a daughter, Helen.

"This association approves of this resolution and believes it to be a step in the right direction, and we wish to commend the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation for its efforts to solve traffic problems."

Spiritualists in Convention Assert Views

"The gift of mediumship is just as sacred as any gifts claimed by orthodox ministers," declared Dr. E. Lee Howard in an address given yesterday before delegates to the annual convention of the California State Spiritualists' Association at First Spiritualist Temple.

"The fact that there are fakers in the ranks of spiritualism does not disprove spiritualism nor does it reflect adversely upon true mediums," said Dr. Howard.

Sessions of the convention, which is being attended by hundreds of delegates from all parts of the State, will be conducted this morning, afternoon and evening and tomorrow morning, afternoon and evening. Fred E. Stivers, president of the State board of trustees, will preside at all sessions.

Carver is expected to return today after speaking at the encampment meetings, to be feted by Los Angeles members, and to inspect the local post. Following his trip and inspection here Carver will leave next week to continue his inspection in Arizona and New Mexico.

ART EXPERT ON STAND IN LAND FIGHT

Ratzkowski Accuses Hole of "Stinging" Him in Deal on Asserted Antiques

That land in Riverside county traded by W. J. Hole to Jules Ratzkowski, Paris art collector, as a part payment for a collection of antiques, with an asserted value of more than $300,000, proved to be worthless for farming purposes, was the contention of Ratzkowski testifying yesterday before Superior Judge Archbald at the trial of his lawsuit asking $69,978 damages.

The collector, who says he received $50,000 in cash and nearly 300 acres of the land, was on the witness stand most of the day yesterday examined by his Attorney Paul Vallee and cross-examined by Attorney Guy Crump.

Ratzkowski declared that in March, 1927, when he met Hole at the Hall of Arts Studio in Hollywood, where he was exhibiting his collection of antiques, Hole told him he would trade him the property in Riverside county; that the land was farm land valued at $1000 an acre, but he would trade it in for the antiques at a value of $800 an acre.

The collector declared that he did not look at the land before the deal was made, but that afterward he attempted to auction the property and could get no buyers.

Hole and his wife Mary have filed a cross-complaint, asking $150,000 damages, asserting that many of the antiques Ratzkowski told them were from a famous collection owned by Ferdande De Conde, a direct descendent of the Prince De Conde, are modern reproductions of the original pieces.

Ratzkowski declared he will produce documentary evidence to prove the antiques are genuine.

FORD SUED OVER AUTO OIL FEEDER

Infringement of Patent Charged in Suit Filed in Federal Court Here

Suit was filed yesterday in United States District Court by Albert E. Nickells against the Ford Motor Company asserting that the company had made unauthorized use of an invention of his in building the late model Ford cars.

It is asserted in the complaint that prior to May 17, 1921, Nickells invented an oil feeder for internal-combustion engines and that he patented the invention on July 5, 1922, and obtained a reissued patent on April 29, 1924. He asserts that the Ford Motor Company is using a device similar to his patented invention in the new model A cars.

Through his attorney, Harry W. McNutt, he asked the court for a temporary injunction pending the litigation and later a permanent injunction. In addition, the plaintiff asks that the court assess the company treble the damages resulting from the asserted unauthorized use of the invention.

Lawyer Asserts Juror Slept at Usury Hearing

Declaring that one of the women jurors slept through part of the trial, S. A. Wilson, attorney for Johiel Katzev, convicted of usury in connection with the Julian Petroleum debacle, yesterday moved for a new trial for his client before Municipal Judge Pope. Wilson also declared that he has discovered new evidence which would tend to prove the innocence of Katzev, and gave five additional technical grounds for his motion.

At Wilson's request, Judge Pope set Tuesday as the date for hearing arguments on the motion, as well as on a motion for arrest of judgment.

MONKEY AND DEER LOSE THEIR LIVES

A monkey and a deer in the Griffith Park zoo which ran amuck paid with their lives, according to a report made to the Board of Park Commissioners yesterday by Foreman Joseph S. Young of Griffith Park. He reported that on the 3rd inst., while Otto Beyer, the keeper, was feeding the monkeys he was attacked by one. In the ensuing struggle the monkey escaped from the cage and finally was shot by the keeper. On the 15th inst., while the white fallow deer were being transferred from old to new quarters a buck became panic-stricken, jumped into the air and struck his head against a cross bar above a gate and broke his neck.

Cryer Praised for Play Aid

Believing that Mayor Cryer has been of assistance in furthering playground development in Los Angeles, the Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday expressed its appreciation and extended its best wishes for him on the expiration of his term of office tomorrow.

"At the time of your entering office this department was operating twelve playgrounds with an annual attendance of less than 1,000,000, while today we are operating thirty-seven playgrounds with an annual attendance of more than 3,000,000.
